

aim at the Extinction of all Order, and even at the Overthrow of the Constitution.

We beg Leave, upon this awful Occasion, to make a solemn Declaration of our unfeigned Attachment to your Majesty's Person and Royal Family, and to assure your Majesty that we are penetrated with a grateful Sense of the Protection and true Liberty which this Country enjoys under your Majesty's mild and equitable Government, and are determined firmly to resist any Machinations or Attempts to so subvert or disturb the same.

[Presented by Sir Robert Salusbury, Bart. one of the Representatives in Parliament for the said County, accompanied by his Grace the Duke of Beaufort, the Marquis of Worcester, Sir Charles Morgan, Bart. Colonel Wood, and Charles Morgan, Esq;]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Pembroke.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Pembroke, holding in the greatest Abhorrence the late outrageous and wicked Attack on your Royal Person, beg Leave to present our warmest Congratulations on your Majesty's providential Escape, and to add our hearty Prayers that Providence may never cease to watch over you, and that you may continue long to reign over a free and happy People.

Hugh Barlow, Chairman.

[Presented by Hugh Barlow, Esq; Representative in Parliament for the Town of Pembroke.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy and Freeholders of the County of Salop.

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy and Freeholders of the County of Salop, (by public Advertisement assembled) beg Leave to approach the Royal Presence with our most sincere and fervent Congratulations on your Majesty's providential Deliverance from the daring and criminal Attempt recently made upon your sacred Person, assuring your Majesty that we view, with the keenest Sentiments of Horror and Indignation, both the flagitious Instigators and atrocious Perpetrators of this unmerited Outrage; the Heinousness of which is (if possible) increased, by it's being executed at a Moment when your Majesty was about to exercise the most important as well as most august Function of your exalted Station, conjointly with the National Representation to legislate for a free and enlightened People.

Permit us also, Sire, to take this Opportunity of returning your Majesty our warmest Acknowledgments for the generous Communication to Parliament of your Royal Intentions to put a Stop to the present destructive and sanguinary War, as soon as such a Measure can be adopted, consistently with the Dignity of the Crown, the Interests of the State, and the general Safety of Europe: But conscious, as we are, that so desirable an Event can only be obtained by the most prompt and vigorous Preparations for War, we engage to co-operate with the Executive Government in every Mode that can give Energy to it's Exertions, and eventually command the Blessings of an honourable and advantageous Peace.

And, above all, we assure your Majesty, that we will ourselves practise and direct our most assiduous Attention to inculcate, and, if necessary, to enforce in our respective Neighbourhoods, that peaceful Demeanour and legal Subordination, which is the only solid Basis of public Strength and individual Prosperity.

Signed, for and on Behalf of the Meeting, by Henry Bevan, Sheriff.

Shrewsbury, Nov. 14, 1795.

[Presented by the High Sheriff, accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel Kynaston, one of the Representatives in Parliament for the said County.]

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Freeholders, and Heritors of the County of Roxburgh, humbly beg Leave to approach your Throne, and to express the Horror with which we were seized at the atrocious Attempt upon the Life of the best of Monarchs.

Thankful for that distinguished Prosperity which, under Providence, we owe to our excellent Constitution, and to the Fidelity and Firmness with which your Majesty has uniformly supported it, we feel ourselves bound, at every Hazard of Life and Fortune, to defend your Royal Person against all foreign Enemies, and the more dangerous Attempts of domestic Traitors.

Actuated by these Sentiments, we embrace this Opportunity of expressing our entire and hearty Approbation of the Measures now under Consideration of Parliament, tending more effectually to guard your sacred Person, and prevent those seditious Assemblies whose Proceedings have, for so long a Time, filled the Minds of your faithful Subjects with just Alarm, and threatened the Destruction of every Thing that is dear to us as Men or Britons.

It is our earnest Prayer that the same Providence which has shielded your Majesty from secret Danger, may continue to frustrate the Projects of seditious Men, and prolong your Life for the Happiness of a grateful People.

George Douglas, Preses.

Jedburgh, November 21, 1795.

[Presented by his Grace the Duke of Roxburgh.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Lieutenant-Governor and the States of the Island of Guernsey.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lieutenant-Governor and the States of your Majesty's Island of Guernsey, assembled on this affecting Occasion to prostrate ourselves before (and devoutly to offer up our humble Thanks to) that almighty, adorable and invisible Power that guarded and preserved your Majesty's Life, (so precious and inestimable a Blessing to the Millions of your loyal Subjects) when, on the 29th of last Month, a Band of execrable Ruffians, dared, with impious Hands and unhallowed Tongues, to insult and assail the sacred Person of our beloved Sovereign in his Carriage, when passing to and from his Parliament, at the Opening of the present Session thereof.

We beseech you, Sire, to believe, that as no Part of your Majesty's extensive Dominions (in Proportion
