JUDICIAL SALE OF LONGDYKE,

Lying in the Parish of Mousewald, and County of DUMFRIES.

To be Sold, under the authority of an Act and Warrant of the Lords of Council and Session, occupied by the First Division of the Court, in Edinburgh, on Wednesday the 13th of November 1811, betwixt the hours of five and seven o'clock afternoon, before the Lord Ordinary on the Bills,

ALL and WHOLE the said LANDS of LONGDYKE, with the HOUSES, BIGGINGS, YARDS, MOSSES, MUIRS, MEADOWS, and haill Parts, Pencilles, and Pertinents thereof, lying within the parish of Mousewald, and sheriffdom of Dumfries.

These lands extend to 76 acres Scots, or thereby, and are situated on the turnpike road betwixt Dumfries and Annan, at the distance of 8 miles from the former, and 7 miles from the latter.

There is a dwelling-house of two storeys, and an adjoining house of one storey, on the premises. The lands are lying almost in a state of nature, but contain some excellent land in point of soil; also muir-land, and sundry spring wells of water; are capable of much improvement, and the means are at no great distance, as the property lies within 4 miles of the limestone quarries of Kelhead, and 2 miles of those of Clarencefield.

The lands are only let for the current year, and are held of a subject superior, for payment of a feu-duty of 6s. 8d. Scots, or 6d. 8-12ths sterling, and pay 4s. of school-salary. They pay no cess or land-tax, and the teinds are valued by an old decret of valuation, and exhausted by payment of 1l. 16s. 3d. sterling of stipend to the minister of Mousewald.

The upset price as fixed by the Lords is 1,655l. 14s. 5d. sterling.

The title-deeds and articles of roup will be found in the office of Mr George Bruce, depute-clerk of Session; and a plan and measurement of the lands is in the hands of William Johnstone, solicitor of the Supreme Courts, Northumberland Street, Edinburgh, the agent in the sale, who will give any other information that may be required; or application may be made to John Little, writer in Annan, the judicial factor.
