THE Earl of Clarendon has received a Dispatch from Mr Turnbull, Her Majesty's Consul at Marseilles, of which the following is a copy :—

Marseilles, October 19, 1853.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour of informing your Lordship that on account of the Quarantines established in the Roman and Neapolitan ports on arrivals from England, the steamers sailing from hence for Civita Vecchia and Naples refuse to receive passengers coming from England and destined for those ports, unless it appears from the visas on their passports that they have been seven days out of England previous to embarking ; this being necessary to prevent the vessel being put into Quarantine at Civita Vecchia or Naples, and to allow the travellers admission in free pratique.

I have, &c,
 (Signed) ALEX. TURNBULL.

To The Earl of Clarendon, K.G.,
 Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.
