DECREE.

Monte Video, June 19, 1856.

EXPERIENCE having proved that the Society of Pilots for the service of the navigation from this Port to that of Buenos Ayres have done nothing but injure the consignees or the masters of the ships which want a pilot at a great distance from the Port, without any guarantee for the interests which are placed under his charge, a circumstance which weighs on the Authority which has allowed these Societies without any responsibility which may save the consequences arising from the inexperience or carelessness of the pilots who receive under their direction the life and fortune of those who are on board; the Authority being interested in preventing the commerce from being prejudiced by any of the causes which may take place in the above mentioned sense, the President of the Republic directs and decrees:

Art. 1st. The first and other Societies of Pilots, created by the Decree of March 27, of 1854, derived from the first petition which caused its installation, are without any effect.

Art. 2d. The Captain of the Port shall leave to the masters of vessels and consignees the liberty of choosing the pilot they may like to conduct their ships to the port of their destination in the river.

Art. 3d. When vessels from outside coming up the river have no consignees in this place, and the captain does not come on shore, and asks for a pilot from on board, the Captain of the Port will provide one, employing the first who may present himself, if he has his licence, and is a resident in the Republic.

Art. 4th. The Captain of the Port will have on a small board a list of the pilots registered for the service of the river, in order that the persons interested may choose whom they wish to conduct their ships.

Art. 5th. The Captain of the Port will exact from every pilot the dollar which is established for the passport which he ought to take on board, and he will embody the produce of every month in the account of his entries which he is to transmit to the Treasury.

Art. 6th. Let this be communicated, &c.
