

The Edinburgh Gazette.

Published by Authority.

TUESDAY, JULY 17, 1832.

Lord Chamberlain's-Office, July 12, 1832.

ORDERS for the Court's going into mourning on Sunday next the 15th instant, for Her late Serene Highness the Princess Louise, daughter of their Serene Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Saxe Weimar, niece to Her Majesty the Queen, viz:—

The Ladies to wear black silk, fringed or plain linen, white gloves, necklaces and ear-rings, black or white shoes, fans and tippets.

The Gentlemen to wear black, full trimmed, fringed or plain linen, black swords and buckles.

The Court to change the mourning on Sunday the 29th instant, viz:—

The Ladies to wear black silk or velvet, coloured ribbons, fans and tippets, or plain white, or white and gold, or white and silver stuffs, with black ribbons.

The Gentlemen to wear black coats, and black or plain white, or white and gold, or white and silver stuff waistcoats, full trimmed, coloured swords and buckles.

And on Sunday the 5th of August next, the Court to go out of mourning.

ST. JAMES'S PALACE, July 4, 1832.

The King was this day pleased to confer the honour of Knighthood upon Captain John Marshall, of the Royal Navy, Companion of the Most Honourable Military Order of the Bath, and Knight Commander of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order.

ST. JAMES'S PALACE, July 11, 1832.

THE following Addresses to the King were this day presented to His Majesty at the Levee, and graciously received:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the city of Edinburgh, beg leave to approach your royal person with the expression of our most ardent and devoted attachment.

It was with feelings of the utmost horror and indignation that we heard of the late atrocious and treasonable attack upon the sacred person of your Majesty; and while we, therefore, now feel it peculiarly incumbent upon us to come forward with a declaration of our loyalty and attachment to your Majesty, we cannot but deplore that there should have occurred, during your Majesty's reign, an event so disgraceful in itself, and so repugnant to the feelings of a loyal and affectionate nation.

That your Majesty's life may be long preserved to your faithful subjects, and that the blessing which, through Divine Providence, they enjoy under your Majesty's beneficent sway, may be transmitted to the latest posterity, are the fervent prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's loyal and devoted subjects.

Signed in our name, and by our appointment, at a public general meeting of the Inhabitants of Edinburgh, held in George Street Assembly Rooms this 26th day of June 1832.

John Learmonth,
Lord Provost of the City of Edinburgh.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of Edinburgh, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the renewed assurance of our loyalty and devoted attachment to your Majesty's person and government; and to express the deep indignation and abhorrence we feel, in common with all classes of your Majesty's subjects, on having heard of the recent daring and treasonable attempt upon your sacred person.

We unfeignedly rejoice that, by the blessing of Divine Providence, your Majesty has been preserved from danger so imminent, and escaped an attack so flagitious, without injury; and, while we are deeply sensible of the manifold blessings and privileges enjoyed under the mild and paternal government of your Majesty, we lament and deplore that there should be found in the British dominions an individual capable of an outrage so atrocious and disgraceful to human nature.

That it may please Almighty God to bless, protect, and long preserve your Majesty, and to watch over a life so precious to these kingdoms, is the prayer of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's devoted and attached subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of the city of Edinburgh.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and by our appointment, and the seal of the city is hereto affixed, at Edinburgh the 25th day of June, 1832 years.

John Learmonth, Lord Provost.