

Home Department, have been by his Lordship presented to the King; which Addresses His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Bailiff, Burgesses, and Commonalty, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Daventre, humbly offer to your Majesty the Tribute of our grateful Acknowledgments for the parental Care and Affection with which your Majesty, during a long and eventful Reign, has uniformly guarded the Constitution of this Country; whereby the civil and religious Liberties of all your Majesty's Subjects have been preserved inviolate in Times when the Nations of Europe have been suffering under the Calamities incident to speculative Innovation, and groaning under the Iron Rod of despotic Tyranny.

Zealously attached to your Majesty's Person and Government, we, with all Humility, take Leave to assure your Majesty, that we shall not cease to pray to Almighty God that your Majesty may long continue to reign over us; and that when, in the Fullness of Time, your Majesty shall be called from a temporal to an eternal Crown, there may be never wanting in your Royal House a Successor, who, treading in the Steps, and emulating the illustrious Example of your Majesty, may preserve the civil and religious Liberty of this happy Country to the latest Posterity.

Thomas Adams, Bailiff.

[Transmitted by W. R. Cartwright, Esq; one of the Representatives in Parliament for the County of Northampton.]

The humble Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of the Borough of Haddington.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of the ancient Borough of Haddington, beg Leave to offer our unfeigned Thanks for the new Proof your Majesty has afforded to your loyal People of your Attention to, and watchful Care of, the religious and civil Constitution of the Empire. While we admire the firm and dignified Manner with which your Majesty, upon the late memorable Occasion, adhered to those Principles which seated your august Family upon the Throne of these Kingdoms, we trust that no Attempt will be hereafter made, under any Pretexes however plausible in Theory, to introduce Innovations that may practically lead to the most fatal Consequences, and may be utterly subversive of that Constitution which is the Envy and Admiration of surrounding Nations.

Signed in Name, and by Appointment, of the Town-Council of Haddington, in Common-Council assembled, by 11th April, 1807. John Martin, jun. Provost.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgesses of the Borough of Leicester.

WE approach your Majesty, at this interesting Juncture, to express, with all Humility, our grateful Sense of the many Blessings we enjoy under your Majesty's auspicious Government.

Your Majesty's constant Anxiety for the Welfare of your Subjects demands from us continual Thankfulness;—but we feel ourselves peculiarly called upon at the present Moment to carry to the Throne our Tribute of humble Thanks, for the tender Solitude recently manifested by your Majesty to preserve inviolate that Security which the Laws of our Country afford to the Reformed Protestant Religion.

The mild and tolerant Principles which have been so conspicuous in your Majesty's Reign, afford the best Proof that your Majesty is not actuated by any but benevolent and liberal Views, even when your Judgment would interpose Restraints. Whatever is mild and tolerant, liberal and benevolent, is, we trust, most grateful to our Feelings, and certainly most congenial to the Spirit of the Religion we profess. But it is our Reverence for that holy Faith, in its purest Form, which would lead us to guard it. It is our Gratitude to the Defender of it which now brings us to your Majesty's Throne.

We pray that the Almighty, who has bestowed so many Blessings on the People of this Land, will long continue to preserve your Majesty's Life.

Signed, by the unanimous Order of a Common Hall,
W. Heyrick, Town Clerk.

[Transmitted by Samuel Smith and Thomas Babington, Esqrs. Representatives in Parliament for the said Borough of Leicester.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful Subjects, Inhabitants of the Town of Stamford and Stamford Baron, beg Leave to offer our unfeigned Thanks for the paternal Solitude with which your Majesty has ever watched over the Interests of your People. The dignified and conscientious Firmness which your Majesty has at all Times displayed in maintaining the Integrity of the Protestant Church, as by Law established in these Realms, calls for our warmest Gratitude; and the Instance which we have lately witnessed of that Firmness increases strongly the Sentiments of Love and Veneration which we feel towards your Majesty's sacred Person.

Highly do we admire the Fortitude with which your Majesty, upon that Occasion, exerted the Prerogative of the Crown, and thus preserved entire this our inestimable Constitution, which is the Glory and the Boast of Britons, and has been the Cause, under Divine Providence, of our unexampled Prosperity as a Nation.

That your Majesty's Life may long be spared to guard and protect the Welfare of this Empire, to be a Blessing and an Example to your People, is our fervent Prayer.

[Transmitted by General Leland, one of the Representatives in Parliament for the said Town of Stamford.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Dean of Guild and Guildry of Stirling, in a special Court assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Dean of Guild and Guildry of your Burgh of Stirling, feel deeply impressed with a grateful Sense
