The KING has been graciously pleased to confer the Decoration of the Albert Medal of the Second Class on—

Lieutenant Robert Arthur Startin, R.N.

The following is the account of the services in respect of which the Decoration has been conferred:—

During the violent gale and snowstorm on the night of the 28th March 1916, the whaler of H.M.S. "Melpomene," with a crew of six men, was driven by the blizzard on to the mud about  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a mile up the river above the Parkstone Jetty, Harwich. Lieut. Startin, on hearing that the whaler was missing, set out alone to search along the river bed. After wading through deep mud, at times up to his armpits, for a distance of about 300 yards, he eventually found the whaler, half full of water, aground on the mud, with her crew lying helpless in the boat, having given up all hope of being rescued. He only succeeded in rousing them by beating them with his stick, one man having to be forcibly dragged all the way to the shore by Lieut. Startin and the coxswain of the boat. After dragging him for about an hour, a distance of about 40 or 50 yards had been covered, when a light was seen moving inshore. Lieut. Startin ordered the crew to remain where they were whilst he went to the light, which proved to be carried by a search party with a rope. This rope was taken backwards and forwards personally by Lieut. Startin from the shore to the boat's crew until each one had been rescued, this exhausting and dangerous task in the deep mud being performed under the most trying weather conditions. All the crew were thus saved, though one afterwards died from the effects of exposure.
