Dublin Caftle, May 28, 1787.

HIS Day his Grace the Lord Lieutenant went in State to the House of Peers, with the usual Solemnity, and the Commons being sent for, gave the Royal Affent to

An Ast to impower the Commissioners of His Majesty's Revenue to grant Repayments of certain Duties on Portugal and Spanish Wines, in certain Cases.

An Act for the further explaining and amending the feveral Acts now in Force, for making wide and con-wenieut Passages in the City of Dublin. An Act for regulating the Baking Trade. An Act for establishing Market Juries in Cities.

An Act for the Preservation of the Game. An Act to prevent the Stealing of Dogs.

His Grace was then pleased to make the following Speech:

My Lords, and Gentlemen, N relieving you from further Attendance in the present Session of Parliament, I have the Satisfaction of signifying to you His Majesty's entire Approbation of the wife and vigorous Measures by which you have distinguished your Zeal for the Preservation of the Public Peace and the Tranquillity of the Country. My strenuous Exertions shall not be wanting to carry your falutary Provisions into Execution, to affert the just Dominion of the Laws, and to esta-

The decided Tenor of your Conduct affures me of your continued and cordial Affiftance, and that you will, with your utmost Influence, impress upon the Minds of the People a full Conviction what dangerous Effects to the general Welfare, and to the growing Prosperity of the Nation, arise from the Prevalence of even partial or temporary Disturbance. nish them, that the benevolent but watchful Spirit of the Legislature, which induces it to encourage Industry and Exertion, will, at the same Time, be awake to the Correction of those Excesses, which are the inseparable Companions of Idleness and licentious Disorder.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you, in the King's Name, for the Supplies which you have so chearfully provided for the Sup-port of His Majesty's Government. You may depend upon their being faithfully applied to the Purposes for which they are granted.

The Measures you have taken for increasing Public Credit and diminishing the National Debt, are confonant to that Wisdom and Affection to your Country, which have ever distinguished the Parliament of Ireland.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

A new and powerful Incitement to the National Industry has been opened by the Treaty of Commerce with France, in which the utmost Attention is manifested to the Interests of Ireland. The Claims of this Kingdom to an equal Participation in Treaties between Great Britain and Portugal, have been acknowledged by the Court of Lisbon. These are decided Testimonies of His Majesty's paternal Regard, and fresh Confirmations of His gracious Resolution to consider the Interests of Great Britain and Ireland as inseparable: A Principle which, by uniting the Faculties and Affections of the Empire, gives Strength and Security to every Part of it; a Principle which, with your accustomed Wisdom, you have still further corroborated by the late Arrangement of your Laws of Navigation.

The Loyalty and Attachment of His faithful People of Ireland are highly grateful to the King, and by His Majesty's express Command I am to affure you of His most gracious and affectionate Protection.

To fulfil my Sovereign's Pleasure, which constantly directs me to study the true Happiness of this King-dom, is the great and settled Object of my Ambition; and upon this Basis I shall hope to have established a permanent Claim to your good Opinion, and to the Confidence and Regard of the People of Ireland.

After which the Lord Chancellor, by his Grace's Command, said,

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is his Grace the Lord Lieutenant's Pleasure that this Parliament he prorogued to Tuesday the 24th Day of July next, to be then here holden: And this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Tuesday the 24th Day of July next.
