FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1855.

WHITEHALL, August 28, 1855.

THE Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., has received the following Despatch from the Earl of Clarendon, K.G., dated Boulogne, the 27th of August 1855 :—

Sir, Boulogne, August 27, 1855.

I HAVE the honour to inform you that the Queen, Prince Albert, the Prince of Wales, and the Princess Royal, quitted Paris this morning accompanied by the Emperor. Their Majesties proceeded in State from the Tuileries to the Railway Station. The Streets and Boulevards were lined with troops. The concourse of people assembled was as great as, and the reception of the Queen was even more enthusiastic than, when Her Majesty entered Paris.

The Queen is profoundly sensible of the kindness with which she has been received by the Emperor and Empress, and of those manifestations of respect and cordiality on the part of the French Nation by which she has everywhere been greeted.

On personal and political grounds the visit to Paris has afforded the highest gratification to Her Majesty.

The magnificent Army of Boulogne has just been reviewed by the Queen. Her Majesty will embark to-night at eleven o'clock. The Emperor will accompany Her Majesty out to sea, and return here in his own yacht.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) CLARENDON.

Right Hon. Sir George Grey, Bart.,
 &c., &c., &c.

TREASURY, August 28, 1855.

Her Majesty has been pleased to appoint the Right Honourable Robert Lowe to be Her Majesty's Paymaster-General.

WAR-DEPARTMENT, August 29, 1855.

LORD PANMURE has this day received two Despatches and their Enclosures, of which the following are Copies, addressed to his Lordship by General Simpson :—

Before Sevastopol,

MY LORD, August 18, 1855.

IN my Despatch of the 14th instant, I informed your Lordship that I had reason to believe that the Russians would attempt, by a vigorous attack, to force us to raise the siege.

This they endeavoured to do on the morning of the 16th, but the result was most glorious to those of the Allied troops who had the good fortune to be engaged.

The action commenced before daylight by a heavy column of Russians, under the command of General Liprandi, and composed of the 6th and 17th Divisions, with the 4th and 7th Divisions in reserve, attacking the advanced posts of the Sardinians.

The ground occupied by them is on commanding hills on the right of the position, on the left bank of the Souhaia river, where it forms its junction with the Tchernaya, with two advanced posts on the opposite side. These were held with very determined gallantry for a considerable time, but being separated from their supports by the river, and not having the protection of artillery, they were compelled to leave the most advanced one.

About the same time the 5th and 12th Divisions, to which was added a portion of the 17th, advanced against the bridge of Tractir, held by one battalion of French infantry of the line, who were for a short time obliged to yield and fall back upon the main supports; with these, however, they quickly retook the bridge at the point of the bayonet.

Again the Russians attacked with persevering courage, and were enabled to follow up their advantage by gaining the heights which rise precipitously on each side of the road; their success was but momentary—they were driven back across the river, leaving the ground covered with dead and wounded.

The Russian General, in no way daunted by the failure of his two attempts, ordered a second column, of equal force to the first, to attack. They advanced with such impetuosity, covered by the fire of their numerous artillery, that a third time the bridge was carried, and the heights above it crowned, but they were again repulsed, and retired in great confusion into the plain, followed by the bayonets of our gallant Allies.

The General Officer who commanded the Russian column, and who is supposed to be General Read, was killed, and in his possession was found the order for the battle, signed by Prince Gortchakoff, who commanded in person.

From these it would appear that it was a most determined attempt to force us to raise the siege. Had they succeeded, Balaklava was to have been attacked by one portion of their army, whilst the heights on which we now are were to have been stormed with the other; at the same time a vigorous sortie was to have been made from the town on the French works on our extreme left, from the Quarantine, and another on the works on our extreme right on Mount Sapoune.

The action which I have endeavoured to describe is most glorious to the arms of the French and Sardinian troops. To meet the force of the Russians the former had but 12,000 infantry, and 4 batteries of artillery engaged; the latter had 10,000 men in position, 4,500 actually engaged, and 24 pieces of cannon.

The Russian force consisted of from 50,000 to 60,000 men, with 160 pieces of artillery, and cavalry to the amount of 6,000.

This disparity of numbers will readily explain to your Lordship the difficulty that would have been experienced had an attempt been made to follow up the advantage by a pursuit. The Russian retreat, moreover, was protected by the fire from the heavy guns in position on the Mackenzie heights.

The loss sustained by the Russians is estimated at between 5,000 and 6,000 men, including 600 prisoners, whilst on the part of the Allies it does not amount to more than 1,000 men.

This brilliant affair has caused the greatest delight amongst the ranks of the Allied Army; and while it adds fresh lustre to the gallant achievements of the French arms, it is with the utmost pleasure that I have to record the intrepid conduct and gallant bearing of the Sardinian troops under General Della Marmora, who have for the first time met, conquered, and shed their blood against our common enemy, who is now disturbing the peace of Europe.

Captain Mowbray's battery of 32-pounder howitzers was placed in advance with the Sardinian troops, and did most excellent service in preventing the advance of the enemy's artillery.

Our cavalry, under Lieutenant-General Sir J. Scarlett, K.C.B., was placed in the plain of Balaklava, prepared to take advantage of any circumstance that might present itself, but the opportunity did not arise for calling upon their services.

I regret that I am unable to give a more detailed account of the part performed by the Sardinians, as up to this time I have not received General Della Marmora's report.

I have, &c.,

JAMES SIMPSON,
General Commanding.

The Lord Panmure, &c., &c., &c.

Before Sevastopol,

August 18, 1855.

MY LORD,
GENERAL PELISSIER having announced to me that the batteries against the Malakoff and adjacent works were prepared to open fire, arrangements were made that a steady fire should be commenced yesterday morning against those works and the Redan.

This continued throughout the day, and the effect produced was as much as was anticipated. The Russian fire, which at first answered briskly, became by the evening feeble. In the afternoon a shell from one of our mortar batteries ignited and caused the explosion of a great number of shells in one of the enemy's batteries, doing apparently much damage.

I regret to have to report the deaths of Captain Oldfield, of the Royal Artillery, and Commander Hammet, of the Royal Navy, amongst the number of casualties caused by the fire of yesterday. Major C. S. Henry, of the Royal Artillery, received a severe wound, and has had his right arm amputated; he is, I am rejoiced to add, doing well.

I enclose the List of Casualties.

I have, &c.,

JAMES SIMPSON,
General Commanding.

The Lord Panmure, &c., &c., &c.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled, "An Act for the regulation of the duties of "postage," power is given to the Postmaster-General to remit any of the rates of British postage for the time being payable by law on the transmission of post letters, newspapers, or other printed papers, to such extent as the Lords of the Treasury shall from time to time direct; and power is also given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, from time to time, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British or Inland postage payable by law on the transmission by the Post of Foreign or Colonial letters or newspapers, or any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant.

And whereas, by six several Warrants of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, bearing date respectively the 17th day of May 1854, the 16th day of October 1854, the 9th day of January 1855, the 29th day of March 1855, the 19th day of May 1855, and the 29th day of June 1855, certain reduced rates of postage were authorised to be charged and taken for and in respect of the several letters therein respectively mentioned, posted in or addressed to any part of the United Kingdom, and sent from or to the several persons therein respectively mentioned, being persons employed in the several military, naval, or transport services under Her Majesty, respectively mentioned in the said several Warrants, and transmitted by the Post between any place in the United Kingdom and the several places therein respectively mentioned, such places being respectively Turkey, or the Black Sea, or any port or place in Turkey or the Black Sea, the Kingdom of Greece, or any port or place in Greece, the Baltic Sea, or the adjacent waters, or any port or place in the Baltic or the adjacent waters, the White Sea, or the adjacent waters, or any port or place in the White Sea or the adjacent waters, and Heligoland, such letters being sent and conveyed by the several routes in the said Warrants also respectively mentioned.

And whereas it is expedient that such reduced rates of postage should be extended to all such letters mentioned in the said six several Warrants, and addressed to, or sent by or from, the said several persons therein respectively mentioned, if sent between any of the British Colonies through the United Kingdom and the said places in the said Warrants respectively mentioned, in addition to the rates of postage chargeable by law for the conveyance of such letters between the United Kingdom and the said Colonies respectively, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the power or authority in us for such purpose vested in and by the said recited Act, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do, by this Warrant, under the hands of two of us, the said Commissioners, by the authority of the Statute in that case made and provided, order, direct, and declare as follows:—

1. That all letters addressed to, or sent by or from, the said several persons mentioned in the said six several Warrants herebefore recited respectively, and authorized to be sent by the Post, according to the regulations therein contained, shall and may be sent and transmitted by the Post between any of the British Colonies, through the United Kingdom, and the said several places in the said six several Warrants respectively mentioned and enumerated, and conveyed by the several routes therein respectively specified, charged and chargeable with the same rates of postage, according to the weight and scales of weight thereof respectively, and under and subject to the same conditions, regulations, and restrictions, in all respects, as are contained and mentioned in and by the said six several Warrants respectively, according to the respective places to or from which the same shall be so addressed, for and in respect of the conveyance thereof between the United Kingdom and the said several places respectively; and also charged and chargeable, in addition thereto, with such rates of postage, according to the weight and scales of weight of such letters, respectively, as are by law chargeable and payable for the transmission thereof by the Post between the United Kingdom and such British Colonies respectively, for and in respect of the conveyance thereof between the United Kingdom and the said British Colonies respectively, through the United Kingdom; and that the rates of postage hereby imposed shall be charged and taken in lieu of any rates of postage now payable by law on letters transmitted by the Post between the British Colonies and the several persons mentioned in the said recited Warrants.

2. That the several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said recited Act.
