The whole lands are held blench of a subject superior, and the teinds are valued and exhausted by the present stipend. They are appointed to be exposed in one lot, or in more lots.

These lands lie in a district where improvements are spreading, and are well accommodated as to roads, the turnpike-road from Ayr to London passing through Carbieston Byre, and immediately on the south march of the other lands. The lands of Carbieston Byre form a neat detached property, containing about 138 acres, Scots measure; and being surrounded by several highly embellished estates, and lying within four miles of the town of Ayr, it is capable of being rendered a most desirable residence.

The coal on the lands of Deuchry never has been properly worked. It is, however, known that it could, by a very small expenditure, be made to produce well; and as the seam of coal in the adjoining estate, which dips into the Deuchry lands, and which has long been worked to advantage, is now nearly exhausted, there consequently arises a certainty of a continuance of the demand which that seam supplied, and indeed some highly favourable offers of a lordship have been made for it.

The tenants houses and accommodations are in good order. Those upon Carbieston Byre are very complete, having been lately enlarged and thoroughly repaired. The fences are likewise in good condition.

The title-deeds may be seen, and farther information obtained, at the office of Mr Menzies, depute-clerk of session, clerk to the process of sale, or by applying to James Jollie, W. S. or Mr John Hamilton, at Loudon Castle, who will give directions for showing the lands.
