

Honour of the Crown, and the Rights of the People, which in all Emergencies must procure the highest national Respect to the Resolutions of a British Parliament, while it ascertains their Object to be the Perpetuity of our glorious Constitution.

[Transmitted by J. Burnett, Esq; Mayor.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of your Majesty's ancient and loyal City of Chester, humbly beg Leave to approach your Royal Person with our most dutiful and affectionate Congratulations on your Recovery from your late Indisposition. We yield our unfeigned Thanks to the King of Kings for this happy Event, by which we are encouraged to hope that your faithful Subjects may long enjoy the Blessings of your Majesty's mild and just Government.

And we feel the greatest Satisfaction in reflecting that the firm yet temperate Measures, which were adopted and pursued by the Great Council of the Nation, under an Exigency altogether unexampled in the Annals of these Realms, have preserved the present Honor and Dignity of your Majesty's Crown, whilst the Rights of Parliament have been at the same Time protected and secured to all future Ages.

Given under our Common Seal, the 26th Day of March, 1789.

Tho. Cotgreave, Dep. Mayor.

[Delivered by Thomas Grosvenor and Richard Wilbraham Bootle, Esqrs. Representatives in Parliament for that City.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Bailiffs, Citizens, Gentlemen, Freeholders and other Inhabitants of the City and County and Close of the Cathedral Church of Lichfield, assembled in the Guildhall of the said City.

MAY it please your Majesty to permit us to approach your Royal Person with the warmest Assurances, that as none of your Majesty's Subjects could feel greater Sorrow than your Majesty's affectionate and loyal Subjects of this City for your late Illness, so it is impossible to find Terms sufficiently expressive of our Happiness on the joyful Event of your Majesty's Restoration to Health, to your Royal Family, and to your once more happy People.

A Blessing so truly great, granted by Providence to the sincere Prayers of a distressed Land, hath made on our Minds Impressions of Gratitude never to be effaced.

We beg Leave to add, that it will be our constant Prayer to the Supreme Being, that your Majesty, and our more than ever honoured Queen, may long live in Health and Prosperity, Examples of every Virtue and Excellence which can adorn a Throne, or do Honour to human Nature.

Given under our Hands, and the Common Seal of the said City, the 26th Day of March, 1789.

[Delivered by George Anson and Thomas Gilbert, Esqrs. Representatives in Parliament for that City.]

Unto the KING.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Principal and Professors of the University of Edinburgh, humbly approach your Throne with our warmest and most cordial Congratulations on the auspicious Event of your Majesty's Recovery from that severe Indisposition with which you have been afflicted.

Sensible of the Happiness which we have enjoyed under your mild and legal Government, we bless Almighty God, who, in Mercy to your People, and in Answer to their fervent and united Prayers, hath so fully restored you to Health, that you can again in Person exercise your Royal Functions, and resume that Attention to the Welfare and Prosperity of your Subjects, which they have long experienced, and most gratefully acknowledge.

That perfect Satisfaction; which, at present, we feel, will animate us to labour with increased Affiduity in discharging the Duties of our Stations; being well persuaded, that by infilling into the Minds of the Youth under our Care such Principles as may render them worthy Men and good Citizens, we shall most effectually recommend ourselves to our Gracious Sovereign, who, as the Father of His People, has nothing so near His Heart as their Improvement in useful Knowledge and true Virtue.

William Robertson, Principal.
