

BUCKINGHAM-PALACE, June 4, 1853.

THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Recorder, Sheriffs, and Officers of the City of London, waited upon Her Majesty with the following Address, which was read by the Right Honourable J. A. Stuart Wortley, M.P., the Recorder, and which Her Majesty was graciously pleased to receive upon the Throne :—

To The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's faithful Subjects, the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London, humbly approach your Royal Person to offer to your Majesty our most sincere congratulations on the recent birth of a Prince.

We desire to express to your Majesty our feelings of duty and affection, the deep interest we take in all that concerns the domestic happiness of your Majesty and of your Royal Consort, and our attachment to the Free Constitution under which we live.

We declare to your Majesty the unshaken loyalty of our fellow-citizens, their firm reliance on the free institutions of the Country, and the just legal authority of the Crown, uniformly directed to promote the best interests of the Nation in strict accordance with the principles of the British Constitution.

We fervently pray that your Majesty may be long preserved to reign over a free, happy, and contented people, and that the Throne may be secured to your Majesty's descendants to the latest posterity.

Signed by order of Court,

HENRY ALWORTH MEREWETHER.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer :—

"I thank you very sincerely for your loyal and dutiful Address, and for the affectionate interest which you have expressed in my domestic happiness.

"I have the most entire reliance on the loyalty and attachment of the City of London.

"It is at all times my earnest endeavour to maintain and strengthen the free institutions, which this Country has long enjoyed, and which afford the best guarantee for the welfare of all classes of my subjects."

They were all very graciously received, and had the honour of kissing Her Majesty's hand.
