Union Fire-Office, Maiden-lane, Wood-street,
May 4, 1785.

THE Directors of the Union-Society, for Insuring of Goods, Merchandize, &c. from Loss by Fire, beg Leave to acquaint the Public, that various Regulations are adopted to facilitate Insurances at this Office, and to make it, in every Respect, as advantageous as possible.

The Office is now opened to insure in any Part of England, or Wales, on a particular Description of the Insurance being left, in Writing, signed by the Person desirous of Insuring, and a satisfactory Recommendation being given by some Person of Repute in London, who is to sign the Deed of Settlement, on Behalf of the Insured.

In order to render this Society as easy of Access as the annual Offices, and to remove the Objections that may be made to the Term of Insurance, being for Seven Years; any Member, who, from ceasing to have an Interest in the Property insured, may have Occasion to cancel his Policy, at an earlier Period, will have Liberty to do so, and a fair and equitable Proportion, both of Premium and Deposit, will be returned, agreeable to the settled Plan of the Society.

Every Person insuring becomes a Proprietor; a regular Settlement of the Profits and Losses of the Society is made annually on the 1st of March, and all Advantages arising are equally distributed and accounted for, to each Individual, on the Expiration or closing of his Policy.

In Case of Loss, no Deduction from the Damage sustained and proved is, (or ever has been) made by this Society.

Printed Abstracts of the Deed of Settlement, with the Terms of Insurance, may be had at this Office, where Attendance is daily given, from Nine o'Clock in the Morning till Six in the Evening.
