

shall be established." And whereas Doctor Edward Brereton, late Professor of the Practice of Medicine under said Act, is since dead: Notice is hereby given that the Election of King's Professor of the Practice of Medicine by the City of Dublin, on the Foundation of Sir Patrick Dunn, will be held at the House of the Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, on Tuesday the 27th day of March 1792, after such Examination as the Electors may require, which will begin at the Hour of Ten o'Clock on the Morning of said Day.

The following Emoluments and Advantages attend this Professorship. The Professor will receive the yearly Sum of One Hundred Pounds, (to commence at the Time of this Election) and also may charge reasonable Fees to be paid by all such Persons as attend his Lectures: The said Fees to be paid on Admission, and to be from Time to Time regulated by the King and Queen's College of Physicians in Ireland.

The Lectures are to commence on the first Monday in November, and to continue until the End of April, and are to be given four Days in the Week (at least) in Trinity College, Dublin. They are also to be delivered in the English Language, unless it be otherwise ordered by the President and Fellows of the said King and Queen's College of Physicians. This Professorship is open to Protestants of all Nations, provided they have taken Medical Degrees, and will become vacant at the End of seven Years from the Date of the Election; but, at the Expiration of the said seventh Year, the same Professor may be again elected. The Electors are bound to the strictest Impartiality, by an Oath required by the said Act to be taken by every Elector previous to the Election.

It is desired that all Persons intending to offer themselves as Candidates for said Professorship do, within two Months from the Date hereof, send their Names, and also an Account of the Places of their Education, of the Universities in which they have taken their Medical Degrees, and of the Places in which they have practised, to the Reverend Gerald Fitzgerald, D. D. Trinity College, and to Alexander Pellesier, Dublin, who will give any further Information on the Subject which may be necessary.

Signed by Order,
