

Given under my hand and seal at the Office of the Secretary for Scotland, Whitehall, the twelfth day of February 1890.

L. S.

LOTHIAN,
Her Majesty's Secretary
for Scotland.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight,
the 8th day of February 1890.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

This day Sir John Lubbock, Baronet, M.P., was, by Her Majesty's command, sworn of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight,
the 8th day of February 1890.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

This day Sir John Eldon Gorst, Q.C., M.P., was, by Her Majesty's command, sworn of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight,
the 8th day of February 1890.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by the Coinage Act, 1889, it is enacted as follows:—

'Any gold coin of the realm coined before the reign of Her present Majesty which is below the least current weight as provided by the Coinage Act 1870 may within the time and in the manner from time to time directed by Her Majesty the Queen in Council, be tendered for exchange, and if it has not been illegally dealt with, shall (notwithstanding anything in section seven of the Coinage Act 1870) be exchanged or paid for by or on behalf of the Mint at its nominal value.

'For the purpose of this Act a gold coin shall be deemed to have been illegally dealt with where the coin has been impaired, diminished or lightened otherwise than by fair wear and tear, or has been defaced by having any name, word, device, or number stamped thereon, whether the coin has or has not been thereby diminished or lightened.'

And whereas by an Order in Council of the thirteenth day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, directions were given as to the time and manner in which coins were to be tendered for exchange in pursuance of the said Act;

And whereas it is expedient to extend the time and vary the manner;

Now therefore Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, in pursuance of the said Act, and of all other powers enabling Her Majesty in this behalf, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. The time within which any coin mentioned in section one of the Coinage Act, 1889, may be tendered for exchange shall be the thirty-first day of March next.

2. The manner in which any coin mentioned in the Coinage Act, 1889, may be tendered with a view to being exchanged or paid for at its nominal value, shall be as follows, namely:—

The same may be tendered during business hours at the Bank of England in London, and shall be there left for such time prior to the exchange or payment as may be reasonably necessary for examination and weighing, in order to ascertain whether any coin has been illegally dealt with within the meaning of the said Act.

And the Master of Her Majesty's Royal Mint in England is hereby directed to carry into effect the provisions of the said Act, for exchanging or paying for at their nominal value, all such coins as are so tendered and have not been illegally dealt with.

C. I. PEEL.
