December 5, 1853.

The Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council for Trade and Plantations have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at St. Michaels, reporting that ships arriving in ballast from ports of the United Kingdom, infected with cholera, may perform quarantine there, but that all ships bringing cargo from such ports shall proceed for that purpose to Lisbon.

By Order,

JAMES BOOTH,

Port of Lynn.

Limits of Port and Legal Quays.

WE, the undersigned, Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, do hereby, under the authority of "The Customs Consolidation Act, 1853," appoint Lynn to be a Port in that part of the United Kingdom called England, and we do hereby declare that the limits of the said port shall commence on the northern side of the bridge across the Exu Brink Cut, called the Free Bridge, in the county of Norfolk, and from thence proceed along and include the whole of the River Ouse, to its termination in Lynn Deep; thence, in a north and east direction, along the coast of the said county, to a place called Brancaster Staith, in the said county; and from thence, in a supposed straight line, to sea, in a north-westerly direction, to fourteen fathoms water; thence, in a supposed straight line, in a south-westerly direction, to a place called Lutton Sluice, in the county of Lincoln; thence, in a south-easterly direction, along a supposed straight line, drawn from Lutton Sluice aforesaid, to Terrington Church, in the aforesaid county of Norfolk, and so along the coast of the said county of Norfolk to the western side of the said River Ouse; and shall include all rivers, bays, harbours, fleets, and creeks within the said port, communicating with or discharging themselves within the said limits.

And we, the said Lords Commissioners, do hereby appoint and declare so much of that open place, quay, or wharf, at Lynn Regis, in the county of Norfolk aforesaid, known as the Marine Parade, extending in length, from north to south,
