

have made for the service of the State. I trust that the financial measures which you have sanctioned will materially increase the public resources of the country, without adding to its fiscal burdens.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The measures which you have passed for extending the functions and improving the machinery of Local Government in England are calculated to increase the loyal attachment of my people to their institutions. I trust that you may be able now to promote the successful working of these changes in your several localities; and that in this and all other fields of duty the blessing of Almighty God may be with you.

Then a Commission for proroguing the Parliament was read; after which the Lord Chancellor said:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

By virtue of Her Majesty's Commission, under the Great Seal, to us and other Lords directed, and now read, we do, in Her Majesty's name, and in obedience to Her commands, prorogue this Parliament to Thursday the thirty-first day of January next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday the thirty-first day of January next.
