

tion, and long reign over a happy and grateful People.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, and Clergy of the Diocese of Saint Asaph.

A Sovereign endeared to his Subjects of every Rank and Description, by an unremitting Attention to their Happiness and best Interests; respected by all Nations for the exalted Virtues with which he hath filled and adorned for a long Series of Years the high Station he holds; should seem to be secured, if Security could in any Situation be the Lot of Humanity, from many of the Dangers that surround other Men, from those more especially that originate in wilful Violence and Malice. Yet such unhappily is the Corruption of our Nature that there may be Enemies even to one who is the Friend of all. And in Times like the present, when open War hath been declared against all that is good and great and amiable in Society, the best and most Virtuous are for that very Reason marked for Destruction; in such Circumstances the late atrocious Attack upon your Majesty's sacred Person may be the less wondered at, but it must excite the deepest Abhorrence in the Minds of your faithful People. The Ministers of Religion cannot but consider your happy Escape as a fresh Instance of that Superintending Providence which hath repeatedly protected your Life from the most imminent Danger. We therefore, the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, and Clergy of the Diocese of St. Asaph, under these Impressions approach your Majesty with the warmest Assurance of our unfeigned Congratulations, and humbly implore from Heaven a Continuance of that Divine Protection which hath hitherto secured unto us under your auspicious Government the Enjoyment of those unparalleled Blessings which distinguish this Country above every other Nation upon Earth.

The cool and dignified Courage which so eminently and so honorably distinguished your Majesty's Conduct in the Moment of Danger and general Alarm, by which many Lives of your Majesty's Subjects were evidently preserved, claim equally our Admiration and our Gratitude.

We thankfully acknowledge the signal Interposition of Divine Providence displayed in our Behalf by the Preservation of our justly beloved and revered Sovereign, and we offer up our fervent Prayers that your Majesty may long and prosperously reign over a faithful, free, and united People.
