Statutory Instruments 1964 No. 704
The Exported Animals Protection Order 1964
(Made 7th May 1964)

This Order, which comes into operation on 8th June 1964, and is made under the Diseases of Animals Act 1950 and the Agriculture (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1954, requires that any cattle, sheep or swine which are to be exported from Great Britain to any place outside the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, the Isle of Man or the Republic of Ireland, whether by sea or by air, shall be rested at premises approved by the Minister or the Secretary of State for Scotland for at least ten hours before they are loaded in the vessel or aircraft in which they are to be carried. It requires the provision of adequate and accessible food and water and shelter and bedding and limits the number of each species of animal which may be put at one time into any one pen or enclosure on approved premises.

It further provides that animals may not be loaded into any vessel or aircraft unless a veterinary inspector has certified that he has examined the animals and found them to be fit to be shipped and empowers an inspector appointed by the Minister or by the local authority to prohibit the carriage of any animal or to require an animal to be removed from the vessel or aircraft if it is likely to be exposed to unnecessary suffering during transit.

The carrying of animals is also prohibited when the master of a vessel anticipates adverse weather conditions during the voyage.

This Order revokes the Exported Cattle Protection Order 1957 and the Exported Cattle Protection (Amendment) Order 1957.
