Copy Order by the Accountant in Bankruptcy.

New Register House, Edinburgh,
26th May 1877.

THE Accountant in Bankruptcy having considered the Petition by certain of the Creditors, and Answers thereto by the Trustee, and relative productions, and having heard the parties, in respect that Creditors whose claims have been duly lodged and sustained to the effect of voting in the Sequestration, and which exceed one-fourth in value of the whole claims lodged on the Estate, have petitioned the Accountant to call a Meeting for the purpose of giving them an opportunity of voting in the matter of the removal of the Trustee, and in respect that certain Creditors have presented a requisition to that effect to the Trustee, and that he, by circular to the Creditors of 3d April last, intimated that he declined to do so for the reasons therein stated, considers it his duty to give the Creditors an opportunity of meeting and considering the question of the Trustee's removal; and hereby, therefore, in virtue of the powers conferred upon him by the 98th section of the Bankruptcy (Scotland) Act, 1856, directs the Trustee forthwith to call a Meeting of the Creditors for the purpose set forth in the said requisition.

The Trustee is directed to embody this Order and the accompanying Note in his Notice calling the meeting, and also to engross the same in the Sederunt Book. Directs a copy certified by one of his Clerks to be sent to the Trustee.
(Signed) GEORGE A. ESSON.

Note.—The Accountant, in making this deliverance, does not intend to convey any expression of opinion, or to throw any imputation on the management of the Estate. The circumstances of the case are peculiar, in so far as there are two classes of Creditors, whose interests are apparently to a certain extent antagonistic; and the present proceedings are apparently due to the conflict between these classes.

The law gives the Creditors the control of the management, and this includes the right of appointing, and, if they are so advised, of removing the Trustee; and it is the Accountant's duty to see that these rights are recognised by the Trustee, and that proper facilities are given to the Creditors to exercise them.

The Accountant cannot assume that the Creditors in this case, who have applied to him, and who are proved to be a large proportion of the whole Creditors on the Estate, have made this appeal for any other purpose than to make the management as advantageous as possible for the interest of the Estate; and he believes that he is bound to see that an opportunity is afforded them of exercising their statutory rights on their own responsibility, in the way which they desire. The Accountant was called on by the Petitioners to take proceedings against the Trustee in terms of the 159th section of the said Act, but from his examination of the Sederunt Book he is satisfied that there are no grounds for any such proceedings.
(Initd.) G. A. E.

Edinburgh, 59 Castle Street,
5th June 1877.
