SATURDAY last the Houses of Lords and Commons waited upon his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, with humble Addresses to be transmitted to His Majesty; and also with Addresses to his Excellency, which, with his Excellency's Answers, are as follow:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,
 The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, approach your Throne with the most grateful and zealous Attachment to your Majesty's Person, Family and Government, sensible of that Happiness which this Country, in common with the Rest of your Majesty's Dominions, enjoys in the Blessings of Peace, and in the inestimable Advantages of a free Constitution.

The increasing Riches and rising Credit of our Country will induce us to persevere in the Maintenance of good Order and Government, and of that System of Policy which has placed these desirable Objects upon a firm and steady Foundation. The Importance of Agriculture and the Linen Manufacture, so wisely pointed out to us from the Throne, will ensure our Encouragement to those beneficial Sources of Wealth and Population; and we will give the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools that Consideration, which the Interests of Religion and the good Education of Youth peculiarly demand.

We will earnestly apply ourselves to the improving and continuing such Laws as we find by Experience to be of National Benefit; and we return your Majesty our sincere and humble Thanks for your Majesty's Assurances, that such Measures, as contribute to that End, will meet with your most gracious Concurrence.

We most thankfully acknowledge your Majesty's Goodness in committing the Government of Ireland to the Earl of Westmorland, from whose Abilities, Integrity and Honor, we entertain the highest Expectations.

Convinced of your Majesty's benevolent and unceasing Regard to the Happiness of your Subjects of this Kingdom, we cannot repress our ardent Prayers, that your Majesty may continue in the Enjoyment of every Blessing, and that you may long reign over an affectionate and loyal People.

W. Watts Gayer, } Cler. Parliamentor.
Edw. Gayer,

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's Answer.

I Will immediately transmit this dutiful and loyal Address to be laid before His Majesty.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,
 The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes, in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland, in Parliament assembled, being fully sensible of the peculiar Benefits this Country enjoys under your mild and auspicious Government, in the Blessings of Peace, and the inestimable Advantages of our free Constitution, beg Leave to approach your Throne with the most dutiful Professions of grateful Loyalty and cordial Attachment to your Royal Person, Family and Government.

In reflecting upon the established Credit, increasing Industry, and rising Prosperity of our Country, we are filled with additional Incentives to maintain good Order, and permanently to uphold that wise System of Policy, which has been attended with such extensive and beneficial Consequences.

Your Majesty may rely upon your faithful Commons to make such Provisions as may be necessary for the honorable Support of your Majesty's Government, and the Exigencies of the Public Service.

The just Consideration of our Interests, which has been manifested in the Speech from the Throne, by directing our especial Attention to the Agriculture and Linen Manufacture, to the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools, and to the improving and continuing such Laws as Experience hath shewn to be of Public Benefit, demands our sincerest Acknowledgments; and we beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that
