To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Freeholders, the Commissioners of Supply, other Heritors, Justices of the Peace, and the Clergy of the County of Inverness, assembled to celebrate the Birth of your Majesty.

SIRE

SECURE, under a Reign of equal Mildness and Energy, in our Religion, in our Liberties, our Lives and Properties, in whatever is valuable in this Life, we trufted that to a Man, every Subject of your Majesty's Dominion would proffer his Life as a Shield to your facred Person; we have now seen a deplorable Evidence indeed of Human Depravity; we have seen that in these Realms there is one Being so lost, so atrocious as to lift the Assalin Hand against the best of Kings; but we have also seen, and we bow to the Infinite Mercy and Goodness of our God, that the Almighty Arm protects our Sovereign and our Happiness.

We revere Virtue in the Prince or Peafant, and we are proud of our Monarch in his public and in his private Virtues.

May the Almighty grant that you may long live, Sire, still a Lesson to great Magistrates, a Pattern to good Citizens, the Comfort of your illustrious and amiable Family, the Glory and Safeguard of your loyal and affectionate Subjects, and we will add, for the Welfare of Europe, and for the Happiness of the Human Race, is the earnest Prayer of

May it please your Majesty,
Your faithful Subjects the Freeholders, the Commissioners of Supply, other Heritors, Justices of the Peace, and the Clergy of the County of Invernels.

Signed by our Appointment and in our Presence, by W. Chisholm, Preses. Inverness, 4th June 1800.

[Prefented by Colonel Frafer.]

against your Majesty's most sacred Person.

We make it our daily Prayer that the same Providence which has hitherto preserved, may still continue to watch over your Majesty's precious Life, and that you may long continue to reign for the Happiness of this and the surrounding Nations.

Signed by Appointment and in Presence of the Meeting.
