

Distinguished Conduct Medals—continued.

| Regimental No. | Rank. | Name. | Corps. | Action for which commended. |
|----------------|------------------------|-----------------------|--|--|
| 6866 | Serjeant ... | Blakemore, G. ... | 1st Battalion, Scottish Rifles | For consistent gallantry between 3rd October and 14th November, during which period he was instrumental in removing a large number of the enemy's snipers by his excellent marksmanship. |
| 9894 | Private ... | Booth, C. H. ... | 3rd Battalion, Coldstream Guards | For conspicuous gallantry in continually undertaking dangerous duties, especially on 9th November at Polygon Wood, when he assisted another man to clear a house occupied by German snipers. He also obtained valuable information the next day whilst on reconnaissance duty. |
| 10223 | Corporal ... | Bradford, W. ... | 2nd Battalion, Highland Light Infantry | For conspicuous gallantry on 14th November, after both Officers had been killed, he rendered great services by his good example to the men, whereby the trenches were held the whole day, notwithstanding heavy casualties. |
| 3681 | Company-Serjeant-Major | Bradish, A. ... | 2nd Battalion, Worcester Regiment | For gallantry and ability during the advance through a very difficult country under heavy fire. Rendered valuable assistance to Company Commander. |
| 9740 | Private ... | Carrington, R. H. ... | 1st Battalion, Leicestershire Regiment | For conspicuous gallantry on 14th December at Rue Du Bois, when he saved the lives of two men who had been buried in a fire trench, being necessarily exposed to the enemy's machine-gun and rifle fire whilst doing so. Has shown remarkable bravery on previous occasions. |
| 11681 | Corporal ... | Chambers, A. G. ... | 5th Field Company, Royal Engineers | For gallant conduct on 11th November. When his officer was killed he took command of the small party engaged in driving the enemy out of a wood, being met with very heavy machine-gun fire. |
| 4516 | Serjeant ... | Clark, E. J. ... | 15th Hussars ... | For very conspicuous ability and gallantry on 11th November at Herentage-Chateau. In conjunction with 30 Turcos under their serjeant, he held the Chateau against the German attack for two hours until our line was restored. The enemy's loss was over 100 on this occasion. |
| 8767 | Private ... | Clarke, J. ... | 1st Battalion, Shropshire Light Infantry | For very gallant conduct in going out in daylight for a distance of 100 yards in front of his trench, crossing a barbed-wire fence and rescuing a wounded comrade, under rifle fire. |
| 7422 | Private ... | Clarkson, J. ... | 1st Battalion, Leicestershire Regiment | For gallant conduct at Vailly on 23rd September, in assisting to bring into cover a mortally wounded officer, under heavy shell and rifle fire. |
| 24369 | Second-Corporal | Clifford, F. W. ... | 3rd Section, 2nd Signal Company, Royal Engineers | For gallant conduct on 30th October, in remaining at his post working his instrument whilst the house he was in was being shelled. On several occasions during the day he went out under constant shell fire and sniping and repaired the telephone line. |
| 8715 | Private ... | Clifford, M. ... | 2nd Battalion, Leinster Regiment | For gallantry on 20th October, in carrying messages under heavy machine-gun fire. |
| 5291 | Private ... | Cline, J. R. ... | 6th Dragoon Guards ... | For great gallantry on the night of 31st October, in taking up a position of great danger on the left of our line, which was out of touch with all other troops, and conveying information of the enemy's movements. His action was instrumental in preventing a body of our troops from being surrounded. |
