NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 90.)—UNITED STATES, VIRGINIA.—CHESAPEAKE BAY.

Fixed Light off Smith Point.

The United States Government has given notice that, from the 9th day of September 1868, a light would be exhibited from the screw pile lighthouse recently erected off Smith Point, entrance of Potomac River, Chesapeake Bay.

The light is a fixed white light, elevated 37 feet above high water, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 11 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric or by lenses of the fourth order.

The lighthouse stands on the edge of Smith Point Shoal, in 2 fathoms water. From 4 to 6 fathoms will be found within 150 yards to the eastward, and 2 fathoms on the shoal extending about one mile westward between N.W. and S.W.

The lighthouse is white, and the iron-work of the foundation red.

A fog-bell is attached to the lighthouse, on its eastern side, which, in foggy weather, will be sounded by machinery, at intervals of 15 seconds.

Vessels passing up or down the Bay, or into the Potomac River, and drawing from 12 to 14 feet water, may approach the lighthouse safely to within a distance of 250 yards, but vessels of heavier draught should give it a berth of one-third of a mile.

On the same date the light vessel marking the station, as well as the temporary light vessel moored close to the lighthouse for the protection of the work during its progress, would be removed.

SOUTH CAROLINA.
