THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22. 1801.

DOWNING-STREET, Oct. 21.

A dispatch, of which the following is a copy, was this day received (in duplicate) at the office of the Right Hon. Lord HOBART, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Head-quarters, Camp before Alexandria,
 My LORD, Sept. 5. 1801.

I have now the satisfaction to inform your Lordship, that the forts and town of Alexandria have surrendered to his Majesty's troops, who, on the 2d inst. took possession of the entrenched camp, the heights above Pompey's Pillar, the redoubt de Bain, and the Fort Triangular. By the capitulation the garrison are to be embarked for France in the course of ten days, provided the shipping is in a state of preparation to receive them.

The operations against the enemy's works commenced on the 17th of August.

Major-General Coote embarked with a strong corps on the inundation in the night between the 16th and 17th of August. He effected his landing to the westward of Alexandria, with little or no opposition, and immediately invested the strong castle of Marabout, situated at the entrance of the western harbour of Alexandria.

On the east side of the town two attacks were made to get possession of some heights in front of the entrenched position of the enemy. I entrusted the conduct of the attack against their right, to Major-General Craddock; and that against their left to Major-General Moore.—Those two officers perfectly executed my intentions, and performed the service committed to their care with much precision and ability.—The action was neither obdurate or severe, and our loss is but small; but it afforded one more opportunity to display the promptness of British officers, and the heroism of British soldiers.

A part of General Doyle's brigade, the 30th regiment (but under the immediate command of Colonel Spencer), had taken possession of a hill in front of the enemy's right. General Menou, who was in person in that part of the French entrenched camp, directly opposite to our post, ordered about 600 men to make a sortie, to drive us from our position.—The enemy advanced in column, with fixed bayonets, and without firing a shot, till they got very close to the 30th regiment, to whom Colonel Spencer gave an immediate order to charge, though they did not consist of more than 200 men; he was obeyed with a spirit and a determination worthy the highest panegyric. The enemy were driven back to their entrenchments in the greatest confusion—they had many killed and wounded, and several taken prisoners.

On the night between the 18th and 19th, Major-General Coote opened batteries against the castle of Marabout: An attack was also made from the sea by several Turkish corvettes, and the launches and boats of the fleet, under the guidance of the Hon. Captain Cochrane; great perseverance and exertions were required to get up heavy guns through a difficult and almost impracticable country; but the troops executed this painful and arduous service with such zeal and continued firmness, that the fort capitulated in the night of the 21st; the garrison consisted of about 180 men, and were commanded by a Chef de Brigade.

On the morning of the 22d, Major-General Coote marched from Marabout to attack a strong corps posted in his front, in order to cover the approach to Alexandria; the managements of that excellent officer appear to have been able and judicious, and were attended with the most complete success; he drove the enemy every where, though strongly posted, and in a country which opposed uncommon obstacles to the progress of troops. The French suffered extremely in the action, and retreated in much confusion, leaving their wounded and seven pieces of cannon behind them.

On the 24th, batteries were opened against the redoubt de Bain; and on the 25th, at night, Major-General Coote surprised the enemy's advanced posts, when seven officers and fifty men were taken prisoners; this service was gallantly performed by Lieutenant-Colonel Smith, with the 1st battalion of the 20th regiment, and a small detachment of dragoons, under the orders of Lieutenant Kelly, of the 26th. The enemy endeavoured to regain possession of the ground from which they had been driven, but were repulsed with loss.

On the morning of the 26th we opened four batteries on each side of the town against the entrenched camp of the French, which soon silenced their fire, and induced them to withdraw many of their guns.

On the 27th, in the evening, General Menou sent an Aid-de-Camp to request an armistice for three days, in order to give time to prepare a capitulation, which, after some difficulties and delays, was signed on the 2d of September.

I have the honour to inclose you a copy of the capitulation, and also a list of the number of persons for whom the enemy have required shipping; by this it appears that the total of the garrison of Alexandria consisted of upwards of eight thousand soldiers, and one thousand three hundred sailors.

This arduous and important service has at length been brought to a conclusion. The exertions of individuals have been splendid and meritorious. I regret that the bounds of a dispatch will not allow me to specify the whole, or to mention the name of every person who has distinguished himself in the public service. I have received the greatest support and assistance from the General Officers of the army. The conduct of the troops of every description has been exemplary in the highest degree; there has been much to applaud, and nothing to reprehend; their order and regularity in the camp have been as conspicuous as their courage in the field. To the Quarter-Master General, Lieutenant-Colonel Anltruther, I owe much for his unwearied industry and zeal in the public service, and for the aid, advice, and co-operation, which he has at all times afforded me. Brigadier-General Lawson, who commanded the artillery, and Captain Bryce, the Chief Engineer, have both great merit in their different departments. The local situation of Egypt presents obstacles of a most serious kind to military operations on an extended scale. The skill and perseverance of those two officers have overcome difficulties which at first appeared almost insurmountable.

Lieutenant-Colonel Lindenthal, who has always acted with the Turks, deserves my utmost acknowledgments; his activity and diligence have been unremitted, and he has introduced amongst them an order and regularity which does him the highest honour.

During the course of the long service on which we have been engaged, Lord Keith has, at all times, given me the most able assistance and counsel. The labour and fatigue of the navy have been continued and excessive;—it has not been of one day or of one week, but of months together. In the Bay of Aboukir, on the new inundation, and on the Nile, for one hundred and sixty miles, they have been employed without intermission, and have submitted to many privations with a cheerfulness and patience highly creditable to them, and advantageous to the public service.

Sir Sidney Smith had originally the command of the seamen who landed from the fleet; he continued on shore till after the capture of Rosetta, and returned on board the Tigre a short time before the appearance of Admiral Gantheaume's Squadron on the coast. He was present in the three actions of the 8th, 13th, and 21st of March, when he displayed that ardour of mind for the service of his country, and that noble intrepidity for which he has been ever so conspicuous. Captain Stevenson, of the Europa, succeeded him, and I have every reason to be satisfied with his zeal and conduct. The crews of the gun-boats displayed great gallantry under his guidance, in the new inundation; and much approbation is also due to the naval officers who acted under his orders.

Captain Preissland of the Regulus has had the direction for many months past of all Greek ships in our employment, and of those belonging to the Commissariat. He has been active, zealous, and indefatigable, and merits my warmest approbation. I must therefore beg leave particularly to recommend this old and meritorious officer to your Lordship's protection.

Allow me to express an humble hope, that the army in Egypt have gratified the warmest wishes and expectations of their country. To them every thing is due, and to me nothing. It was my fate to succeed a man who created such a spirit and established such a discipline amongst them, that little has been left for me to perform, except to follow his maxims, and to endeavour to imitate his conduct.

This dispatch will be delivered to your Lordship by Colonel Abercromby, an officer of considerable ability, and worthy of the great name which he bears. He will one day, I trust, emulate the virtue and talents of his never sufficiently to be lamented father.

I have the honour to be, &c.

J. HELY HUTCHINSON, Lieut. Gen.

[Here follow the Articles of Capitulation, which are much more disadvantageous than those granted to the garrison of Cairo. All the shipping in the port of Alexandria, as well merchandize as public property, fall into the hands of the conquerors. And it is also expressly stipulated, that the French Institute of Egypt shall not carry with them the Arabian manuscripts, statues, and other collections, which have been made for the French Republic.]

Camp, west of Alexandria, August 23, 1801.

SIR,

Captain Cochrane, with seven sloops of war, having entered into the western harbour of Alexandria on the evening of the 21st instant, and anchored on my left flank, I immediately determined to move forward, and take as advanced a position near the town of Alexandria as prudence and security would permit.

The necessary arrangements having been made in the morning of the 22d, the troops advanced against the enemy, who was strongly posted upon a ridge of high hills, having his right flank secured by two heavy guns, and his left by two batteries containing three more, with many field-pieces placed in the intervals of his line.

The army moved through the Sand-Hills in three columns, the Guards forming two upon the right near the lake, and Major-General Ludlow's brigade the third upon the left, having the 1st battalion of the 27th regiment in advance; Major-General Finch's brigade composed a reserve, and was destined to give its support wherever it might be required.

In this manner, having our field artillery with the advanced guard, the troops continued to move forward with the greatest coolness and regularity, under a very heavy fire of cannon and small arms, forcing the enemy to retreat constantly before them, and driving them to their present position within the walls of Alexandria.

Major-Generals Ludlow, Earl of Cavan, and Finch, upon this, as upon all other occasions, have given me all possible support, and deserve every commendation for the precision and regularity with which they led on their respective columns.

The exertions of the Captains commanding the ships of war upon our left, and of the officers commanding the gun-boats upon our right, were attended with the best effect; their continued and unremitting fire kept the enemy in check.

To Captain Cochrane I feel extremely obliged, for his zeal and constant readiness to afford every assistance in his power. Captain Stevenson, who commanded the gun-boats upon the lake, also calls for my earnest approbation of his conduct.

Permit me, Sir, to repeat to you the intrepid and gallant behaviour of the whole of the troops during the affair of yesterday, which lasted from six until ten o'clock in the morning. Their bravery was only equalled by the cool and regular manner in which they advanced under a severe and heavy cannonade. Happy am I to add that our loss is only trifling, when compared to the advantages we have gained, and the difficulties we had to surmount in a country, which, at every step, afforded the enemy the means of making the most desperate resistance.

The loss of the enemy must have been considerably greater than ours. It is impossible for me to ascertain the numbers. Seven pieces of heavy ordnance were left behind by the French in the hurry of their retreat, and have fallen into our hands.

I feel much indebted to Lieutenant-Colonel Duncan, Quartermaster-General, for his judicious arrangements, and for his conduct during the whole of yesterday; he deserves my sincere thanks.

Inclosed I have the honour to transmit a return of the killed and wounded, &c.

To Lieut.-General the Hon. Sir J. Hely Hutchinson.

Camp, west of Alexandria, Aug. 23, 1801.

SIR,

I have the honour to inclose the summons, as also the articles of capitulation of the fort of Marabout.

The speedy and fortunate reduction of that post, so important to our fleets, was, I am happy to say, effected without any loss on our side, and calls upon me to lay before you the unremitting zeal and attention of Lieut.-Colonel Darby, who, with the 1st battalion of the 54th regiment, covered the attack; the very judicious manner in which he posted the light company of that corps, who, by being placed on an adjoining rock, silenced the guns by their musketry, greatly accelerated the fall of the fort.

I also feel myself indebted for the effectual exertions of Major Cookson, of the Royal Artillery, and for the prompt arrangements of Captain Ford, the commanding engineer.

I beg to transmit a return of the prisoners taken, as also the ordnance and stores found in the fort.

I have the honour to be, &c.

SUMMONS of the Fort of Marabout.

SIR, Camp, Aug. 21, 1801

As, after the events of this day, and the means employed against the fort which you command, there remain no hopes of your being able to defend it, or even to retire into Alexandria, I summon you, in the name of humanity, to surrender on the terms which shall be granted to you, otherwise you will here be answerable for all the consequences that may ensue, being determined to employ the whole of the British and Ottoman forces under my command to compel you to surrender.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) EYRE COOTE, Maj. Gen.
To the Officer Commanding Fort Marabout.

ANSWER.

Fort Marabout, 3d Frustr. Aug. 9, 1801.

SIR,

I have the honour to lay before you the terms of capitulation which the garrison of Marabout require; and from the generosity which characterises your nation, I promise myself that you will agree to them.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) ETIENNE.
(A true copy) JAMES KEMPT, Lieut.-Col. and Secretary.

[Here follow the Articles of Capitulation.—The garrison are prisoners of war, and are to serve till regularly exchanged.]

Camp, West of Alexandria, Aug. 26, 1801.

SIR,

Being anxious to push my picquets upon the left as far as possible towards the enemy's advanced work, the Redoubt de Bain, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Smith, with the 1st battalion of the 20th regiment, assisted with a small detachment of the 26th light dragoons, commanded by Lieutenant Kelly, to attack and drive in the French outposts upon the right of their position. He was to be supported by a battalion of infantry, disposed for that purpose on the sand-hills.

Soon after dark last night Lieut.-Colonel Smith commenced the attack by turning the left of the enemy's picquets, and scouring the hills as he advanced.

The cool and spirited conduct of that officer and the corps under his command, as also the detachment of the 26th dragoons, is well deserving of praise; not a man attempted to load, and the whole was effected by the bayonet.—The loss of the enemy in this affair amounted to upwards of one hundred men killed, wounded, and taken; of the latter I inclose the return.

This service was performed on our side with the loss of only three men slightly wounded; and has placed me in a situation to erect a battery within about 600 yards of the Redoubt de Bain.

The enemy, however, extremely exasperated at our success, made several attempts to regain the ground he had lost; with this view he kept up a very heavy fire of cannon and musketry for about an hour, when, finding all his endeavours ineffectual, he retired, leaving us peaceful possessors of the advantage we had gained in the early part of the night.

Inclosed is a return of our loss in the latter part of the affair.—I have the honour to be, &c.

ADMIRALTY-OFFICE, Oct. 24.

Extract of a letter from Vice-Admiral RAINGER, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels in the East Indies, to EVAN NEPEAN, Esq. dated in Bombay Harbour, the 15th May 1801.

Be pleased to inform their Lordships, that Captain W. Waller, in his Majesty's sloop Albatross, on the 12th November last, in lat. 18 deg. N. and long. 91 deg. E. captured L'Adel, mounting twelve guns, with sixty men: And on the 23d of March following, in lat. 15 deg. 17 min. N. long. 87 deg. E. he captured La Gloire, mounting ten guns and eleven men, both French privateers, from the Mauritius.

Extract of a letter from Rear-Admiral SIR JOHN THOMAS DUCKWORTH, K. B. Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels at the Leeward Islands, to EVAN NEPEAN, Esq. dated at Martinique, the 21st of August 1801.

I proceeded to this anchorage, where I found the Guachapin had arrived the previous day, with a Spanish letter of marque, which he had captured, after a severe conflict of more than two hours. For the particulars of this gallant action I shall refer their Lordships to the accompanying letter from Captain Bland, of L'Heureux; too great praise cannot be given to Captain Butcher, his officers, and crew.

His Majesty's ship L'Heureux, off Martinique, 17th August 1801.

SIR,
Having left Cafe Navirre yesterday in the afternoon, to follow the orders received from you, the next morning at daylight, between Martinique and St Lucia, we saw his Majesty's brig Guachapin commencing an action with a Spanish ship of war; to the unequal contest we made all haste; but before we could get up to give a broadside, the Spanish letter of marque La Teresa, commanded by an Officer belonging to the Spanish navy, mounting eighteen brass guns of thirty-two and twelve-pounders, and one hundred and twenty men, struck to her gallant opponent.

I am sorry to add, the Guachapin had three men killed and three wounded; the ship nearly the same. Captain Butcher mentions the able assistance he received from his Lieutenant, Mr Marshall, in the strongest terms.—I am, &c.
