

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday July 24, to Saturday July 28, 1764.

St. James's, July 28.

THE following Address of the Assembly of the Province of North Carolina has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Assembly of the Province of North Carolina.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Assembly of the Province of North Carolina, take this first Opportunity of our Meeting in General Assembly, to beg Leave to approach your Royal Throne, with unfeigned Congratulations on the Honourable Peace, which the Wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, and the Valour and Conduct of your Fleets and Armies, have procured to your Empire; a Peace, which we, your Majesty's American Subjects, feel with the highest Sensibility, as we are thereby secured in the Enjoyment of our Religious Rights, Possessions, and Liberties, free from the alarming Incroachments of our ambitious and restless Enemies.

May the Sound of Faction be dissipated; and, in its Stead, the Love and Veneration of a grateful People rendered truly happy by your Majesty's Paternal Goodness.

Permit us, Royal Sir, to assure you of our most grateful and inviolable Attachment to your Majesty's Person, House, and Government; and that we cordially share in the general Joy, which the Birth of a Second Prince must give to all sincere Lovers of Liberty.

May your Majesty live, not only to form their tender Minds in every princely Virtue inherent in your Royal House, but long to set them an Example worthy of Imitation, diffusing Blessings to Mankind. And when your last Hour shall come, (which Heaven long suspend) may there never be wanting a Descendant, endowed with all the amiable Qualities of the illustrious House of Hanover, to fill the British Throne to the latest Posterity.

Truly sensible of the depressed and indigent Circumstances of this Country, we deplore that it was not in our Power, during the Course of the late War, to contribute so largely as we otherwise would have done: But we most humbly hope, that when your Majesty is pleased to take into your Royal Consideration the necessary and unsettled Condition of your Subjects in this Province, you will be pleased to accept of our utmost though weak Endeavours to evince our Duty and Loyalty.

That your Majesty may long reign in the Hearts of an united People, and happy in the Possession of your Royal Consort; That the British Church and Constitution may be enlarged, and its Commerce extended to the utmost Parts of the Globe, are the most ardent Wishes and Prayers of your Majesty's humble, dutiful, and loyal Subjects of this Province.

March 10, 1764.

John Ashe, Speaker.

[Price Three-pence.]

Petersburg, June 26. The Empress proposes to go To-morrow to Cronstadt to see her Fleet, where the Foreign Ministers are to accompany her. Sunday is fixed for her Imperial Majesty's Journey to Riga.

Warsaw, July 7. This Town is almost empty by the Departure of the Nonces, and several other Gentlemen, for the Diettines of Relation.

Dresden, July 9. Mr. Stanhope, His Britannick Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary, arrived here on Thursday last, and has had his Audiences of the Prince Administrator, the Elector, Electress Dowager, and the other Princes and Princesses. M. de Paulmy, late Ambassador from France at Warsaw, is arrived here on his Return to France. The Elector and Electress Dowager set out To-morrow for Teplitz, to pay a Visit to the Elector's next Brother, who has for some Time been making Use of the Baths there.

Dresden, July 11. Count Bruhl, who is named Envoy Extraordinary from this Court to That of London, is so ill, that he cannot possibly begin his Journey. The Elector and Electress set out this Night for Teplitz.

Dresden, July 15. The Elector and Electress Dowager returned late on Friday Night from Teplitz.

Berlin, July 14. Last Monday the Duke and Dutchess of Brunswick, the Hereditary Prince and Princess, and the Princess Elizabeth of Brunswick, arrived in perfect Health at Potsdam, where they have been entertained by his Prussian Majesty with Balls, Comedies, Operas, &c. They are expected, Monday or Tuesday next, at Charlottenbourg, to pass some Days there. The Landgrave of Hesse Cassel is also at Potsdam, where he arrived some Days ago.

Hamburg, July 17. Her Serene Highness the Dutchess of Mecklenbourg-Schwerin is expected to arrive here To-day, or To-morrow Morning.

Hague, July 20. The Five Years being expired, at the End of which the Grand Pensionary of Holland's Commission expires, M. Stein, after opening the Assembly, this Day, withdrew, agreeably to the accustomed Form; and was soon after desired, by their Noble Mightinesses, to return into their Assembly, and to accept a Renewal of his Commission, which he accordingly did. Count Weisberg is arrived here in his Way to Lisbon, where he is appointed Minister Plenipotentiary from the Court of Vienna: He proposes to pass through England to embark at Falmouth.

St. James's, July 18.

This Day the Marquis de Blosset, Minister from France in the Absence of his Excellency the Count de Guerchy, had a Private Audience of His Majesty to deliver his Credentials.

To which he was introduced by the Right Hon. the Earl of Halifax, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

St. James's, July 19.

This Day the Marquis de Blosset, Minister from France in the Absence of his Excellency the Count de Guerchy, had a Private Audience of Her Majesty.

To which he was introduced by the Right Honourable Lord Viscount Cantalupo, Her Majesty's Vice-Chamberlain.