

Edinburgh Gazette.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

FROM FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, TO TUESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1817.

The following Addresses have been presented to his Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses his Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The respectful and affectionate Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Dumbar-ton, in a General Meeting assembled.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Dumbar-ton, humbly beg leave to express the deep sense we feel of that awful calamity which has recently deprived us, even in the season of our sanguine hopes and expectations, of that most amiable, most virtuous, and most excellent Princess, her Royal Highness Charlotte Augusta, whose superior endowments, and endearing qualities, had already taken deep root in our affections; and, had it pleased God to spare her life, promised to be the source of many blessings to these realms, and to reflect additional splendour on your Royal Highness's illustrious house.

While we largely participate in that general feeling of sorrow and regret, which this most melancholy event has diffused over the whole nation, we do also most sincerely sympathize in that peculiar grief with which, as a father, your Royal Highness must necessarily be afflicted upon this mournful occasion; and we humbly pray that Heaven, of its infinite goodness, may be graciously pleased to bestow such strength and consolation as may enable your Royal Highness to endure the pressure of a dispensation so severe and unexpected.

May it please your Royal Highness to accept the renewed assurance of our undiminished attachment to your person and government; and may the proofs which his Majesty's subjects have exhibited of their sincere and unabated loyalty and affection, operate as an healing balm upon the afflicted mind of a father.

Signed, in name and by appointment of the Meeting.

JAMES COLQUHOUN, Chairman.

Dumbar-ton, 1st December 1817.

To his Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Noblemen, Freeholders, Commissioners of Supply, and Justices of Peace of the County of Edinburgh.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Commissioners of Supply, and Justices of the Peace of the County of Edinburgh, deeply impressed with a sense of the great loss which your Royal Highness and the nation have sustained in the death of her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, humbly beg leave to condole with your Royal Highness on this most melancholy occasion.

It would but aggravate that sorrow which it is our humble endeavour to sooth, were we particularly to recall the many virtues of that amiable and illustrious Princess, whose loss we so greatly deplore, or to dwell on the peculiar circumstances under which she has been untimely snatched from us. Most deeply have we felt, and with the most unfeigned sorrow have we grieved, for this calamity, as for the most severe domestic affliction, and with contrite hearts, have we bowed with humble submission to the awful dispensation with which it has pleased Almighty God to visit us.

We hope that the deep concern which has been evinced, by the whole British nation at this calamitous event, by proving their unshaken and unalterable attachment to your Royal Highness and your illustrious house, may administer some balm of consolation to your mind.

We humbly pray that He who alone can bind up the broken spirit, may enable your Royal Highness to bear this severe calamity with fortitude and resignation, and that He may be pleased to grant unto your Royal Highness long life and all prosperity.

Signed in name, and by authority of the Meeting,

MORTON.

To his Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Convener, Deacons, and Members of the Nine Incorporated Trades of the Ancient and Royal Burgh of Dundee, most humbly condole with your Royal Highness on the death of the Princess Charlotte, who, we hoped, was destined by the Almighty to be the prop and stay of your declining years, and afterwards to reign over a happy, free, and loyal people, promoting their welfare and increasing their happiness. The only consolation which the nation can receive, is the hope that the life of your Royal Highness will long be preserved for the interest and happiness of your loyal subjects, and that the descendants of the illustrious house of Brunswick will long enjoy the throne of the British empire.

Signed, by order and on behalf of the Nine Incorporated Trades, by JAMES GELLATLY, Convener.

Unto his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of Dumbar-ton.

May it please your Royal Highness,

Deploing the calamity which has befallen the kingdom, in the death of her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, we humbly offer our heartfelt condolence with the sorrows of your Royal Highness. We however indulge the hope, that, reflecting on the exalted virtues of the Princess, which have called forth the spontaneous tribute of a nation's grief, your Royal Highness will be supported by the consoling consideration that these have gone to their eternal reward.

Embracing this lamented occasion to renew our assurances of devoted affection to your Royal Highness, we trust that the memory of departed excellence will strengthen the ties of attachment to your royal house throughout the empire. Feeling that we cannot too highly venerate our inestimable constitution, we shall continue to exert our limited influence in promoting the peace and good order of society; and that your Royal Highness may long experience the happiness of governing a free, prosperous, and united people, is our earnest wish and prayer.

Signed in name, in presence, and by appointment of the other Magistrates and Councillors, in Council assembled, at Dumbarton, the 29th day of November 1817.

JOHN DIXON, Provost.

WE, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Dumfries, now publicly assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of the deepest condolence, for the irreparable loss which your Royal Highness has sustained by the death of your most amiable, virtuous, and illustrious daughter, the Princess Charlotte of Wales; and we fervently pray, that on this most trying occasion, the God of infinite and eternal mercy may communicate to your Royal Highness, to his Serene Highness Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, and all the members of the royal family, the soothing balm of divine consolation: and may dispose all classes of his Majesty's subjects rightly to improve that most awful and solemn dispensation of Divine Providence, which so deeply affects the British nation.

We are, may it please your Royal Highness, your Royal Highness's most devoted and humble servants, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Dumfries.

To his Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Dean, Council, and Members of the Incorporation of Guildry of the Royal Burgh of Cupar, in Fife, in General Meeting assembled, this 1st day of December 1817.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, his Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Dean, Council, and Members of the Incorporation of the Guildry of Cupar, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with assurances of the warmest sympathy in that severe affliction with which it has pleased Divine Providence to visit your Royal Highness.

Feeling, with the whole British empire, the most lively interest in every event which affects the welfare and happiness of your illustrious family, we deeply lament the loss of a Princess endeared to you by her affection and by her virtues; and we sincerely condole with your Royal Highness in the sufferings which a parent's heart must endure, under a calamity so severe and unexpected.

We fervently implore the Great Disposer of all, that He will bestow on your Royal Highness that strong consolation which is to be derived only from firm confidence in the righteousness and wisdom of His sovereignty—that He will pour His choicest blessings on your Royal Highness, and continue to prosper your government, which has hitherto been administered with so much prudence, equity, and firmness; and that he will maintain, till the latest posterity, the mild and paternal government of your illustrious house, under which we have enjoyed so much prosperity and happiness.

To his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Lochmaben, in the County of Dumfries, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with every sentiment of respect and affection, to express our condolence under the severe dispensation with which it has pleased Providence of late to visit your Royal Highness and the whole nation.

We had the highest satisfaction in contemplating the many excellent dispositions and virtues of her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, your late daughter, the heir of the throne, and the hope of the nation. We also beheld with high satisfaction, her happy union with his Serene Highness Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, who has endeared himself still more to the nation, by his feeling and conduct on this trying occasion; and our grief on account of her untimely and much-lamented death is proportionally severe.

We are aware of those feelings which must press more especially on your Royal Highness's paternal heart; and we humbly and devoutly pray, that your Royal Highness may participate abundantly in the consolations of our holy religion, which alone can administer adequate support under so afflicting an event.

To his Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Magistrates and Town Council of Dundee, beg leave humbly to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere condolence on the afflicting dispensation of Providence, which has deprived you of an affectionate and beloved daughter, and the country of an heir to the throne, who, through her illustrious virtues, had already reigned in the hearts of the people.

We hope that the universal sympathy of a generous nation will in some degree alleviate your sorrow; that the same hand which has inflicted the wound, will heal the poignant grief of his Majesty's loyal subjects, by preserving the life of your Royal Highness for many years; and that an heir of the illustrious house of Brunswick may never be wanting to fill the British throne.

To his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, his Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers of the Presbytery of Inverness, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the homage of our most sincere condolence on the heavy calamity, with which it has pleased Almighty God to visit your Royal Highness and the whole British empire, in the early death of her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte of Wales and her infant son. While as subjects of the divine government, we desire to submit with unreserved acquiescence to the appointments of unerring wisdom, as men and Britons, we cannot but deplore the sudden extinction of so many hopes. That your Royal Highness may derive all that comfort from the truths and hopes of the Gospel which, more especially under griefs like yours, they are so graciously adapted to yield, and that after proving a public blessing for many years, your Royal Highness may be united to your justly beloved and lamented daughter in a better world, are the earnest prayers of, may it please your Royal Highness, his Majesty's most obedient, most faithful, and most loyal subjects, the Ministers of the Presbytery of Inverness.

To his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, his Majesty's most loyal and devoted subjects, the Heritors, Deputy Lieutenants, Justices of Peace, and Magistrates of the County of Bute, assembled at Rothesay, at a general meeting, beg leave humbly to offer to your Royal Highness the expression of our condolence upon the heavy affliction with which your Royal Highness as a father is now visited. We do also, upon public grounds, most deeply grieve for and lament the calamity, by which these kingdoms and your Royal Highness, as the high representative of their sovereign, are deprived of their dearest hope. We should not now intrude upon your Royal Highness, but that we consider it a duty, however melancholy, in proof of the affection and loyalty which we do truly bear to your Royal Highness's person and government.

Signed in our name and by appointment, this 20th day of November 1817.

ARCHD. MOORE, Vice-Lieutenant.

To his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Heritors, Householders, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Parish of Kelso, in Public Meeting assembled, at Kelso, this 29th day of November 1817.

May it please your Royal Highness,

DEEPLY penetrated with the afflicting event which has suddenly deprived your Royal Highness of a beloved and only child, your illustrious house of one of its brightest ornaments, and a dutiful and affectionate nation of the object of its fondest attachment and esteem, we, his Majesty's most faithful subjects, the Heritors, Householders, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Parish of Kelso, beg leave to approach you in the present season of public grief, to deplore, in common with your Royal Highness, as one of the greatest of national calamities, the awful dispensation of Providence with which we have been visited.

When we reflect on all the joyful hopes which seemed on the eve of accomplishment, in the birth of a royal infant, to transmit to posterity the name and honours of your illustrious house, and on the complicated reverse, which in one fatal night, bereaved the world of this lamented Princess and her offspring, overwhelmed with affliction the heart of her illustrious consort, and converted into one family of mourning, the entire population of this extensive empire, we know not in what language, adequate to the occasion, to convey to your Royal Highness the expression of our sympathy and sorrow.

The virtues which adorned the illustrious Princess, whose loss we now lament, will long be cherished in the recollection of your people; and it will be a consolation to your Royal Highness to reflect, that the few short years of her life (which it was not the divine will to prolong for the glory and advantage of the British empire) were so employed as to prepare her for an immortal crown, and a glory which will not pass away.

To these expressions of grief and condolence, we beg leave to add the assurance of our most cordial attachment to the person and family of your Royal Highness, and, while we bow with submission to the rod with which we have been chastened, we are thankful for the success which has hitherto attended the councils of your Royal Highness, and for the blessings of peace we now enjoy, in addition to the liberties we have long inherited under the mild and paternal sway of the house of Brunswick.

Subscribed in name and by authority of the Meeting.

ROXBURGH.

[Transmitted by the Duke of Roxburgh, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To his Royal Highness George, PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Renfrew.

It is with the deepest sorrow, and the most cordial sympathy, and at same time with unshaken loyalty, and the most profound respect, that we venture to approach your Royal Highness at this time, to express our condolence on the melancholy event of the much lamented death of your Royal Highness's dearly beloved daughter the Princess Charlotte, the pride of the nation, the hope of this kingdom, and the pattern of every thing virtuous and praiseworthy; our hopes and expectations, which were highly raised from such fair and flattering prospects, are sadly disappointed, and our joy, alas! has turned into mourning, but it was the will of the Sovereign Disposer of every event.

We cordially sympathize with the afflicted husband Prince Leopold, under the irreparable loss he has sustained.

That the God of all grace and consolation may support your Royal Highness under the distressing dispensation of Providence, that He may long preserve the valuable life of your Royal Highness, and that your Royal Highness may long continue to reign over a free, happy, and loyal people, is the sincere prayer of, may it please your Royal Highness, your devoted servants, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of Renfrew, in Common Council assembled.

Signed in presence and by appointment of the meeting, by ROBERT KING, Provost.
