ADMIRALTY-OFFICE, FEB. 23, 1805.

Copy of a Letter from Lieutenant Rose, commanding his Majesty's gun-brig the Growler, to W. Marsden, Esq. dated the 15th February 1805, Falmouth.

SIR,

I beg leave to acquaint you, for the information of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, with my arrival at this port, with the French national gun-brig No. 193. which I fell in with and captured after a running action of one hour and a half. From what I can understand from the Captain, the

was [one of four of the same class, from Bayon to Brest, commanded by an Enseigne de Vaisseau, had on board fifteen seamen, a Captain in the army and thirty-four soldiers, mounts two long twenty-four-pounders and one eighteen-pounder, and four swivels, sixty-five feet on the keel, is quite new, and draws six feet water.

I should be negligent in my duty were I to omit saying, that Mr Henry Ellis, Sub-Lieutenant, with the other officers and crew, did their duty much to my satisfaction.—I am, &c.

JAMES ROSE, Lieutenant and Commander.

(The London Gazette contains an Order of Council, permitting the import of provisions, &c. from the United States into Newfoundland, during the ensuing season, under the usual regulations.)
