

Service of the Royal Navy: And whereas His Majesty was also graciously pleased, by His said Proclamation, to declare, that all Able-bodied Landmen, not above the Age of Thirty-five nor under the Age of Twenty Years, who should so enter themselves as aforesaid, should receive the Sum of Thirty Shillings each Man, as His Majesty's Royal Bounty: And whereas His Majesty was also graciously pleased, by His Royal Proclamation bearing Date the Sixteenth Day of the said Month of February, 1793, to promise and declare, that a Reward of Twenty Shillings for every Able and Ordinary Seaman, fit to serve on board His Majesty's Ships, should be paid to any Person who should discover any Seaman or Seamen who might conceal him or themselves, so that such Seaman or Seamen should be taken for His Majesty's Service, on or before the Thirtieth Day of April then next, by any of His Majesty's Sea Officers appointed to raise Men on Shore, or by the Captains or Commanders of any of His Majesty's Ships or Vessels in the Ports or on the Coasts of this Kingdom: And whereas the Time limited by the said Proclamations for Payment of the said Bounties and Reward, hath been prolonged and extended to the Thirty first Day of this instant October; and it being judged expedient for His Majesty's Service that the said Bounties and Reward should be continued to be paid for some Time longer; His Majesty, with the Advice of His Privy Council, doth therefore order, and it is hereby accordingly ordered, that the Time limited for Payment of the said Bounties and Reward be prolonged and extended, from the said Thirty-first Day of this instant October to the Thirty-first Day of December next inclusive: Whereof all Persons concerned are to take Notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

W. Fawkener.

St. James's November 6.

THIS Day the Right Honorable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs and Common Council of the City of London, waited upon His Majesty (being introduced by the Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Household, with the following Address: Which was read by Sir John William Rose, the Recorder.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London in Common Council assembled, beg Leave to approach your Royal Person with the most affectionate Sentiments of Veneration and Respect, to express our Horror and Indignation at the most daring Assault and flagitious Outrage offered to your Majesty in your Majesty's Passage to and from your Parliament, at the Moment of your Majesty's exercising the sacred Duties of the Crown, and fulfilling your Part of our most excellent Constitution.

Gratefully as we enjoy every Blessing derived to us in common with our fellow freeborn Subjects from your Majesty's mild and paternal Government, we are unable, in adequate Terms, to express our Concern that a Period has arrived when any Person within your Majesty's Dominions should be found so daringly wicked as to hazard, by such atrocious Violence, the Safety of your Royal Person, and therein the Happiness of a whole Country.

It is, therefore, with the most profound Sentiments of Gratitude to the Supreme Disposer of all Events that we have to congratulate your Majesty on your providential Escape from such traitorous Attacks, dangerous at once to the Public Tranquillity, and in Violation of the glorious Constitution, or which your Majesty forms so important a Part.

Permit us, Sire, to return your Majesty our most grateful Thanks for your gracious Intention to give us the fullest and speediest Line to a Negotiation for a general Peace on just and suitable Terms, whenever an Order of Things shall arise in France compatible with the Tranquillity of other Countries, and affording a reasonable Expectation of Security and Permanency in a Treaty to be concluded.

Convinced as your Majesty's faithful and loyal Citizens of London are that nothing will be so likely to bring about such a Peace as firm and vigorous Measures in the Prosecution of the War, we feel it not more our bounden Duty than our steady Determination to contribute every Thing in our Power to that desirable End, and to support your Majesty's sacred Person and Government inviolate from all your foreign and Domestic Enemies.

Signed by Order of Court,

R I X.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.

I Thank you for this recent Proof of the uniform Affection and Attachment which has been for me by My faithful City of London. The Persuasion that the Sentiments you have expressed on this Occasion are in common with the rest of My People, leaves Me only to regret, on My Part, the Outrage which has been committed against the Law and Constitution, for the Defence and maintenance of which you may always rely upon My utmost Exertions.

Your Determination to contribute every Thing in your Power to support the vigorous Exertions I am making for the Prosecution of this War, as affording the most effectual Means of enabling Me to conclude a just, honorable and permanent Peace, and your Assurance to support My Person and Government against all foreign and Domestic Enemies, cannot but be highly satisfactory to Me.

They were all received very graciously, and had the Honor to kiss His Majesty's Hand.

After which His Majesty was pleased to confer the Honor of Knighthood on Richard Glode, Esq; one of the Sheriffs.