May He be long spared as a Pattern of domestic and public Virtue to a happy People.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble congratulatory Address of the Matrons of Walsall.

MADAM,

IMPRESSED with the tenderest Sympathy for the poignant Sorrows your Royal Breast must have sustained during the distressful Indisposition of our beloved Sovereign, we humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty on the happy Termination it has pleased the Divine Providence to grant to His, to the Nation's Sufferings.

Impiously disloyal must those Hearts have been, that could have beheld unmoved the soul-rending Affliction of so exalted, so amiable a Family! Every Instance of dutiful Affection, every fervent Prayer offered up to the God of all Mercies for the Recovery of our gracious Monarch, and for the Consolation of your Majesty, we were equally impelled to by Duty, Interest and Inclination; and as we have sensibly felt the Miseries of the late melancholy Infliction, we humbly hope your Majesty's wonted Clemency and Indulgence will permit us to express our heartfelt Joy and Thankfulness to Almighty God for it's happy Removal: Long, very long, may it please the all-wise Dispenser of all good Gifts to preserve the Life and Health of our most gracious Sovereign! And long, very long, may you, Madam, soften and relax the Care and Anxieties attendant on His exalted Station with the soothing Sweetness of domestic Felicity! And that you may both, full of Years and ripe for Immortality, exchange your earthly for heavenly Crowns, is the affectionate Wish and fervent Prayer of,

Madam,

Your and His Majesty's most dutiful, loyal and affectionate Subjects.
