lations on the auspicious occasion of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales having given birth to a son.

That your Majesty's exemplary reign over a loyal and affectionate people may continue to be blest with prosperity and adorned by the cultivation of Art and Science, and that the virtues and admirable qualities of the great and good Prince who has been taken from us may survive in your Majesty's descendants, is the earnest prayer of your Majesty's most devoted subjects and servants.

Board of Trade, Whitehall,
 March 4, 1864.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received, from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the following copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Hamburg:—

Hamburg,

March 1, 1864.

MY LORD,

THE following additional information respecting the lights on the east coast of Sleswig and Holstein has reached me this morning from a reliable quarter in Kiel.

The light at Bülck, the principal night signal for navigation on the headland, at the north-east entrance of the bay, still burns regularly. The light on the sandbank, close to Friedrichsort, has ceased on account of the beacon in which it was fixed having been destroyed by ice.

The light in the fortress of Friedrichsort, which usually burned when the beacon-fire could not be lighted, is not now burning, but this is not considered of much importance to the navigation. The light inside the harbour of Kiel, near the baths, is, I understand, not usually lighted in the winter season.

In Holstein there is only one other lighthouse on the east coast, namely St Mary's Light, on the Island of Fehmarn, which continues to burn.

On the east coast of Sleswig the principal lighthouse is at Kekeniskoi, in the Island of Alsen, and is still in possession of the Danes.

It thus appears that the only light which has ceased to burn since the Prussians have occupied Sleswig, is that at Friedrichsfort.

The blockade of the east coast, although officially published at Copenhagen, has not yet been notified to the Foreign Consuls resident at Kiel.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) JOHN WARD.
