PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

FROM TUESDAY, JUNE 6, to FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1809.

DOWNING STREET, JUNE 2, 1809.

A dispatch, of which the following is a copy, has been received from Lieutenant-General Sir George Beckwith, K. B., Commander in Chief of his Majesty's forces in the Leeward Islands, by Lord Viscount Castlereagh, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

MY LORD,

*Fort Royal, Martinique,
April 20, 1809.*

The French squadron, consisting of three sail of the line and two frigates, from L'Orient, having taken shelter in the Saints, in the vicinity of Guadaloupe, where they were blockaded by Rear-Admiral Sir Alexander Cochrane, with a superior force, I detached a corps of between two and three thousand men, under the command of Major-General Maitland, to co-operate with the navy in the reduction of those islands, to destroy or capture the ships of the enemy, or to force them to sea.

I have the satisfaction to report to your Lordship, for his Majesty's information, that after three days of great toil, and most active service, the forts were reduced, and the troops surrendered prisoners of war.

The French ships of the line pushed to sea early on the night of the 14th; on the 16th, the Admiral was within four miles of them, and, I trust, will be enabled to bring them to close action.

I have the honour to inclose the Major-General's report upon the honourable termination of this service; and I beg leave to recommend to his Majesty's favourable consideration the meritorious services of this general officer, not only in the present instance, where he held a distinct command, but for his general good conduct during the whole campaign.

The officers of all ranks have done their duty in a most exemplary manner, and the troops employed upon this service have maintained that superiority which has distinguished this army during the whole series of our operations since our departure from Barbadoes.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) GEO. BECKWITH.

The Right Hon. Lord Viscount Castlereagh, &c.

SIR,

Camp at the Saints, April 18, 1809.

I have the honour to transmit you a report of the proceedings of his Majesty's troops detached for the reduction of the Saints.

We sailed from Fort Royal Bay on the 12th. Captain Beaver, of his Majesty's ship Acasta, who was Commodore of the division, left the squadron under charge of Captain Carthew, of his Majesty's ship Gloire, and went forward to meet Rear-Admiral Sir Alexander Cochrane. The 13th was passed in examining the enemy's positions, and in making arrangements.

The disembarkation was fixed to be at six o'clock in the morning of the 14th, but a bad night separated our ships. By ten they were collected. Soon after the Acasta led in, through a very narrow channel, which was buoyed on each side. The Gloire, Narcissus, and Circe followed; the Intrepid about an hour after, but the Dolphin not until next day. His Majesty's ships anchored opposite to the little bay Bois Joly. The landing was meant to have been at the next to the eastward, called Ance Vanovre. As much time, it was then seen, would be lost by persevering to go to Ance Vanovre, because the boats would have had a long row against wind and current, we landed at Ance Bois Joly; a secure landing, though a stony beach, protected by the fire of the frigates. We experienced no opposition, except a cannonade from the Islet of Gabrit, the guns of which fired over the ridge among the shipping.

When advanced to the first ridge, we found the enemy occupied the great mountain, which is above eight hundred feet high, called Mount Russel. This was immediately on our right, nor could we advance. The rifle companies of the 3d and of the 4th battalions of the 60th regiment were ordered to dislodge the enemy. The exertion of these companies, under Captains Dolling and Lupton, was great; the ascent no less steep than an angle of fifty degrees, covered with bush and prickly pears, they most gallantly effected the service, and drove back the enemy, who suffered considerably. The rifle companies were supported to their right by the flank companies of the 3d West India regiment, and one company of the royal York rangers, led by Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell, Deputy Adjutant-General, whom I detached for this service. We had now a strong position. Before us were the enemy's three forts, showing stout garrisons, and three line of battle ships, and two frigates in the harbour. The large ships very full of men. We found, however, we could not advance without being flanked on our left by the fort on Isle de Cabrit. Two eight-inch howitzers were immediately landed, a battery quickly constructed by Lieutenant Hobbs, of the royal engineers. Brigadier-General Stehelin, of the royal artillery, and all his officers and men, were most strenuous; and before six that evening, our battery opened on the enemy's squadron at a very fair distance. About an hour after, there were indications that the French squadron was about to push out, and by eight it was not doubtful. Not a moment was lost. Captain De Courcy, of the Quartermaster-General's department, was sent by me to Captain Beaver of the Acasta, and we fired six rockets from a headland; at five minutes interval, being the signal fixed on by the Admiral. About ten at night, the three French line of battle ships were seen to go through the windward passage. Next morning, the 15th instant, the Intrepid was the only line of battle ship in sight.

The difficulty of advancing on the west side of the island, forced us to re-embark the greater part of our troops, to land at Ance Vanovre; but as the enemy occupied a strong and commanding position on the east side of this bay, Lieutenant-Colonel Prescott, with the flank companies of the 3d West India regiment, and the two rifle companies of the 60th, and Major Henderson with the reserve, were ordered to descend from Morne Russel to protect the landing, and to dislodge the enemy. This was well executed, and we gained a favourable position, whence our mortars could reach Fort Napoleon at a proper distance, as well as the fort on the Islet. A mortar battery of two thirteen-inch and four ten-inch was immediately begun, and carried on with unremitting exertions;—all our men volunteering every labour. Between the enemy's forts Napoleon and Morelle, and us, was a middle ridge, which was on the back of the town, and held by the enemy. On the night of 15th, a strong picquet of the enemy's was surprised by two companies of the royal York Rangers, commanded by Captain Starke and Lieutenant White. The French had one officer and seventeen men bayoneted, and twelve prisoners brought away. This affair was highly creditable to the officers named. The night following we determined to occupy the middle ridge, and confine the enemy within his works. Major Alen was ordered with the two flank companies of the 3d West India, and a flank company of the 8th West India, for this service;—he was supported by part of the Royal York Rangers under Major Henderson. The position was taken up without opposition, but about eight next morning the enemy advanced from forts Napoleon and Morelle to recover this ground. A sharp action took place, the whole of the York Rangers, and the rifle companies of the 60th, supporting our black troops. The ground lay open in great part to the grape shot from forts Napoleon and Morelle, and to round shot from Islet de Cabrit; but all our troops were undaunted;—none were more brave or active than the flank companies of the 3d West India regiment, and a flank company of the 8th West India under Major Alen. The enemy was driven back with loss, and our possession of the ground completely secured. On this occasion our loss was about thirty men, killed and wounded.

I omitted to say that the two French frigates, both loaded with flour, took their chance of escaping on the forenoon of the 15th. They went through the windward passage, keeping a little from the wind to gain the shore of Guadaloupe. The leading frigate was engaged by his Majesty's ship Intrepid. This frigate however doubled the point of Vieux Fort, was followed by the other, and both escaped into Basse Terre.

About the middle of the day, yesterday the 17th, the French commandant, Colonel Madier, sent a flag of truce to enter into terms. They expected what we would not concede, and they submitted to what we were willing to grant. They are prisoners of war.

I understand their number to be from seven to eight hundred; of this number, six hundred were landed by the French squadron.

We are to take possession of the forts this evening at four o'clock. The French troops will be immediately embarked, and I shall proceed to carry the remainder of your orders into execution without loss of time. But I must not conclude my report without doing justice to the merits of those whom I have been so happy as to command.

The navy have most cordially supported us. Captain Beaver of his Majesty's ship Acasta, has increased that character which I know his conduct at Bay Robert, Martinique, in your presence gained him. His arrangement and presence of mind rendered him particularly qualified for joint operations. Captain Carthew of the Gloire, and Captain Malcom of the Narcissus, also merit the warmest acknowledgment: and I am also much obliged to the Honourable Captain Bertie, of his Majesty's ship Dart, who acted on shore.

The royal artillery under Brigadier-General Stehelin, have continued their usual spirited manner. If the enemy had not capitulated yesterday, we should have opened a fine battery of six mortars; and I am certain from what happened at Martinique, our artillery would have given them enough of it in one night.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Rial, 15th regiment, I with pleasure acknowledge the assistance I have received from him. He tantalized me with an offer to take Fort Morelle by assault with the 15th regiment the morning of yesterday during the action. Lieutenant-Colonel Prevost deserves equal good report. Major Henderson who commands the reserve is a true soldier; and Major Alen, 3d West India regiment, gallantly led his black troops.

The Staff have all been active. Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell, Deputy Adjutant-General, has been always forward; he is an officer who must rise from his merit.

The Honourable Captain de Courcy, of the Quarter-Master-General's department, has shewn an activity and exertion which does him great credit, and proves him to be an officer for service.

Lieutenant Hobbs, Royal Engineers, yields to no one in work, and is an admirable officer for a service of this nature.

The medical department has been ably conducted by Doctor Burke.

I have been much assisted by Colonel Suler, the Royalist, a man inflexible in loyalty.

My Aid de Camp, Captain Faynton, 64th regiment, will have the honour to deliver this dispatch to you; he has been many years with me; I wish I could get him the promotion his merit deserves.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) F. MAITLAND, Maj. Gen.

P. S. I inclose the necessary returns. There are fourteen pieces of artillery and four mortars; eighteen in all in Fort Napoleon alone.
