Copy of a Letter from General Sir Henry Clinton to Lord George Germain, dated Head Quarters, Dobb's Ferry, July 25, 1779.

I HAVE the Honor to inclose, for your Lordship's Information, a Copy of my Instructions to Major-General Tryon, (who was detached on a desultory Expedition into the East Sound, with a View to draw Mr. Washington from the strong Post which he occupied in the Mountains into Connecticut) together with a Copy of his Report, &c. to which I refer. I have also the Honor to transmit the Copy of a Report made to me by Lieutenant-Colonel Tarleton of the Legion, whom I detached in Hopes of surprising a Regiment of the Enemy's Cavalry at Pound Bridge, to which I beg Leave to refer your Lordship for the Success of this little Excursion.

Extract of a Letter from Major-General Tryon to General Sir Henry Clinton, dated New York, July 20, 1779.

HAVING on the 3d Instant joined the Troops assembled on board the Transports at White Stone, Sir George Collier got the Fleet under Way the same Evening; but the Winds being light, we did not reach the Harbour of Newhaven until the 5th in the Morning.

The first Division, consisting of the Flank Companies of the Guards, the Fuzileers, 54th Regiment, and a Detachment of the Jagers, with 4 Field Pieces, under Brigadier-General Garth, landed about 5 o'Clock, (A. M.) a Mile South of West Haven, and began their March, making a Circuit of upwards of 7 Miles, to head a Creek on the Western Side of the Town.

The Second Division could not move till the Return of the Boats, but before Noon I disembarked with the 23d, the Hessian, Landgrave, and King's American Regiments, and two Pieces of Cannon, on the Eastern Side of the Harbour, and instantly began the March of three Miles, to the Ferry from New Haven East toward Breniford.

We took a Field Piece which annoyed us at our Landing, and possessed ourselves of the Rock Battery of 3 Guns, commanding the Channel of the Harbour, abandoned by the Rebels on our Approach. The Armed Vessels then entered, and drew near the Town.

General Garth got into the Town, but not without Opposition, Loss and Fatigue, and reported to me at Half past One, that he should begin the Conflagration which he thought it merited, as soon as he had secured the Bridge between us over Neck Creek.

The Collection of the Enemy in Force, on advantageous Ground, and with heavier Cannon than his own, diverted the General from that Passage; and the Boats that were to take off the Troops being not up, I went over to him, and the Result of our Conference was a Resolution, that with the first Division he should cover the North Part of the Town that Night, while with the second I should keep the Heights above the Rock Fort. In the Morning the first Division embarked at the South East Part of the Town, and crossing the Ferry joined us on the East Haven side, excepting the 54th, which were sent on board their Transports.

In their Progress of the Preceding Day from West Haven, they were under a continual Fire; but by the judicious Conduct of the General, and the Alertness of the Troops, the Rebels were every where repulsed. The next Morning, as there was not a Shot fired to molest the Retreat, General Garth changed his Design, and destroyed only the Public Stores, some Vessels and Ordnance, excepting 6 Field Pieces, and an Armed Privateer, which were brought off.

The Troops re-embarked at Rock Fort in the Afternoon, with little Molestation; and the Fleet leaving the Harbour that Evening, anchored the Morning of the 8th off the Village of Fairfield.

The Boats being not sufficient for the Whole of the First Division, I landed only with the Flank Companies of the Guards, one Company of the Landgrave's, and the King's American Regiment, with two Field Pieces, East of the Village, and South West of the Black Rock Battery, which commands the Harbour.

We pursued our March (under a Cannonade without Effect) towards the Village, but in our Approach received a smart Fire of Musquetry. The Rebels fled before the rapid Advance of the Guards, and left us in Possession of it, and of the Heights in the West, until General Garth, who landed two Miles in the South, joined us with the Remainder of the Troops in the Evening.

Having laid under Arms that Night, and in the Morning burnt the greatest Part of the Village, to prevent the Fire of the Rebels from their Houses, and to mask our Retreat, we took Boat where the Second Division had landed, the Enemy throwing only a weak scattered Fire on our Flanks; the Regiment de Landgrave, by a very proper Disposition, having effectually covered our Rear.
