ADMIRALTY-OFFICE—DEC. 2. 1806.

Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Lord Collingwood, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels in the Mediterranean, to William Marsden, Esq. dated on board his Majesty's ship the Ocean, off Cadiz, the 12th of November 1806.

SIR,

I inclose to you copies of two letters I have this day received from Sir Thomas Livingstone, Bart. Captain of his Majesty's ship the Renommée, giving an account of the proceedings of the boats of that ship on the 22d and 23d ultimo, when they attacked, and cut out of the port of Colon, in Majorca, and from under the tower of Falconara, several vessels of the enemy, which, although of little consideration of themselves, are of importance as a further testimony of the zeal and ability with which enterprizes of that sort have been executed by the officers of that ship, and under the immediate direction of Lieutenant Sir William Parker, Bart. who, on the 4th May last, attacked, boarded, and brought out from under the guns of Torre de Veiga, the armed schooner the Giganta, (as stated in the inclosure which accompanied my letter of the 5th June,) and in every instance has shewn a good judgment and determined spirit, credible to him as an officer, and will be highly satisfactory to their Lordships.

I am, &c.

COLLINGWOOD.

His Majesty's ship Renommée, off Majorca, Oct. 22. 1806.

MY LORD,

I have the honour to acquaint your Lordship, that last night, the four cutters belonging to his Majesty's ship Renommée, under my command, gallantly entered the port of Colon, in the island of Majorca, and, notwithstanding the fire from the vessels in the harbour, and also of that from the tower, they boarded and captured one tartan, mounting four guns, and two settees, one of them mounting three guns, Spaniards, deeply laden with grain.

[Price Sixpence.]

The two settees were with great difficulty brought out of the port, but the tartan got on shore, was set fire to, and blew up.

Lieutenant Sir William Parker commanded the boats, and was assisted by Acting Lieutenant William Webster, Lieutenant Henry Murton, of royal marines, and Mr Timothy Murray, boat-swain. These officers, together with the petty officers, seamen, and marines, were volunteers, and I feel happy in reporting to your Lordship, that their gallant and steady conduct did them the greatest credit, and merits every commendation. One seaman was wounded in the enterprize.

I have, &c. THO. LIVINGSTONE.

The Right Hon. Lord Collingwood, Commander in Chief, &c.

His Majesty's ship Renommée, Majorca, Oct. 23. 1806.

MY LORD,

I have the honour to inform your Lordship, that last night three cutters belonging to the Renommée, under the direction of Lieut. Sir William Parker, assisted by the officers and men that so gallantly cut the vessels out of the port of Colon, on the night of the 21st, brought off, from under the fire of the tower of Falconara, a Spanish settee mounting two guns.

In performing this service, our people were much annoyed by musquetry from behind the bushes, which wounded one man; to put a stop to this, Sir William Parker landed with a few marines and seamen; and having killed one Spaniard, and driven the rest off, rejoined the ship without any other loss.

The same gallant and steady conduct, that did so much credit to the officers and men on the night of the 21st, distinguished them last night, and entitles them to the highest praise.

I have the honour to be, &c.

THO. LIVINGSTONE.

To the Right Hon. Lord Collingwood, Commander in Chief, &c.
