Copy of a letter from Vice-Admiral Sir THOMAS PASLEY, Bart. Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels at Plymouth, to EVAN NEPEAN, Esq. dated the 8th inst.

SIR,

Herewith I have the satisfaction to transmit to you, for their Lordships' information, two letters that I received from Lieutenant Tomlinson, commanding his Majesty's hired armed schooner the Speedwell, stating his having, in company with the Valiant lugger, commanded by Lieutenant Maxwell, captured the two French privateers therein mentioned; on which occasion much praise is due to these officers for their vigilant and alert conduct.

[Price 6d.]

The Speedwell and Valiant arrived last night with their prizes.

And the May brig belonging to Guernsey, that had been captured by the Providence French privateer on the 3d inst. and recaptured the following morning by his Majesty's sloop Suffisante off the isle of Bas, arrived here last evening; and the prize-master informs me he left the Suffisante in chace of the privateer, with every prospect of speedily coming up with her.

I am, &c. THO. PASLEY.

SIR,

Speedwell at Sea, Dec. 5. 1799.

I have the honour to inform you, that I have this day, the Valiant in company, island of Guernsey bearing S. E. distant five leagues, after a chace of six hours, captured L'Heureuse Esperance French lugger privateer, of St Maloes, mounting 14 three-pounders, eight of which were thrown overboard before we came up with her. She had on board but twenty-four men, having manned four prizes since the commencement of this cruize: A brig belonging to Beaumaris she took this morning, after a considerable resistance, I am in hopes to fall in with before she reaches the French coast. I remain, &c. ROBERT TOMLINSON.
