Sir Palmes Fairborne, who now Commands in chief is finishing the Work began by Vice-Admiral Herbert, and is doing several other things which will add to the strength of the place. The Moors keep a Guard of 400 Foot, besides their Horse, in their Trenches, who are relieved every Morning. The Count de Gubernats, Envoy from Savoy, has orders to remain here till the arrival of the Marquis de Dronero, who comes from that Court with the Character of Ambassador.

Genova, July 10. This week the Ruby, Captain Smith, returned from the Riviera to attend here the coming of the Convoy from Spain, which is hourly expected.
