

of this Life. Truly sensible of your Majesty's paternal Regard for your People, and most noble and generous Love for your Native Country; we are in firm Confidence, that, from your Majesty's great Example, your Royal Son will be influenced and trained up in the Exercise of every Virtue, and we hope may hereafter be (as your Majesty now is) a glorious Defender of our most excellent Constitution.

We beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that it is our sincere Sentiments, that the Glory and Welfare of these Kingdoms cannot be better preserved and continued to Posterity, than through you, and your Royal Line; which we, from the Gratitude of our Hearts, as a free and happy People, pray God to continue till Time shall be no more.

In Testimony whereof, we have caused the Common Seal of the said City to be hereunto affixed, the Sixth Day of September, in the Year of our Lord, One thousand seven hundred and Sixty-two.

The following Address of the High Sheriff, Nobility, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Berks, has been presented to His Majesty by John Blagrave, Esq; High Sheriff of the said County, accompanied by Henry Pye, and Arthur Vanitart, Esqrs. their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the High Sheriff, Nobility, Gentry, and Clergy of the County of Berks.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty most faithful and loyal Subjects, the High Sheriff, Nobility, Gentry, and Clergy of the County of Berks, with Hearts full of Affection and Joy, beg Leave to join in the dutiful Declarations of an unanimous and grateful People, by congratulating your Majesty upon the safe and happy Delivery of the Queen, and the most auspicious Birth of a Successor to the Throne of your Illustrious Ancestors.

We have long view'd, with the sincere Satisfaction of true Britons, and faithful Subjects, the rapid and extensive Progress of your Majesty's victorious Arms. We have now the additional Happiness of seeing the National Glory crown'd by your Majesty's Domestic Felicity.

The Experience we have had of your Majesty's Attention to the Honour, Liberty, Commerce, and general Interest of your Subjects, leaves us no Room to doubt, but that you will be equally solicitous to train up your Offspring to the same commendable Pursuits, and direct them to consider their private Happiness as inseparable from that of the Public.

Long, Sir, may you live to inculcate this Lesson! very late may it be in the Power of your Successor to evince that he has learned it.

As we gladly embrace this, we shall, likewise, every Opportunity of testifying the strongest Sense of Duty to your Majesty and your Royal Consort, the heartiest Affection to your Persons, and the warmest Zeal in your Service.

The following Address of the High Steward, Steward, Mayor, Bridgemasters, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the most ancient Corporation of Maidenhead, in the County of Berks, has been presented to His Majesty by Richard Powney, Esq; High Steward of the said Corporation, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the High Steward, Steward, Mayor, Bridgemasters, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of your Majesty's most ancient Corporation of Maidenhead, in the County of Berks.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, who partake of every prosperous Event attending your Majesty's Person, and your Illustrious Family, beg Leave with the most cordial and unfeigned Testimonies of Joy, to congratulate your Majesty on the Birth of a Prince; a most inestimable Pledge of the Security of the Protestant Religion, and of English Liberty! We doubt not, Sir, but a double Felicity arises to your Majesty in this Blessing of Providence, from a Reflection that your Illustrious Progeny is not only a domestick Enjoyment, but a national Good.

It is from the Triumphs of those Virtues that at this Time so conspicuously adorn the British Throne, that we promise future Times all the Happiness that our best Hopes can suggest in Favour of an Infant Prince, who will be conducted by parental Care and Example into all the Paths that lead to Glory.

The Common Seal of the said Corporation, was, by a full and free Consent of Mayor, Bridgemasters, and all the Burgesses of the said Corporation. hereunto affixed, on the Ninth Day of September, in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Sixty-two.

The following Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common-Council of the Town, and County of the Town of Newcastle upon Tyne, has been presented to His Majesty by the Earl of Northumberland, Lord Lieutenant of the Town, and County of the Town of Newcastle: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common-Council of the Town, and County of the Town of Newcastle upon Tyne, in Common-Council assembled.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common-Council of the Town, and County of the Town of Newcastle upon Tyne, beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty on the safe Delivery of our gracious Queen, and the happy Encrease of your Royal Family by the Birth of a Prince.

We cannot sufficiently adore the divine Goodness in this interesting Event; which at the same Time that it adds to your Majesty's domestick Happiness, affords to your People the pleasing Prospect of the many Blessings they enjoy under your Majesty's mild and auspicious Government, being continued to them and their Posterity.

May your Majesty's Reign be long and prosperous! and when in Course of Time this Prince shall succeed to the Throne, may he inherit your Majesty's Virtues as well as Dominions, and formed by your wife Precepts and Example, have learned to rule a free, but obedient People, and become the Guardian of those Liberties he will have been taught to protect!

Given under our Common Seal, the twenty-fourth Day of August, in the Year of our Lord 1762.
