FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1855.

WAR-DEPARTMENT, July 2, 1855.

LORD PANMURE has this day received a Despatch and its Enclosure, of which the following are Copies, addressed to His Lordship by the late Field-Marshal Lord Raglan, G.C.B.

Before Sevastopol,

MY LORD,

June 19, 1855.

I INFORMED your Lordship, on the 16th, that new batteries had been completed, and that, in consequence, the Allies would be enabled to resume the offensive against Sevastopol with the utmost vigour.

Accordingly, on the 17th, at daylight, a very heavy fire was opened from all the batteries in the English and French trenches, and maintained throughout the day, and the effect produced appeared so satisfactory that it was determined that the French should attack the Malakoff works the next morning, and that the English should assail the Redan as soon after as I might consider it desirable.

It was at first proposed that the artillery fire should be resumed on the morning of the 18th, and should be kept up for about two hours, for the purpose of destroying any works the enemy might have thrown up in the night, and of opening passages through the abattis that covered the Redan; but on the evening of the 17th it was intimated to me by General Pelissier that he had determined, upon further consideration, that the attack by his troops should take place at three the following morning.

The French therefore commenced their operations as day broke, and as their several columns came within range of the enemy's fire they encountered the most serious opposition both from musketry and the guns in the works, which had been silenced the previous evening; and, observing this, I was induced at once to order our columns to move out of the trenches upon the Redan.

It had been arranged that detachments from the Light, 2d, and 4th Divisions, which I placed for the occasion under the command of Lieutenant-General Sir George Brown, should be formed into three columns; that the right one should attack the left face of the Redan between the flanking batteries; that the centre should advance upon the salient angle; and that the left should move upon the re-entering angle formed by the right face and flank of the work; the first and last preceding the centre column.

The flank columns at once obeyed the signal to advance, preceded by covering parties of the Rifle Brigade, and by sailors carrying ladders, and soldiers carrying wool bags; but they had no sooner shown themselves beyond the trenches than they were assailed by a most murderous fire of grape and musketry. Those in advance were either killed or wounded, and the remainder found it impossible to proceed. I never before witnessed such a continued and heavy fire of grape combined with musketry from the enemy's works, which appeared to be fully manned; and the long list of killed and wounded in the Light and 4th Divisions, and the seamen of the Naval Brigade, under Captain Peel, who was unfortunately wounded, though not severely, will show that a very large proportion of those that went forward fell. Major-General Sir John Campbell, who led the left attack, and Colonel Shadforth, of the 57th, who commanded the storming party under his direction, were both killed, as was also Colonel Yea, of the Royal Fusiliers, who led the right column.

I cannot say too much in praise of these officers. Major-General Sir J. Campbell had commanded the 4th Division from the period of the battle of Inkerman till the arrival, very recently, of Lieutenant-General Bentinck. He had devoted himself to his duty without any intermission, and had acquired the confidence and respect of all; I most deeply lament his loss.

Colonel Shadforth had maintained the efficiency of his regiment by constant attention to all the details of his command, and Colonel Yea was not only distinguished for his gallantry, but had exercised his control of the Royal Fusiliers in such a manner as to win the affections of the soldiers under his orders, and to secure to them every comfort and accommodation which his personal exertions could procure for them.

I shall not be able to send your Lordship correct lists of the killed and wounded by this opportunity, but I will forward them by telegraph as soon as they are made out.

I have not any definite information upon the movements of the French columns, and the atmosphere became so obscured by the smoke from the guns and musketry that it was not possible by personal observation to ascertain their progress, though I was particularly well situated for the purpose; but I understand that their left column, under General Dautemarre, passed the advanced works of the enemy, and threatened the gorge of the Malakoff Tower; and that the two other columns, under Generals Mayran and Brunet, who both, I regret to say, were killed, met with obstacles equal to those we encountered, and were obliged in consequence to abandon the attack.

The superiority of our fire on the day we opened, led both General Pelissier and myself, and the officers of the Artillery and Engineers of the two Services, and the Armies in general, to conclude that the Russian Artillery fire was in a great measure subdued, and that the operation we projected could be undertaken with every prospect of success. The result has shown that the resources of the enemy were not exhausted, and that they had still the power, either from their ships or from their batteries, to bring an overwhelming fire upon their assailants.

Whilst the direct attack upon the Redan was proceeding, Lieutenant-General Sir R. England was directed to send one of the brigades of the 3d Division, under the command of Major-General Barnard, down the Woronzow Ravine, with a view to give support to the attacking columns on his right; and the other brigade, under Major-General Eyre, still further to the left, to threaten the works at the head of the Dockyard Creek.

I have not yet received their reports, and shall not be able to send them to your Lordship to-day; but General Eyre was very seriously engaged, and he himself wounded, though I am happy to say not severely, and he possessed himself of a churchyard, which the enemy had hitherto carefully watched, and some houses within the place; but as the town front was not attacked, it became necessary to withdraw his brigade at night.

I shall make a special report upon this by the next mail, and I shall avail myself of the same opportunity to name to you the officers who have been particularly mentioned to me.

I am concerned to have to inform you that Lieutenant-Colonel Tylden, of the Royal Engineers, whose services I have had the greatest pleasure in bringing so frequently to your Lordship's notice, is very severely wounded. The account I received of him this morning is upon the whole satisfactory, and I entertain strong hopes that his valuable life will be preserved.

I feel greatly indebted to Sir G. Brown for the manner in which he conducted the duties I entrusted to him; and my warmest acknowledgements are due to Major-General Harry Jones, not only for his valuable assistance on the present occasion, but for the able, zealous, and energetic manner in which he has conducted the siege operations since he assumed the command of the Royal Engineers.

He received a wound from a grape shot in the forehead yesterday, which I trust will not prove serious.

I brought up the 1st Division from the vicinity of Balaklava as a reserve, and I shall retain them on these heights.

The Sardinian troops, under General La Marmora, and the Turkish troops, under Omer Pasha, crossed the Tchernaiia on the 17th instant, and occupy positions in front of Chorgouna. They have not come in contact with any large body of the enemy.

I have, &c.,
RAGLAN.

The Lord Panmure, &c., &c., &c.

P.S.—I enclose Lists of Casualties in the Naval Brigade to the 18th instant inclusive. I regret to say these are heavy.

ADMIRALTY, July 2, 1855.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are
 Copies, have been received from Rear-Admiral Sir Edmund Lyons, Bart., G.C.B., Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Mediterranean and Black Sea.

*Royal Albert, off Sevastopol,
 June 19, 1855.*

SIR,

THE enclosed copy of a letter from Captain Lushington, who commands the Naval Brigade before Sevastopol, has just reached me in time to be transmitted for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, by this day's mail.

Their Lordships will readily perceive that the gallantry which has distinguished the Naval Brigade throughout the war was never more distinguished than it was yesterday during the attack on the Malakoff Tower and Redan; and on a future early occasion it will be my pleasing duty to bring under their Lordships' notice the conduct of those engaged during the late bombardment and attack.

I regret to find the name of Lieutenant Thomas
 O. Kidd, of the Albion, amongst the killed yesterday; he was a zealous and gallant young officer, and had served a long time with the Naval Brigade.

Amongst the wounded is Captain Peel, of the Leander, whose chivalrous gallantry and cheerful readiness for every duty render his presence with the brigade invaluable, and I hope that Captain Lushington may not long be deprived of his services.

I regret also to find amongst the wounded Lieutenant William B. Urmston, of the Queen; Lieutenant John H. Cave, of the Diamond; Lieutenant Osborne W. Dalyell, of the Leander; Mr
 George Parsons, Mate, of the Dauntless; and Mr
 H. E. Wood, Midshipman, of the Queen, Aide-de-Camp to Captain Peel.

I am, &c.,

(Signed) EDMUND LYONS,
 Rear-Admiral and Commander-in-Chief.

Camp Naval Brigade,

SIR,

June 18, 1855.

I HAVE the honour to report that on Sunday, at 3 A.M., we opened fire as before on the different forts of Sevastopol, which was very soon returned, but not with the spirit or skill that usually characterizes the enemy's fire. Towards 2 P.M. the fire became very slack, and their batteries appeared much shaken.

The fire continued all day, and the Commander of the Forces having intimated to me his acceptance of my proposal to carry the ladders in case of an assault being made on the town and batteries, I told off four parties of 60 men each to accompany the four columns ordered for this service; and Captain Peel having volunteered his services on this occasion, I placed them under his command, and I beg to enclose a list of the officers under him. I regret to say that the assault, which took place at 3 A.M., was not successful; but our severe loss shows too plainly that the seamen and officers of the Naval Brigade did their duty most gallantly, and their ladders were at their places in spite of the most murderous fire I have witnessed.

Captain Peel led one party in the most gallant style, and Lieutenant Cave led the other. The other two columns did not advance, and consequently the ladder parties, although exposed to a severe fire, as indeed was every one, did not suffer much.

Captain Peel was shot through the arm, but was enabled to continue his duty until the affair was over. I have to regret as well that Lieutenants Urmston, Cave, and Dalyell, Messrs Parsons, mate, and Wood, midshipman, were all wounded.

Lieutenant Kidd and 9 seamen were killed, and 41 seamen wounded, and 1 missing; these men, I trust, will be got in to-night after dark. The party under Lieutenant Cave, with the loss of Lieutenant Kidd and 5 seamen killed, Lieutenant Cave and 7 seamen wounded, equally performed the duty assigned. A heavy fire was kept up from our batteries with admirable precision, until the Commander-in-Chief ordered it to be slackened.

I have also to report the bursting of one of the 95 cwt. 68-pounders, which caused the death of four men, and wounded three.

The enemy's line of battle ships did not fire, but the steamers did. I have the honour to return a list of casualties for the last two days, and to inform you our sick list is 49, and all doing well.

Every officer and man engaged in this arduous service has done his duty most gallantly, and I only await your permission to recommend those whose conduct I have particularly noticed.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) STEPHEN LUSHINGTON.

NIGHTLY ATTACK ON THE SEA DEFENCES OF SEVASTOPOL.

Royal Albert, off Sevastopol.

SIR,

June 19, 1855.

ON our return from Kertch, on the 15th instant, Vice-Admiral Bruat and I were informed by the Commanders of the Land Forces that they intended to re-open the fire of the batteries on the following morning, and on the 18th instant to make further approaches towards Sevastopol, and endeavour to obtain possession of the enemy's positions of the Malakoff and Redan, and their Excellencies also informed us that they had ascertained that the nightly fire of our steamers had produced considerable effect.

2. On hearing this, my colleague and I at once determined to repeat the operation on the two intervening nights, and accordingly, on the 16th instant, the steam frigates and sloops named in the margin,* accompanied by several French steamers, discharged a heavy fire on the town and sea defences, whilst the Danube, Lieutenant R. P. Cator, and the launches of the Royal Albert, under the command of Lieutenants George W. Watson and Edmund Wilmot, poured in a shower of rockets, and happily without any casualty.

3. During the night of the 17th instant the Princess Royal, and the steam frigates and sloops named in the second marginal note †, and accompanied by a division of French steamers and the launches as before, renewed the firing, and on this occasion I am sorry to observe there was some loss, the Princess Royal having had one man killed, and two wounded; the Sidon, two men killed, and eleven wounded; and Captain Lyons, of the Miranda, was so severely wounded in the leg by a shell, that I have been obliged to send him to Therapia Hospital.

4. Their Lordships will readily believe that a strong desire prevailed throughout the fleet to go under fire, but as only one ship of the line could do so with advantage, I thought it right that it should be the Princess Royal, commanded by Lord Clarence Paget, who having planned the course with infinite zeal and ability, was naturally best acquainted with it.

5. Returns of the casualties are herewith transmitted.

ADMIRALTY, July 2, 1855.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been received from Rear-Admiral the Honourable R. S. Dundas, Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's ships and vessels on the Baltic Station:—

PROCEEDINGS OF ADMIRAL SEYMOUR IN NARVA BAY.

Duke of Wellington, at anchor, Tolboukin Lighthouse, W.S.W., 5 miles, June 21, 1855.

SIR,
 IN my letter of the 18th instant, No. 196, I reported, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that I had directed Rear-Admiral Seymour to proceed with Her Majesty's ships Exmouth and Blenheim, and with the gun-boats Pincher and Snap, to examine the coast in the Bay of Narva, and I have now the honour to transmit the enclosed letter which I have received from the Rear-Admiral, reporting his proceedings.

I have much pleasure in expressing my satisfaction at the spirited and judicious manner in which he took occasion to occupy the attention of the troops which were strongly posted in the neighbourhood, and my sense of the zealous efforts of the officers and men under his orders, particularly those in the two gun-boats, which appear to have been well handled under a smart fire from the enemy's batteries.

I have, &c.,

 Rear-Admiral and Commander-in Chief.

No. 1 Enclosure.

REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS AT NARVA.

Her Majesty's ship Exmouth,

Off Seskar, June 19, 1855.

SIR,
 IN obedience to your directions of the 15th instant, I quitted Seskar anchorage at 8 A.M., on Saturday the 16th, anchoring at 7 P.M. under East Tyters Island, off a village situate on its S.S.E. extremity, with a view of obtaining information respecting the River Narva; but only succeeded in learning that a considerable body of troops were about Narva and its vicinity.

Quitting East Tyters on the evening of Sunday the 17th, Narva Lighthouse was made out yesterday, at 2-30 A.M., with the broad extent of sandy beach that borders the bay.

On nearing the entrance of the river, which is narrow, and has a bar on which the breaking shoal water was visible, a considerable number of troops, including a party of cavalry, were seen in active movement, and a large caisson or construction of timber was floated and sunk in the entrance of the river, and became the means of communication with either side; a few wood vessels and river craft only were visible inside the river, the banks of which are of sand, thickly timbered, and well adapted for defence by troops. An earth battery of 12 guns lies on the east side of the river's entrance, and one of 10 guns near the lighthouse, with another in its rear, seen from the mast-head, apparently to command the river; and 2 other guns were placed in position on the right extremity of the Lighthouse Battery.

An opportunity was afforded to try the practical efficiency of the gun-boats Pincher and Snap, under the immediate charge of Captain Hall, of the Blenheim, who, with good judgment, added one of his main-deck 68-pounders to the armament of the former, and until rain and squally weather interfered, their practice was good, and their constant change of position rendered them difficult objects to hit, though the fort guns were well served, using hot shot, which frequently passed near and over them.

On the weather clearing the gun-boats opened fire, and the Blenheim and Exmouth likewise took an opportunity of a couple of hours' practice, covering the gun-boats with good effect, which were ably manœuvred by Lieutenant C. A. C. De Crespigny, in command of the Snap, and Lieutenant Steward, in command of the Pincher, in the former of which I had placed Lieutenant Travers, R.M., with ten gunners of the Royal Marine Artillery of the Exmouth, who did good service. Mr Harper, Assistant-Surgeon of this ship, was likewise on board the Snap, he having volunteered for that service.

As it was evident, from the first, that no serious attempt could be made on the enemy's position, and as a large expenditure of ammunition would have been useless, I considered that enough had now been done to occupy the attention of the troops in the neighbourhood, and no advantage appearing to offer itself for a longer continuance in Narva Bay, the signal was made to discontinue firing, and I proceeded, in compliance with your orders, to rejoin your flag.

I enclose a Return of a casualty which I regret to learn occurred to Captain Searle, R.M., of the Blenheim, the effects of which, I trust, will not prove serious.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) M. SEYMOUR,
Rear-Admiral.

WAR-DEPARTMENT, July 4, 1855.

LORD PANMURE has this day received a Despatch and its Enclosures, of which the following are Copies, addressed to His Lordship by the late Field-Marshal the Lord Raglan, G.C.B.—

Before Sevastopol,

MY LORD,

June 23, 1855.

I INFORMED your Lordship in my Despatch of the 19th instant, that I would make a more special report upon the movements of the 3d Division, as soon as I should receive the reports of Lieutenant-General Sir R. England, and the Major-Generals commanding brigades under him.

The 1st Brigade, under Major-General Barnard, proceeded down the Woronzow Road, and was placed in position on the right of the ravine, ready to co-operate with the columns of attack on the right; whilst the 2d Brigade, under Major-General Eyre, moved down the ravine which separates the left of the English from the right of the French advanced works, for the purpose of attacking the enemy's ambuscades, and making a demonstration on the head of the dockyard creek.

This service was performed with the utmost gallantry, and notwithstanding that they were exposed to a most galling fire, the troops maintained themselves in the position they had taken up during the day, and in the evening withdrew unmolested, leaving a post at the cemetery, which had been one of the objects of the attack in the morning. The action having from circumstances become a most serious one, I beg, as the most satisfactory way of making your Lordship acquainted with the particulars, to lay a copy of the Major-General's letter before your Lordship, and to solicit your attention to the Officers whose services he particularly notices, and at the sametime to his own distinguished conduct.

Your Lordship will see with concern that the loss sustained by this brigade is very considerable, and that Major-General Eyre is himself wounded; but I have every reason to hope that the injury he has received is not very severe, and will not incapacitate him from the discharge of his duty with the same energy and devotion as he has already applied himself to its performance during the protracted operations before Sevastopol.

Lieutenant-General Sir G. Brown, to whose able assistance I referred in my former Despatch, has specially brought to my notice the distinguished conduct of Colonel Yea, who was unfortunately killed, and pays a just tribute to the great merits of this deeply lamented officer; of Lieutenant-Colonel Lysons, of the 23d; Lieutenant-Colonel Johnstone, of the 33d; and Captain Gwilt, of the 34th, all of whom are wounded; of Major-General Codrington, who commanded the Light Division; of Captain Blackett, of the Rifle Brigade, who has lost a leg; and of Captain Forman, of the Rifle Brigade, who fell upon the occasion; and Major-General Codrington mentions the admirable conduct of Captain Turner, of the 7th Foot; Major Macdonell, of the Rifle Brigade; Lieutenant Knox, of the Rifle Brigade, who is wounded; and Lieutenant Donovan, of the 33d.

Lieutenant-General Sir R. England speaks highly of Colonel Cobbe, of the 4th Regiment, who commanded in the trenches of the left attack, and is severely wounded; and Lieutenant-General Bentinck eulogizes the conduct of Colonel Lord West, of the 21st Foot, who assumed the command of the left column after the death of Major-General Sir J. Campbell; of Lieutenant-Colonel Warre, who succeeded to the command of the 57th Regiment on the death of Colonel Shadforth; of Lieutenant-Colonel Cole, commanding 17th Regiment; and of Captains Croker (who was killed) Gordon, McKinstry, and O'Connor, and Lieutenant Thompson, of the 17th Regiment; and Lieutenant Shadwell Clerke, of the 21st Regiment; and Colour-Serjeant Colcliffe and Serjeant Pratt, of the 17th; and Captain the Honourable J. Stewart, and Lieutenants Boileau (who is severely wounded) and Saunders of the Rifle Brigade.

Major-General H. Jones reports most favourably of the services of the following officers of Engineers: Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon, Lieutenant-Colonel Chapman, Lieutenant-Colonel Tylden, Lieutenant Donnelly, Lieutenant Fisher; and he deeply laments the loss of Captain Jesse, Lieutenant Graves and Lieutenant Murray, who fell upon the occasion.

I must express my obligations to Lieutenant-General Sir R. England, Lieutenant-General Pennefather, Lieutenant-General Bentinck, and Major-General Codrington, for the able manner in which they conducted their duties; and I avail myself of the present opportunity to inform your Lordship that Lieutenant-General Pennefather, who was then labouring under illness, is now in so bad a state of health as to be under the necessity of withdrawing from the army. I shall deeply regret his departure, entertaining the highest opinion of him, and knowing his devotion to Her Majesty's service.

I must not omit to mention the following officers of the Royal Navy, who particularly distinguished themselves on the 18th,—Captain Peel, who commanded the whole of the sailors employed, and is severely wounded; Messrs Wood (severely wounded) and Daniel, who have been through the whole siege; Lieutenants Urmston and Dalzell, who are both severely wounded; and Mr Parsons, Mate, who is wounded; Lieutenants Cave and Kidd, both wounded, the latter mortally; and Mr Kennedy, Mate.

I enclose the Return of Casualties from the 18th to the 21st.

I have, &c.,

RAGLAN.

Enclosure 1.

*Camp, before Sevastopol,
June 19, 1855.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of Lieutenant-General Sir Richard England, K.C.B., commanding the Division, that, agreeably to his instructions, I moved off yesterday morning between one and two o'clock A.M. with my brigade, consisting of the 9th, 18th, 28th, 38th, and 44th Regiments—total strength about 2,000 bayonets, and proceeded down the ravine on our left, by the French picquet-house, for the purpose of attacking the enemy's ambuscades, and of making a demonstration on that side.

In attacking the first of these ambuscades we were anticipated by the French, who cleverly took them on their left flank as we advanced in front, and made several prisoners. Beyond this the French had no instructions to co-operate with us; I therefore immediately pushed on an advanced guard under Major Fielden, 44th Regiment, composed of marksmen from each regiment, supporting it on the right by the 44th and 38th Regiments, and on the left by the 18th Regiment, keeping at first the 9th and 28th Regiments in reserve.

The enemy, whose strength I could not estimate, occupied a strong position; their right rested on a Mamelon, their left on a Cemetery. These points were occupied by marksmen.

The intervening ground was intersected and the road barricaded with stone walls, which our men were obliged to pull down, under fire, before they could advance.

In rear of this position, towards the fortress, the enemy occupied several houses, and there were bodies of the enemy seen in rear, as reserves, but of what strength I could not say. This position, under the fire of the guns of the fortress, was strong, and we could not expect to carry it and retain it without sustaining a considerable loss, and which, I regret to state, we have experienced both in officers and men; but it is gratifying to feel that they all most nobly performed their duty on this occasion. The 18th Regiment pushed on, and occupied some houses immediately under the Garden-wall Battery.

The 44th occupied some houses on the right, from whence they kept up a fire on the enemy's embrasures. Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth moved on with his regiment (the 38th), and after taking possession of some houses in front, endeavoured to turn the flank of a battery which annoyed us in front. These parties were afterwards from time to time reinforced or relieved by the 9th Regiment, the 28th Regiment being drawn up in line in rear to support the whole.

Having driven the enemy from these points, I continued to occupy them, with the view to ulterior movements, in the event of the attack on the right being successful, and until it was decided what portion of the ground should be retained for siege operations.

I cannot sufficiently express my sense of the conduct of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men, on this occasion. They attacked the enemy in the first instance with the utmost gallantry, holding their ground until late in the evening, although exposed all day to a concentrated fire from the guns of the fortress, in addition to which I believe the enemy brought up some field-guns, and kept continually firing shells. The losses occasioned were considerable, the total being 31 officers, 44 serjeants, and 487 rank and file, killed or wounded.

At about five o'clock in the evening, after giving orders for the removal of the wounded to the rear, the gradual withdrawal of the parties from the front,—the ground being too far in advance to be permanently occupied for siege operations,—I gave over the command of the brigade to Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, 28th Regiment, having received a wound in the head in the early part of the day, which prevented me latterly from attending properly to my duties. The enemy did not attempt to molest the troops on retiring. The conduct of all was so exemplary during this trying day, that I can scarcely with justice particularize individuals. I beg, however, to thank the officers commanding corps for the assistance they afforded me, viz.—Lieutenant-Colonel Borton, commanding 9th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Edwards, commanding the 18th Royal Irish; Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, commanding the 28th Regiment; Colonel the Honourable A. Spencer, commanding the 44th Regiment, who was wounded; and to Lieutenant-Colonel Staveley, who succeeded to the command of the regiment on Colonel Spencer being obliged to quit the field; Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth, commanding 38th Regiment, who was also wounded, and to Lieutenant-Colonel Sparks, who succeeded him in the command of the regiment; and Major Fielden, 44th, commanding the advanced guard.

I received also the utmost assistance from my Brigade-Major Captain Faussett, 44th Regiment, and also on this, as on many other occasions from my Aide-de-Camp Captain Robertson, 4th Regiment. I was also indebted to Brevet-Major Stuart Wortley, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, who kindly volunteered to act on my Staff.

I beg also to report the judicious arrangements of the Medical Department on this occasion, and especially to thank Assistant-Surgeon John Gibbons, 44th Regiment, and Assistant - Surgeon Jeeves, 38th Regiment, for their zealous and humane exertions in the field, while exposed to a most galling fire.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) WM. EYRE,
Major-General.

WHITEHALL, July 2, 1855.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of the duties of postage," power is given to the Postmaster-General to remit any of the rates of British postage for the time being payable by law on the transmission of post letters, newspapers, or other printed papers, to such extent as the Lords of the Treasury shall from time to time direct; and power is also given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, from time to time, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British or Inland postage, payable by law on the transmission by the Post of Foreign or Colonial letters or newspapers, or any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant.

And whereas it is expedient that regulations should be made for the transmission by the post of the letters hereinafter-mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the power or authority in us for such purpose vested in and by the said Act, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do, by this Warrant, (under the hands of two of us the said Commissioners, by the authority of the Statute in that case made and provided,) order and direct that on every letter not exceeding one quarter of an ounce in weight, posted in or addressed to any part of the United Kingdom, and sent from or to any commissioned officer employed in Her Majesty's Foreign Legion in Heligoland, transmitted by the post between any place in the United Kingdom and Heligoland direct or via Hamburg, direct or via Belgium, Prussia, and Hamburg (the sea conveyance being either by packet-boat or private ship), there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of postage now payable by law on such letters, a uniform rate of threepence (which shall include any foreign postage that may be payable thereon).

And we further order and direct that on every letter not exceeding one quarter of an ounce in weight, posted in or addressed to any part of the United Kingdom, and sent from or to any non-commissioned officer, serjeant, corporal, drummer, trumpeter, fifer, or private soldier, employed in Her Majesty's Foreign Legion in Heligoland, transmitted by the post between any place in the United Kingdom and Heligoland, direct or via Hamburg, direct or via Belgium, Prussia, and Hamburg (the sea conveyance being either by packet-boat or private ship), there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of postage now payable by law on such letters, a uniform rate of threepence (which shall include any foreign postage that may be payable thereon).

And we direct that on every letter transmitted as is mentioned in this Warrant, exceeding a quarter of an ounce in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, in lieu of any rates of postage now payable by law on such respective letters, progressive and additional rates of postage as follows; that is to say:—

On every letter exceeding a quarter of an ounce in weight, and not exceeding half an ounce in weight, two rates of postage.

On every letter exceeding half an ounce in weight, and not exceeding three quarters of an ounce in weight, three rates of postage.

On every letter exceeding three quarters of an ounce in weight, and not exceeding one ounce in weight, four rates of postage.

And for every quarter of an ounce in weight above the weight of one ounce, there shall be charged and taken one additional rate of postage; and every fraction of a quarter of an ounce above the weight of one ounce shall be charged as one additional quarter of an ounce; and each progressive and additional rate, chargeable under this clause, shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such letter would be charged with under the provisions hereinbefore contained, if not exceeding one quarter of an ounce in weight.

And we further direct, that in respect of letters sent by any non-commissioned officers, serjeants, corporals, drummers, fifers, or private soldiers, under the regulations of this Warrant, the following conditions shall be observed; that is to say:—upon each such letter shall be superscribed the name of the writer, and his class or description in the regiment or detachment to which he shall belong; and upon every such letter there shall be written in the handwriting of, and signed by the officer having at the time the command of the regiment or detachment to which the privileged person belongs, the name of such officer, and the name of such regiment or detachment.

And we further direct that in respect of letters received by the post under this Warrant by any commissioned officers, or by any non-commissioned officers or private soldiers, the following conditions shall be observed; that is to say:—the postage of each such letter posted in the United Kingdom shall be prepaid, either in money or by the proper stamp or stamps being affixed thereto, at the time of the same being posted; and as to letters received by any non-commissioned officers or private soldiers, each letter shall be directed to the privileged person, specifying on the superscription thereof the regiment or detachment to which he shall belong.

And we further direct that if the postage of any such letter posted in the United Kingdom shall not be prepaid either in money or by stamps, when posted, the same shall not be forwarded by the post; and that if in any case any other of the conditions hereinbefore prescribed be not complied with, the letter shall be charged with the same rates of postage as if this Warrant had not been signed.

And we further direct that nothing herein contained shall be construed in anywise to annul, prejudice, or affect any of the exemptions and privileges granted by or under the said recited Act; and that all such exemptions and privileges shall remain in full force.

And we further direct that the several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said recited Act.

Provided lastly, and we hereby declare and direct that it shall be lawful for the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, or any two of them, by Warrant under their hands, at any time hereafter to alter or repeal any of the rates hereby altered, or the regulations hereby made, and to make and establish any new or other rates or regulations in lieu thereof, and from time to time to appoint at what time the rates that may be payable are to be paid.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the Regulation of the Duties of Postage," it was enacted (amongst other things) that printed newspapers might be sent free of postage, or liable to postage according to certain regulations and rates in the said Act set forth. And it was by the said Act provided that the Postmaster-General might remit any of the rates of British postage or Inland postage for the time being payable by law on the transmission of post letters, newspapers, or other printed papers, to such extent as the Lords of the Treasury should from time to time direct. And by the said Act powers were given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, from time to time, and at any time thereafter, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage or Inland postage payable by law on the transmission by the post of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant; and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to alter or repeal any of such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof; and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to appoint at what time the rates which might be payable were to be paid; and the power thereby given to alter and fix rates of postage was extended to any increase, or reduction, or remission of postage:

And whereas by an Act passed in the eleventh year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post-office," it was amongst other things enacted that it should be lawful for the Postmaster-General, if he should think fit (with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury), to allow any printed words, writing, or marks, in addition to the direction to be put on any printed newspapers or other printed papers sent by the post, or on the covers thereof, and any such newspapers or other printed papers should from thenceforth be forwarded either free of postage or subject to such rates of postage as the Postmaster-General, with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, should from time to time direct.

And whereas by an Act passed in the present session of Parliament, intituled "An Act to amend the laws relating to the stamp duties on newspapers, and to provide for the transmission by post of printed periodical publications," it is amongst other things enacted that every periodical publication therein mentioned, which should be printed within the United Kingdom on paper stamped for denoting the rate of duty then imposed by law on newspapers, should be entitled to the like privileges of transmission and retransmission by the post between places in the United Kingdom, either postage free or otherwise, on the same terms and conditions, and under and subject to the like rules and regulations as newspapers duly stamped were then entitled and subject to under any Act or Acts in force, but under and subject nevertheless to the terms and conditions in that Act contained; and further, that it should be lawful for the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by Warrant under their hands, to allow any printed newspaper (British, colonial, or foreign) to be transmitted by the post between places in the United Kingdom and Her Majesty's colonies or foreign countries, or between any ports or places beyond the sea, whether through the United Kingdom or not, either free of postage or subject to such rates of postage not exceeding two pence for each newspaper, irrespective of any foreign or colonial postage, as the Commissioners of the Treasury, or the Postmaster-General, with their consent, should from time to time think fit; and as a condition to any British newspaper being transmitted by the post to any place out of the United Kingdom, the same should be printed on paper duly stamped with an appropriate die under the provisions of that Act; and the said last-mentioned Commissioners, or the Postmaster-General, might require such newspaper to be registered at the General Post-Office in London, in such form, and with such particulars, and subject to the payment of such fees as therein mentioned, and also that it should be lawful for Her Majesty's Postmaster-General, with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, at any time or times thereafter, to make and issue such orders, regulations, conditions, and restrictions as he should deem to be necessary or expedient for the purpose of regulating the receipt, transmission, and delivery by post of periodical publications under the provisions of that Act, or for preventing or detecting frauds or abuses in relation thereto, and for giving effect to the purposes of that Act; and that it should also be lawful for the said Postmaster-General, with the like consent, from time to time to rescind or revoke all or any such orders, regulations, conditions, and restrictions, and to make and issue any new ones in lieu thereof. And also that all periodical publications sent by post, otherwise than in conformity with the terms, conditions, and regulations established by or under the authority of that Act, might be detained by the Postmaster-General and any officer of the Post-Office, and after being opened, the same should be either returned to the senders thereof, or forwarded to the places of their destination charged with the like rates of postage as if the same were letters transmitted by the post; provided always, that it should be lawful for the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by Warrant under their hands, to authorise Her Majesty's Postmaster-General to charge in any such case any such less rate of postage as to him should seem fit.

And whereas it is expedient to make provision for regulating the transmission by the post of certain newspapers, periodical publications, and printed prices current in manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the powers reserved to us in and by the several before-mentioned Acts, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do, by this Warrant, under the hands of two of us the said Commissioners, by the authority of the Statute in that case made and provided, order, direct, and consent that the several printed newspapers, periodical publications, and printed prices-current, mentioned in the schedule to this Warrant annexed, shall and may be transmitted by the post between any part of the several places mentioned and set forth in the said schedule to this Warrant annexed, in conformity with, and under and subject to the several orders, regulations, conditions, and restrictions hereinafter mentioned and contained, (and as respects certain of the said places in the said schedules mentioned, such transmission may also be by the routes and by the means respectively mentioned against such places in such schedule,) either free, or that the rates of postage for the transmission thereof shall and may be those which are mentioned and set forth against the said places respectively in the said schedule, according as the word—free, or the said rate of postage shall be mentioned or set forth against the said places respectively in the said schedule.

1. Every such newspaper, periodical publication, and printed price-current shall be sent without a cover, or in a cover open at the sides.
2. There shall be no word or communication printed on any such newspaper, periodical publication, or price-current, after the publication thereof, or upon any cover thereof, nor any writing or marks upon any such newspaper, periodical publication, or price-current, or upon any cover thereof, other than and except the name and address of the person to whom the same is sent, and as to any such newspaper or periodical publication, or the cover thereof, except the name or title of such newspaper or periodical publication, and the name and address of the publisher, newsvender, or agent by whom the same is sent.
3. There shall be no paper or thing enclosed in or with any such newspaper, periodical publication, or price-current.
4. Every such newspaper or periodical publication shall be put into the Post-Office at such hours in the day, and under all such regulations as the Postmaster-General may appoint, including therein the payment of postage on such as are liable to postage when put into the Post-Office, if the Postmaster-General shall so require.

And we do further order, direct, and consent that every British newspaper which shall be hereafter sent by the post to places out of the United Kingdom, shall be posted in the United Kingdom within fifteen days next after the day on which the same shall be published, the day of publication to be determined by the date of such publication.

And we do further order, direct, and consent that Her Majesty's Postmaster-General shall and may charge all or any newspapers, periodical publications, and prices-current sent by post, otherwise than in conformity with the terms, conditions, and regulations established by or under the authority of the said Act last hereinbefore mentioned, or of this present Warrant, with such rates or rate of postage not exceeding in amount such rates or rate as would be chargeable upon the same as letters or a letter, as to him shall seem fit.

And we do further order and direct that the term "by the post," used in this Warrant, or in the schedule hereunto annexed, shall include the conveyance by any British, foreign, or colonial packet-boat, and also by private ship; and that the term "East Indies," used in this Warrant, or in the schedule hereto annexed, shall be construed to mean any port or place in Asia within the limits of the Charter of the East India Company; and that the several other terms and expressions used in this Warrant, or in the schedule hereto annexed, shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in either of the said Acts hereinbefore in this present Warrant mentioned and recited.

And we do further order and direct that the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may, by Warrant under their hands duly made, at any time hereafter alter, repeal, or revoke any of the rates of postage hereby fixed, or any of the orders, regulations, conditions, and restrictions hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates, orders, regulations, conditions, and restrictions, in lieu thereof, and from time to time appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid.

The Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations have received a Despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Rotterdam, enclosing the translation of an Extract from the Staats Courant, being a Notice to Mariners, issued by the Netherland Minister of Marine relative to a New Lighthouse, which has been erected on the West Harbour-head of Helvoetsluys.

(Copy.)

Marine Department.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

THE Minister of Marine hereby gives notice, that on the lighthouse, situated on the West Harbour-head of Helvoetsluys, a catadioptric lighting apparatus of the 4th size has been erected, to replace the Argand Lamp light formerly exhibited there; the new light will be visible at a distance of fully two geographical miles, and will illuminate the horizon from the N.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., through the west and south to east, by unadjusted compass.

Vessels coming in, which, by the indication of the red part of the Coast Light of Goedereede, cross the North Pampus, will, by the obscuration of the Light of Helvoetsluys, in the direction of N.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., know that they have passed that bank (the North Pampus,) about a cable's length; in most cases, however, this obscuration will have to be taken observation of eight or ten ells above the ship's deck, on account of the height of the sand hills near the Kwak.
