FORESTRY COMMISSION

THE Forestry Commissioners hereby give notice that they have made an Order under the Plant Health Act 1967 entitled The Importation of Wood and Bark (Prohibition) (Great Britain) Order 1977.

This Order revokes the Importation of Wood (Prohibition) (Great Britain) Order 1974 and re-enacts its provisions with modifications imposing new conditions for the permitted landing of wood of the genera Castanea, Quercus and Picea and of the coniferous genera. These conditions differ according to the genus and the country or territory in which the wood is grown or from which it is imported. The provisions of this Order relating to isolated bark (defined in Article 2(1)) are new.

The Order prohibits the importation into Great Britain of wood (as defined in Article 2(1)) of the descriptions specified in the second column of Schedule 1 from the countries referred to in that column unless the relevant conditions laid down in the third column have been fulfilled, and of isolated bark of the descriptions specified in Schedule 2 from the countries mentioned in that Schedule (except isolated bark of trees of the genera Castanea, Quercus and Picea grown in Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland, the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands which is exported directly to Great Britain), unless the Forestry Commissioners or an inspector authorised for the purposes of the Order have or has granted a licence allowing the importation of wood or isolated bark.

This Order provides that an inspector authorised by the Commissioners may examine and take samples of wood or isolated bark imported or about to be imported, and that wood or isolated bark landed in contravention of the Order shall be destroyed by the importer, unless it is immediately re-exported or disposed of under licence.

The Order also provides that any wood appearing to the Commissioners or an inspector not to have been free at the time of landing from the pests and diseases mentioned in the Schedule, or not to have conformed with any statement in an accompanying certificate, shall be destroyed or disposed of under licence.

In addition, the Order lays down penalties for its contravention, and provides for the furnishing of information regarding imported wood and isolated bark.

The Order will come into operation on 11th July 1977 and has been published as Statutory Instrument No. 901.
