Hamburgh, April 16.

On the 30th Ultimo the French attacked the Austrians on the Upper Adige, between Verona and Roveredo. At first they obtained some Success; but they were on the same Day repulsed with very considerable Loss.

Accounts have been received from the Tyrol, that the French Force which had penetrated into that Country had been obliged to evacuate it completely; and that General Jourdan's Army, as well as a great Part of Bernadotte's, had repassed the Rhine, having left a Garrison in Manheim, and in the Works of Kehl, but had abandoned the Blockade of Philipsburg. The Austrians have advanced to Friburg and Offenburg, and have summoned Kehl to surrender.

Advices from Raftadt of the 8th April mention, that General Staray had gained a very considerable Advantage over the French General St. Cyr, as the latter was retreating from Freudenstadt to Offenburg, on his Way to Kehl; and that the French had lost a considerable Park of Artillery.
