

Life and Health, beg Leave to approach your Majesty with our most sincere Congratulations on your Majesty's Recovery.

The Indisposition with which it pleased the Divine Providence to afflict your Majesty has awakened the Kingdom to a true Sense of the Happiness it has long derived from the Health and paternal Affection of so dear a Sovereign, and the universal Joy which now prevails through the Whole of your Majesty's Dominions, is a Testimony of that deep Affliction which lately oppressed your Majesty's Subjects.

In this general Effusion of Joy, we beg Leave to assure your Majesty, we are not surpassed by any of your Majesty's most loyal Subjects. And it is our most earnest Prayer, that your Majesty may long, very long, enjoy the Blessing of Health, to the Glory of the Nation; to the Comfort of our most Gracious Queen, and of that most Illustrious Prince, who, during your Majesty's late Illness; has endeared himself to your Majesty's People by the strongest Proofs of filial Affection.

Permit us, Sir, to assure your Majesty, that your loyal Citizens of Bristol will, on every Occasion, manifest their sincere and firm Attachment to your Majesty, and your Illustrious House.

[Delivered by Levi Ames, Esq; Mayor of that City. Sir John Durben and George Daubney, Esq; Aldermen, James Hill and John Harris, Esqrs. Sheriffs, and Samuel Worrall, Esq; Town-Clerk, accompanied by Matthew Brickdale and Henry Cruger, Esqrs. the Representatives in Parliament, Sir James Laroche, Bart. and William Gordon, and John Vaughan, Esqrs.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

DEIGN, most Gracious Sovereign, to accept the sincere Congratulations of your dutiful Subjects, the Master, Wardens and Commonalty of the Society of Merchant Venturers of the City of Bristol, upon the Restoration of your Majesty's Health, and your Resumption of the Reins of Government.

The Pressure of actual and the Fear of future Evils, arising from the State of your Majesty's Disorder, plunged your faithful Subjects into the most anxious Solicitude, as well for your Personal Welfare as for the Interests of the Nation at large.

Under such Impressions of Mind, we render Thanks to the Almighty King of Kings, who hath so speedily restored your Majesty to the fervent Prayers of a grateful People.

May that Providence, which hath repeatedly delivered the British Nation from the most imminent Dangers, preserve your Sacred Life and Health unto the latest Period of Mortality: May it inspire your Royal Issue with a just and earnest Emulation of your Virtues, that so that Happiness which we now enjoy, and that Constitution under which we glory to live, may remain to our latest Posterity the Envy of Foreign Nations, and the perpetual Felicity of our own.

[Delivered by Sir James Laroche, Bart. William Jones, George Daubney, and William Gordon, Esqrs; accompanied by the Two Representatives in Parliament, and by John Vaughan, Esq;]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

THE firm Attachment which we, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Bailiffs, and the Rest of the Common Council of your ancient and loyal Town of Liverpool, have invariably felt for your Majesty's Royal Person, since your first Accession to the Crown of these Realms, added to a due Sense of the many Blessings and Advantages we have enjoyed under your Majesty's mild and gracious Government, have caused us the more forcibly to lament your Majesty's late Indisposition, and our temporary Loss of that kind and paternal Attention by which your Majesty's Reign has been most eminently distinguished.

It is, therefore, with Hearts full of Gratitude to the Almighty for your Majesty's happy Restoration to the Enjoyment of your former Health, that we now approach the Throne, in Concert with the Rest of your faithful Subjects, to congratulate your Majesty and the whole Empire on this truly joyful Occasion.

And that your Majesty may long continue to reign over a grateful and affectionate People is our most fervent Prayer.

Given under our Common Seal, in Council assembled, this Fourteenth Day of March, One thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine.

[Delivered by Owen Salusbury Brereton, Esq; Recorder of that Town.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's faithful and loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Clergy, Merchants and other Inhabitants of your ancient Town of Liverpool, with cheerful Hearts, and most unfeigned Affections, take this early Opportunity to approach your Throne, and beseech your Majesty to accept our Congratulations upon your happy Restoration to Health, and Return to your People.

It is not, Sir, in Words to express the Sorrow of our Hearts, when we saw the Life of our Government withdrawn from us. Feeling what we had lost, your faithful Subjects implored the Father of Mercies to spare their King, relieve the Sorrows of His Royal Consort and Illustrious Family, and bless His People, by restoring your Majesty to the full Exercise of the Government of these Realms.

That the same kind Providence may continue to preserve your Majesty, and that your Reign may be long, prosperous and happy, is our most fervent Prayer.

By Order and by the unanimous Consent and Approbation of the General Meeting convened for the Purpose of taking into Consideration the Propriety of an Address to the Throne upon the King's Recovery:

John Blackburne, jun. Chairman.

Liverpool, March 16, 1789.

[Delivered by the Right Honourable Lord Pembyn and Bamber Gascoyne, Esq; Representatives in Parliament for that Town.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Aldermen, Free Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Launceston, in the County of Cornwall, beg Leave to approach your Sacred Person with our sincerest Congratulations on your Recovery from your late Malady.

The Happiness we had enjoyed under your Majesty's auspicious Government rendered us the more sensibly affected with an Interruption of it; and
