

3. To promote the study of Natural History as a most important adjunct or preliminary to a liberal Medical Education; that of Comparative Anatomy, Zoology, or Botany, if properly cultivated, by means of specimens, for even a short period, being eminently calculated to develop habits of close observation, and to strengthen those powers of reasoning upon observed facts, which must be habitually exercised by medical men everywhere, but which must be exercised with the greatest energy and promptitude by those who practise in a tropical climate, and who are often thrown wholly upon their own resources.

The general Examination in these sciences will be elementary, and will embrace a very limited range of technical terms. At the written Examination, a considerable number of questions will be put, with the view of allowing each Candidate to select such subjects as he has attended to, and thereby of enabling the Examiners to ascertain the particular departments of science in which the verbal Examination should be conducted.

With those Candidates who have attained proficiency in any branch of these sciences, the verbal Examination will be pursued in the branch selected, so as to ascertain the full extent of their knowledge.

It is now announced that the next Examination will be held at this House on the 14th July next, and succeeding days; and that the probable number of vacancies in the Medical Establishment of the East India Company to be then filled up will be thirty.

JAMES C. MELVILL, Secretary.

GEORGE WINK, Accountant in Glasgow, Trustee on the sequestrated estate of GEORGE GOURLAY, Slater, Glasgow, hereby intimates, that an account of his intrusions with the funds of the estate, brought down to the 22d ultimo, and states of the funds recovered and of those outstanding as at said date, have been made up and examined by the Commissioners, in terms of the Statute.
