From Saturday June 1, to Tuesday June 4, 1799.

Horse Guards, June 4, 1799.

HIS Royal Highness the Commander in Chief has His Majesty's particular Commands to communicate to the several Corps of Volunteers assembled this Morning in Hyde-Park, the great Satisfaction with which His Majesty witnessed their Regularity and Military Appearance, and the striking Manifestation of their cordial and affectionate Attachment to His Majesty. It is peculiarly pleasing to His Majesty to observe the Effects of the unwearied Diligence and Attention of the Officers, and of the Zeal and Alacrity of the Volunteers composing this truly respectable Force, which entitle them to the strongest Expressions of His Majesty's Approbation, and which gratify the just Sentiments of National Pride, in the same Proportion in which they add to the public Security.

His Majesty cannot express the Satisfaction He has received on this Occasion, without the pleasing Recollection of the Principles of Attachment to the Constitution under which these Corps have been formed, and without considering their Appearance and Conduct on this Day, as a Proof of their firm Determination to support His Majesty in transmitting it with its Blessings unimpaired to their Posterity.

His Royal Highness has peculiar Pleasure in making known His Majesty's gracious Sentiments on an Occasion so acceptable to His Feelings, and he requests the respective Commanding Officers to take the earliest Opportunity of communicating them to the several Corps seen by His Majesty this Morning.

(Signed) FREDERICK, F. M.
Commander in Chief.

Extract of a Letter from Sir Morton Eden to Lord Grenville, dated May 18, 1799.

MY LORD,

I Have the Honor of enclosing an Extraordinary Gazette published on Thursday last, containing Intelligence from the Army of Italy.

Vienna, May 16, 1799.

FIELD-MARSHAL-LIEUTENANT KAIM, charged by Field-Marshal Suwarrow with the Siege of Piz-zighetone, has sent his First Lieutenant Runcle with the Particulars of the Capture of that Place on the 10th.

General Baron Sekendorff and Count Hohenzollern had previously surrounded the Fortrefs with a small Body of Troops, and with the Assistance of the Inhabitants of the Environs had begun to construct Batteries.

On the 5th, Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim received Orders to attack the Place with his Division, and to push forward the Siege vigorously. In the Night of the 5th, and during the whole Day of the 6th, they worked with such Dispatch to construct Batteries, that in the Night of the 6th some Cannon were mounted.

On the 7th, before Day-break, they began to attack the Fortrefs, and to throw in some Howitzers, the Fourth of which set fire to a considerable Magazine of Hay, Straw, and Wood, which continued burning all the Day.

Two Hours afterwards Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim summoned the Fortrefs to surrender. The Governor replied, that he had Orders from his Government to defend himself, and that he could not enter into Negotiation. The Fire was therefore continued by our brave Cannonneers with such Success, that in the Evening a small Powder Magazine blew up, several Batteries dismounted, and even the Embrasures demolished. In the Night of the 7th, and in the Morning till Nine o'Clock we continued our Works in such a Manner that our Batteries were not farther than Musket-shot from the Fortrefs.

The Fire in the Town, the Apprehension that a Quantity of Powder in the Cafemates might catch Fire, and the Proximity of our Batteries connected by Trenches, induced the Enemy's Commandant to sent Proposals of Negotiation in Writing to Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim by one of his Artillery Officers.

The Field-Marshal-Lieutenant sent the Quarter-Master-General's First Lieutenant into the Fortrefs with the following Capitulation; adding, that no Change whatever could be made in it. The Enemy's Commandant, after holding a Council of War, required Liberty to return with his Garrison to France, and persisted in this Point till Ten at Night. But Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim having then informed him that he could wait no longer, the Capitulation was agreed upon, and was ratified and exchanged on the Morning of the 10th. The Garrison, although consisting of Six Hundred Men and Thirty Officers, of whom Two were on the Staff, was commanded by a Captain.

Ninety-five Pieces of Cannon, Ammunition sufficient for a Siege of Six Months, Provisions to supply a Garrison of Five Thousand Men for Fourteen Months, and a great Quantity of Powder, were found in the Place.

This Siege cost us only One Man killed and Two wounded.

ARTICLES of CAPITULATION concluded between Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim and Captain Francis Jaquay, Commandant of the Fortrefs of Pizzighetone.

Art. I. The Garrison shall evacuate the Fortrefs, and shall leave the Cannon, Ammunition, and every Thing that belongs to the Civil and Military Administration.

Art. II. The Garrison shall march out on the 11th of May with all the Honours of War, shall lay down their Arms on the Glacis, and be made Prisoners of War. The French Officers and their Allies shall keep their Arms, Baggage, Horses, and Military Ornaments. Every Facility of Transport shall be furnished them, and a proper Escort through the Countries occupied by the Imperial and Royal Troops.

Art. III. The Garrison shall retain their Effects and Knapsacks. Hostages shall be mutually given. Those of the French shall remain in the Fortrefs until every Thing shall have been faithfully delivered up to the Imperial Troops.

Art. IV. Immediately on the Signature of the Capitulation the Gate of Cremona shall be delivered up to the Imperial and Royal Troops, and the Gate opposite to Geza shall be occupied by General Sekendorff, who commands at Geza.

Art. V. The Inhabitants shall not be molested for any Sentiments they may have manifested during the Stay of the French.

Art. VI. The Sick and Wounded shall be attended by a French Surgeon, and shall remain at the Hospital under the Protection of Austrian Property.—On their Recovery they shall be sent under Escort to France.

Art. VII. The French Commissaries of War, and those employed by the Cisalpine Governments, shall remain in the Place until all the Magazine, shall have been delivered over to the Persons named by Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim.

All Persons, not having borne Arms, shall be set at Liberty and conducted to the French Out-Posts. Concluded and signed at Regano, the 9th of May, 1799.

KAIM, Field-Marshal-Lieutenant;
JAQUEY, Captain and Commandant.

Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kaim had Orders to follow the Army immediately after the Surrender of Pizzighetone. On the 11th he marched towards Toghera, where our Army was posted when the Courier departed, and from whence General Gotscheim, who commanded the Advanced Guard, sent out Patroles to the Environs of Turin.

The Russian Troops, with Karaczay's Regiment of Dragoons under the Orders of General Döllen, have entered Tortona. The Enemy, after having been driven from the Town by the Russians, threw themselves into the Castle, which is at some Distance; but it is blockaded, as well as that of Milan.

The General of Artillery Kray writes on the 9th Instant, that the Garrison of Mantua, reported to be Twelve Thousand strong, having learnt that the greater Part of the Force that blockaded it had marched towards Peschiera, made a general Sortie; but that on the 7th he had recalled Eight Battalions in consequence of the complete Evacuation of that Fortrefs. This Corps was advantageously employed at Roverbella under General Elsnitz, who defeated the Enemy on every Side with considerable Loss, and took Prisoners a Captain, Aide-de-Camp to General Monet, a Lieutenant, and Forty Men.

General Kray of the Artillery, not being able to give an exact Statement of his Loss on account of the Extent of his Posts, has deferred making any Return for the present.

Our Army distinguished itself very much in resisting this Sally, particularly in the Commencement, when the Enemy, infinitely superior in Strength, had considerably advanced, and discharged a brisk Fire of Artillery.

A Secretary of General Monet and a Trumpeter were taken Prisoners. The Field-Marshal-Lieutenant Kray sent them both to Mantua, after delivering to them a Copy of the Capitulation of Peschiera. At the same Time he signified to the Garrison, that the Cannonade, which they had conceived to be a Signal from the French Army, and which had induced them to make this Sally, was in Reality the Bombardment of Pizzighetone, of which the Garrison might convince themselves by sending One of their Officers to the very Spot.

At Peschiera, besides what has been already mentioned, Eighteen Pontoons of Tin and several Wag-gons have been found.

According to a Report from the Archduke Charles, the Enemy had attacked on the 9th Current the Advanced Posts of General Merveli, between Biberach and Gegenbach, and had taken some Hostages from the latter Place on his Retreat.

On the following Day the Enemy renewed his Attack with more Energy, and made our Front Posts rather give Way, but retired to his former Position.

All the Rest of the Enemy's Line remained perfectly quiet.

Extract of a Letter from Sir Morton Eden to Lord Grenville, dated Vienna, Saturday, May 18, 1799.

A Courier arrived this Morning from Marshal Suwarrow with Accounts of the further Progress of the Army under his Command. The Head-Quarters were, on the 13th Instant, at Tortona, the Citadel of which had only an inconsiderable Garrison.

General Moreau had collected all the French Troops which had been scattered through Piedmont, and was encamped near to Alexandria, with about Seventeen Thousand Men. The Imperial Troops occupied Vercelli on the Sessia, Arona on the Southern Extremity of the Lago Maggiore, and Jurea on the Dora Baltea. The Advanced Posts were at Chivasso, near Turin; and the Inhabitants of that Part of the Country had taken Arms for the Purpose of aiding the Austrians. The Canton of Uri had risen, and driven out the French; the Valais were also in Arms, and General Kaim had been sent with a considerable Detachment to support them, and furnish them with Arms, Ammunition, &c.

The greatest Part of the Valteline was likewise in the Possession of the Austrians.

Admiralty-Office, June 3, 1799:

BY Advices which have been received it appears that the Childers Brig and Success Frigate had joined the British Squadron under the Orders of Vice-Admiral Lord Keith, in the Bay of Cadiz, on Friday the 3d of May, with Information of the sailing of the French Fleet from Brest, and the Spanish Squadron from Ferrol; that the Morning of the following Day the Brest Fleet, consisting of Thirty-three Ships of War, had appeared off Cadiz, and that his Lordship, wishing rather to meet the Enemy under Sail than receive him at Anchor with the Spanish Fleet of Twenty-two Ships of the Line in View, at Anchor to Leeward, and at no greater Distance than Seven or Eight Miles, had got under Sail with his Squadron consisting of Fifteen Sail of the Line to give Battie to the Enemy, and stood off and on from the Port of Cadiz; that during the Course of that Day the French Fleet, though Ships sent to reconnoitre had nearly approached the British Squadron, had made no Attempt to attack it, or to form a Junction with the Spanish Fleet; and that on the Morning of the 5th the Wind, which had blown fresh all the Afternoon of the preceding Day, with cloudy Weather, increasing to a perfect Storm, and blowing right on the Shore, he had lost Sight of the Enemy, excepting Four Ships of the Line which had separated, and which he had endeavoured ineffectually to cut off.

That his Lordship had continued on his Station until the 9th, when he proceeded with his Squadron off Cape Spartel, and having Reason to believe that the Enemy had passed the Straits, proceeded on the 10th into Gibraltar Bay, where he is supposed to have anchored on the same Day.

It also appears by Advices from Gibraltar of the 9th of May, that the Childers Brig had joined Lord St. Vincent on the 4th; that his Lordship had in consequence taken the necessary Means for apprising the Commander of His Majesty's Ships of the Enemy's Approach, and had made his Arrangements with a View to collecting his Force and pursuing the Enemy, which had passed the Straits and proceeded up the Mediterranean in the Afternoon of the 5th.

An Account has also been received, that the Squadron under Rear-Admiral Whitshed, consisting of Five Ships of the Line, was off the Tagus on the 16th, and from the State of the Winds would be likely to reach the Bay of Gibraltar on the 18th.

St. James's, June 4, 1799.

This Day being observed at Court as the Anniversary of the King's Birth-Day, there was a very numerous and splendid Appearance of the Nobility, Foreign Ministers, and other Persons of Distinction, to compliment His Majesty on the Occasion. The Guns in the Park and at the Tower were fired at One o'Clock; and in the Evening there will be a Ball at Court, and Illuminations and other Public Demonstrations of Joy throughout London and Westminster.
