

fection towards us, and by our Veneration for the distinguished Virtues which adorn your Majesty's Character, and which are always most eminently displayed in the Hour of Trial; we acknowledge with all Humility and Gratitude that merciful Interposition of Providence which has been so signally manifested on this Occasion; and we make it our earnest Prayer to Almighty God, that he will long preserve to us the same Blessings, and continue to watch over and protect a Life so justly dear to a free and loyal People.

[Presented by Major-General De Lancey, attended by Mr. Argles Bishop, Mr. W. Scudamore, Mr. Edward Hornwood.]

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Provost, Fellows, and Masters of your Royal College of Eton, beg Leave humbly to approach your Majesty with our unfeigned Congratulations on your Majesty's Escape from the late Attack against your sacred Person by a most daring Assassin.

Sensible of the many Blessings which we and all your Subjects daily enjoy under your mild and just Government, we cannot sufficiently express our Horror and Astonishment; that any Individual should become so abandoned as to raise his Hand to perpetrate so atrocious a Crime; impressed also with the most grateful Sense of your Majesty's gracious Attention to this Ancient Seminary of learned and religious Education, we offer up our sincere Thanks to Divine Providence for your Majesty's Preservation from such imminent Danger.

We will never cease to pray, that it may please God still to protect your Majesty from all Assaults of open Violence, to confound all Devices of secret Treason, and to grant a long Continuance of a Life so valuable, so dear to a truly loyal and affectionate People.

[Presented by the Reverend Doctor Davies Provost, attended by the Reverend Doctor Foster and the Reverend Doctor Heath, Fellows.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most loyal Subjects, the Judges, Advocates, and Proctors of your Majesty's Ecclesiastical and Admiralty Courts, humbly beg Leave to approach the Throne with our cordial Congratulations on the Interposition of Providence lately manifested in the Preservation of your Majesty's Life.

Deeply affected with Concern at finding that the Hand of any one of your Majesty's Subjects should be armed with Violence against the sacred Person of our Sovereign, we feel some Consolation in reflecting that the universal Grief and Anxiety which such an Event has excited, have furnished to the World a new and striking Demonstration, how universally your Majesty reigns in the Hearts of a loyal and united People.

That the same Guardian Care, which has on this Occasion protected a Life so justly endeared to them, may long continue to preserve it for their common Security and Happiness, is the fervent Prayer of your Majesty's most dutiful Subjects.

[Presented by Sir William Wynne, Dean of the Arches, Sir William Scott, Judge of the Admiralty.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Tyrian Lodge of Free-Masons in Derby, in the County of Derby, in full Lodge assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful Subjects, the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Tyrian Lodge of Free-Masons, in Derby, in the County of Derby, in full Lodge assembled, deeply deploring the recent, wicked, and treasonable Attempt against your sacred Person, and impressed with the most loyal and affectionate Zeal, humbly approach the Throne with Congratulations on your Majesty's providential Deliverance from the daring and atrocious Hands of the Assassin.

Permit us, Royal Sire, to express our fervent Prayer, that the protecting Arm of the Almighty may ever graciously shield your Majesty from the evil and traitorous Designs of your Enemies; and that your Majesty may long and prosperously continue to reign over a happy, grateful, and loyal People.

Given under the Common Seal of the Lodge, this Twenty-second Day of May, One thousand and eight hundred. H. Brown, Master.

[Presented by the Mayor of Derby, attended by Lord G. H. Cavendish, and Hon. George Walpole.]

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Treasurer and Masters of the Bench of the Society of Lincoln's Inn, beg Leave to approach your Majesty most humbly to offer our unfeigned Congratulations on your Majesty's happy Deliverance from the late horrid and atrocious Attempt against your Majesty's most sacred Person.

We acknowledge with heartfelt Gratitude the Mercy of Almighty God towards the People of this Realm in the Protection of your Majesty; and we make it our fervent Prayer to the Divine Being, that by the Preservation of your Majesty's Life, a loyal and affectionate People may long continue to enjoy the inestimable Blessings which they have experienced under your Majesty's mild and paternal Reign.

[Presented by Thomas Plumer, Esq; Treasurer, attended by Sir William Grant, His Majesty's Solicitor-General, and G. L. Newnham, Esq; one of His Majesty's Counsel.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Treasurer and Masters of the Bench of the Ancient Society of the Middle-Temple.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Treasurer and Masters of the Bench of the Ancient Society of the Middle-Temple, beg Leave to approach your Majesty with our sincere Congratulations on your late providential Escape from the nefarious Attempt on your Majesty's sacred Person.

With the most lively Sentiments of Gratitude for the many Blessings derived from your Majesty's mild and paternal Government, we feel ourselves called upon to express our Horror and Indignation at this atrocious Act; and we humbly offer up our Prayers
