FAIR TRADING ACT 1973

REFERENCE TO THE CONSUMER PROTECTION ADVISORY COMMITTEE BY THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF FAIR TRADING

THE Director General of Fair Trading pursuant to Sections 14, 17 and 19 of the Fair Trading Act 1973 hereby refers to the Consumer Protection Advisory Committee—

- (i) in respect of each of the three consumer trade practices described in paragraph 2 of the Schedule hereto (being practices which appear to him to have the relevant effects mentioned in paragraph 3 thereof),
 - (a) the question whether the practice adversely affects the economic interests of consumers in the United Kingdom; and
 - (b) if so, the question whether it does so by reason, or partly by reason, that it has, or is likely to have, one or more of the effects specified in section 17(2) of the said Act; and
- (ii) proposals that it be recommended to the Secretary of State that she exercise her order-making powers under section 22 of the Act.
 - (a) with respect to the practice described in paragraph 2(a) of the Schedule hereto, to make provision to the effect specified in paragraph 4 of the Schedule hereto;
 - (b) with respect to the practice described in paragraph 2(b) thereof, to make provision to the effect specified in paragraph 5 thereof; and
 - (c) with respect to the practice described in paragraph 2(c) thereof, to make provision to the effect specified in paragraph 6 thereof.

Director General of Fair Trading.

24th April 1974.

SCHEDULE

Definitions

1. In this Schedule,

“consumer transaction” means—

- (i) a sale of goods that is a consumer sale for the purposes of the Sale of Goods Act 1893;

- (ii) a hire purchase agreement which is a consumer agreement for the purposes of the Supply of Goods (Implied Terms) Act 1973; or
- (iii) an agreement for the redemption of trading stamps for goods.

The Practices Referred

2. The three practices referred are:—

- (a) seeking by the wording employed in notices on trade premises or trade vehicles, or in advertisements or catalogues, or in invoices or receipts or other documents furnished to consumers acquiring goods, to affect consumer transactions on terms that include terms void by virtue of section 55(4) of the Sale of Goods Act 1893 or section 12(3) of the Supply of Goods (Implied Terms) Act 1973 or terms incompatible with section 4(1)(c) of the Trading Stamps Act 1964;
- (b) furnishing to consumers entering into consumer transactions written statements relating to their rights against the shopkeeper or other person supplying them or to his obligations to them without advising them of their rights under sections 13 and 15 of the said Act of 1893, sections 9 to 11 of the said Act of 1973 or section 4(1)(c) of the said Act of 1964 if, for example, the goods are not of merchantable quality;
- (c) furnishing or causing to be furnished to consumers entering into consumer transactions or persons likely, as consumers, to enter into such transactions written statements relating to their rights against third parties or to the obligations to them of such third parties (such as manufacturers' guarantees) without advising them of their rights under the statutory provisions mentioned in paragraph (b) above against the seller or other person supplying them with the goods.

The Effects

3. The effects mentioned in section 17(2) of the Fair Trading Act which the practices referred appear to the Director General of Fair Trading to have are—

- (a) in the case of the practice described in paragraph 2(a), the effects (mentioned in section 17(2)(a) and (b)) of misleading consumers as to their rights under any relevant transaction or otherwise confusing them as to the terms of the transaction;
- (b) in the case of the practices described in paragraphs 2(b) and (c) those effects and the following further effects (mentioned in section 17(2)(a)), namely—
 - (i) withholding from consumers adequate information as to their rights under any relevant transaction; and
 - (ii) withholding from them an adequate record of their rights under any such transaction.

The Proposals

4. In respect of the practice described in paragraph 2(a)—

- (a) that it should be unlawful for a person in the course of a trade or business—
 - (i) to display in a shop or on other trade premises where consumer transactions are effected, or on a vehicle or on or near a stall from which such transactions are effected, a notice likely to suggest that the rights of consumers under the statutory provisions mentioned in paragraph 2(a) are excluded or restricted in relation to consumer transactions entered into there;
 - (ii) to include in an advertisement intended to induce consumers to enter into consumer transactions any statement likely to suggest that those rights are excluded or restricted in relation to consumer transactions occasioned by the advertisement;
 - (iii) to supply a consumer pursuant to a consumer transaction goods bearing, or goods in a container bearing, a statement likely to suggest that those rights are excluded or restricted in relation to that transaction;
 - (iv) to furnish to a consumer in connection with the carrying out of a consumer transaction or to a person likely, as a consumer, to enter into such a transaction a document including a statement likely to suggest that those rights are excluded in relation to that transaction or likely transaction;
- (b) that for the purposes of paragraph (a) above, the use of such phrases as "No goods exchanged" "No money refunded" or "Credit notes only for returned goods" and similar phrases should be regarded (irrespective of their legal effect) as indicating that a consumer's rights under the relevant statutory provision are excluded or restricted except where the words are so qualified as to indicate otherwise e.g. in a notice reading "We regret that goods cannot be exchanged just because customers subsequently change their minds".

5. In the case of the practice described in paragraph 2(b)—

- (a) that, subject to paragraph (b) below, it should be unlawful (more than 6 months after the commencement of the order) for a trader—
 - (i) to supply to a consumer, pursuant to a consumer transaction, goods bearing, or goods in a container bearing, any wording likely to be taken as setting out or describing rights available against the trader, or as setting out or describing or limiting obligations accepted by him in relation to the goods (whether legally enforceable or not), unless the goods or container also carry in close proximity to that wording a clear and conspicuous statement to the effect that these legal rights which the consumer enjoys against him if the goods are defective or unfit for any purpose or are not as described and which cannot lawfully be restricted are in no way affected by the said wording; or
 - (ii) otherwise to furnish to a consumer in connection with the carrying out of a consumer transaction or to a person likely, as a consumer, to enter into such a transaction with him or through his agency any document (such as a catalogue, receipt or invoice) that includes such wording but no such statement as are described in head (1) above;
- (b) that it should be a sufficient compliance with the requirement of paragraph (a) above to mark the relevant goods or container with, or to include in the relevant document, a warning such "N.B. If the goods are faulty, your legal rights are not prejudiced by this statement".

6. In the case of the practice described in paragraph 2(c)—

- (a) that, subject to paragraphs (b) and (c) below, it should be unlawful (more than 6 months after the commencement of the order) for a person carrying on a trade or business:—
 - (i) to cause a consumer acquiring goods from another person under a consumer transaction to be supplied with goods bearing, or goods in a container bearing, any wording likely to be taken as setting out or describing or limiting obligations accepted by him in relation to the goods (whether legally enforceable or not and including statements such as "We guarantee our goods") unless the goods or container also carry in close proximity to that wording, a clear and conspicuous statement to the effect that those legal rights which the consumer enjoys against the seller or other person supplying the goods to him if the goods are defective or unfit for any purpose or are not as described and which cannot lawfully be restricted are in no way affected by the said wording;
 - (ii) otherwise to furnish or cause to be furnished to a consumer acquiring goods from another person under a consumer transaction or to a person likely, as a consumer, to enter into a consumer transaction with another person, any document including such wording but no such statement as are described in head (i) above;
- (b) that it should be a sufficient compliance with the requirement of paragraph (a) above to mark the relevant goods or container with, or include in the relevant document, a warning such as "Remember: this guarantee (or this limitation) does not affect your rights against the shopkeeper or other person who supplied you if the goods are faulty";
- (c) that nothing in paragraph (a) above should apply to create an offence in relation to the supply of any goods or the furnishing of any document which ceased to be in the possession of the person responsible before the commencement of the order.

FAIR TRADING ACT 1973 INVITATION TO SUBMIT REPRESENTATIONS TO THE CONSUMER PROTECTION ADVISORY COMMITTEE

1. THE Director General of Fair Trading has referred to the Consumer Protection Advisory Committee for consideration the question whether the consumer trade practices described below:

- i. adversely affect the economic interests of consumers in the United Kingdom, and
 - ii. if so, whether they do so because or partly because they have (or are likely to have) one or more of the effects specified in Section 17 of the Fair Trading Act 1973.
2. The consumer trade practices covered by the Director's reference are:

- i. the display of notices in shops and the provision to consumers of written communications which purport to exclude or restrict those basic rights which the consumer has against the supplier and which have been made inalienable by the Supply of Goods (Implied Terms) Act 1973; and
- ii. the use of wording in documents which explains the terms on which goods are or are sought to be supplied but which fails to make clear to the consumer the existence of his basic rights against the supplier which have been made inalienable by the Supply of Goods (Implied Terms) Act 1973.

3. The reference, under Part II of the Fair Trading Act 1973, was made on 24th April 1974.

6. The Consumer Protection Advisory Committee hereby invite written representations from persons or bodies claiming such an interest in the reference.

THE Joint County Council of the Combined County of Perth and Kinross propose to make an Order under Section 1(1), (2) and 3) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1967 as amended by Part IX of the Transport Act 1968.

The effect of the proposed Order would be to introduce "No Waiting" restrictions on the south side of Dunira Street, Comrie, and also on short sections in Bridge Street and Drummond Street on each side of the crossroads formed by the junctions of Drummond Street/Dunira Street and Bridge Street/M.ville Square.

Exceptions will permit waiting for the purposes of (a) picking up and setting down of passengers; (b) loading or unloading goods, and where necessary, in connection with (c) the maintenance of the road, and (d) the supply of gas, electricity and water. A disabled person's vehicle displaying the appropriate badge would also be exempt from the proposed waiting restrictions, providing the said vehicle does not cause an obstruction.

Full details of the proposals are contained in the draft Order which, together with a map showing the lengths of road affected and a statement of the Council's reasons for proposing to make the Order, may be examined, during normal office hours from 1st to 24th May 1974 at the Police Station, Comrie, and at the County Offices, York Place, Perth. Any person wishing to object to the proposed Order should send details of their grounds for objection in writing to the undersigned by 24th May 1974.
