

Distinguished Conduct Medals—continued.

| Regimental No. | Rank. | Name. | Corps. | Action for which commended. |
|----------------|-----------------|-------------------|--|---|
| 1711 | Private ... | M'Laren, H. ... | 7th Battalion, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (T.F.) | For conspicuous gallantry on the 24th May 1915, near Wieltje. He did excellent service with his machine gun, and when he was wounded he had to be ordered away to have his wounds dressed. He returned immediately to his gun when this had been done and continued to fire it for the remainder of the day. |
| 8/1302 | Private ... | M'Leod, R. C. ... | Otago Battalion, New Zealand Forces | For conspicuous gallantry on the 8th May 1915, during operations south of Krithia (Dardanelles). He was one of a party carrying ammunition to the advanced trenches under heavy fire. The majority of the party were unable to proceed, but Private M'Leod, although wounded in his leg, performed his task. On his return, not having reported his wound, he was again detailed to carry ammunition, which duty he performed. |
| 4432 | Lance-Serjeant | M'Mullen, T. ... | 1st Battalion, Irish Guards | For conspicuous gallantry and resource throughout the campaign. From the 17th to the 19th May 1915, at Rue du Bois, he never ceased from superintending the bringing in of wounded men, and it was mainly owing to him that the majority, if not all, of the wounded were brought in. Lance-Serjeant M'Mullen was constantly in the firing line attending to the wounded, and gave a fine example of courage and devotion to duty. |
| 10525 | Private ... | M'Namara, J. ... | 2nd Battalion, East Lancashire Regiment | For great bravery on the 9th May 1915, near Rouges Baucs, when he assisted to carry in a wounded Officer under very heavy shell fire. Later in the same evening he assisted to bring in the wounded, also under heavy fire. |
| 7266 | Corporal ... | M'Neil, J. E. ... | Royal Army Medical Corps (Attached 2nd Battalion, Royal Iniskilling Fusiliers) | For conspicuous gallantry on the night of the 15th-16th May 1915, near Rue du Bois. He repeatedly went out, and brought in wounded men under a heavy fire, and showed the greatest bravery and devotion to duty. |
| S/3442 | Private ... | M'Nulty, A. ... | 2nd Battalion, Gordon Highlanders | For conspicuous gallantry, resource, and ability on 18th June 1915, near Rue d'Ouvert, when he took messages to a Company close against the German position on two occasions. Private M'Nulty on the same day cut an opening in the German wire entanglements and made a trench under very heavy rifle, bomb, and machine-gun fire. |
| 12045 | Lance-Corporal | M'Nulty, J. ... | 2nd Battalion, Royal Scots Fusiliers | For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the 16th-17th May 1915, at Festubert. He first took over the platoon duties of his Serjeant, and subsequently those of his platoon Officer, who was wounded, and by his courage and ability he held his platoon together most successfully, and conducted their retirement. Subsequently, he went forward some 300 yards, and attended to his wounded Officer under a very severe fire. |
| 7174 | Acting Serjeant | M'Pherson, W. ... | 2nd Battalion, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders | For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the night of 21st June 1915, near Armentières. When part of a reconnoitring platoon was surrounded he fought his way through and brought his party back to the breastwork. He then learned that his platoon Officer was still out and likely to be captured, so he at once took out a reinforcement, fought his way to the Officer, with the result that the enemy were driven off, and the object of the reconnaissance attained. |
