

to your Crown, and which have already been significantly favoured by the God of Victory, be transmitted through a lengthened Train of Royal Descendants, like You, Great Sir, the Darlings of their People, the Blessings of their Age, and the Favours of Providence!

Given at Great Bedwin, this twenty first Day of September, 1761.

The following Address of the Mayor, Sheriffs, Citizens, and Commonalty of the City of Norwich, in Common Council assembled, has been presented to Her Majesty by Harbord Harbord and Edward Bacon, Esqrs; their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Manchester, Lord Chamberlain to Her Majesty: Which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the Queen's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Sheriffs, Citizens, and Commonalty of the City of Norwich, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and devoted Servants, the Mayor, Sheriffs, Citizens, and Commonalty of the City of Norwich, beg Leave to approach your Royal Presence, and lay our profound Respects and Congratulations at your Majesty's Feet. It is with unspeakable Delight that we behold our gracious Sovereign united to a Princess, formed by Her amiable Virtues to alleviate the Toils of Monarchy, by mingling the Charms of domestic Felicity with his regal Cares and unwearied Labours for the Prosperity of his People. Such are the Sentiments of Veneration and Love, the happiest of Nations bears to the best of Kings, that we deeply participate in every Accession of Glory or Pleasure our Sovereign obtains, and rejoicing particularly in his present Happiness, we form the most ardent Vows for your mutual Preservation and Felicity. Long may your Majesty enjoy the supreme Satisfaction, of being a Blessing to the Monarch, who is a Blessing to Mankind! And may the universal Homage of a free and powerful People, endear to your Majesty this happy Island, and incline you to look upon its Inhabitants with a maternal Eye of Protection and Love.

Given under our Common Seal this Seventeenth Day of September, in the Year of our Lord, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

The following Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Commons of the City of York, has been presented to Her Majesty: Which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the Queen's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Commons of the City of York, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

THE Joy and Satisfaction glowing in our Breasts on your Majesty's happy Marriage with our most gracious Sovereign, prompt us to seize the earliest Opportunity of paying our dutiful Respects to your Majesty on so welcome and auspicious an Event:

It was the loyal and zealous Wish of every true Briton, to see our illustrious Monarch blessed with a Royal Consort, worthy of so Great and Virtuous a Prince. That Wish is now completely gratified, and the publick Joy, so warmly and heartily expressed, displays our just Sense of your Majesty's shining Accomplishments and distinguished Merit.

From the happy Union of such Royal Virtues, placed in so eminent and exalted a Station, every Thing that is Great and Good naturally results. The Publick will glory in imitating such illustrious Examples; and this fortunate Isle will be every Day more and more the Envy of the World.

May your Majesty long share with our Gracious and Glorious King, the most solid Comforts of conjugal Happiness! May your Throne be blessed with lasting Peace and Prosperity, and may you be the happy Mother of a Race of Princes, in all Respects worthy of their illustrious Descent, and transmitting the Crown with the Virtues of their Royal Parents to the latest Posterity.

The following Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Town of Cambridge, has been presented to Her Majesty by the Honourable Charles Sloane Cadogan, and Soame Jennyns, Esqrs. their Representatives in Parliament, and the Earl of Kinnoull, their Recorder, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Manchester, Lord Chamberlain to her Majesty: Which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the Queen's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Town of Cambridge.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Town of Cambridge, participating the general Joy which your Majesty's Arrival in these Kingdoms has diffused, beg Leave to present our most respectful Congratulations upon this happy Occasion.

As nothing can be indifferent to us, in which His Majesty's Welfare, or the Good of our Country is concerned; It is with the greatest Pleasure that we have seen His Majesty giving a fresh Instance of his Wisdom, in the Choice of a Consort of such excellent Endowments, as leave us no Room to doubt, but that His Majesty has equally provided for his own domestic Happiness, and for the lasting Felicity of his People: And we assure your Majesty, that as we shall rejoice in every Opportunity of acknowledging the affectionate Concern of our gracious Sovereign for the Rights and Privileges of his Subjects, so we shall never cease to wish that this happy Union may be attended with every publick and private Blessing; and that a numerous Issue of your Majesties may be the certain Pledges of the Continuance of our civil and religious Liberties to the latest Posterity.

Given under our Common Seal this Twenty-first Day of September, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

The following Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of the City of Rochester, has been presented to Her Majesty by the Right Honourable Lord Parker and Admiral Townsend, their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Manchester, Lord Chamberlain to Her Majesty: Which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the Queen's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of the City of Rochester, in Common Council assembled.

MAY it please your Majesty, to accept the Congratulations of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of His Majesty's Loyal City of Rochester, on your most happy Nuptials.

The many rare and eminent Qualities, which so remarkably distinguish our most gracious Sovereign, have deservedly made him the Darling of his People; and the universal Joy which has spread itself over these Kingdoms on your Majesty's Arrival, sufficiently testifies the Sense they have of those excellent Virtues and Endowments, which render your Majesty worthy of such a Prince.

May your Majesty long continue a Blessing to these Nations; may you enjoy every conjugal Felicity, and may you prove the Mother of a Line of Kings, who will, like your beloved Monarch, make the Happiness of their People the great Object of their Government.

Given under our Common Seal this Twenty-first Day of September, in the Year of our Lord, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.
