Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Sir James Saumarez, K. B. Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Baltic, to the Hon. W. W. Pole, dated on board the Victory, off Rogerswick, the 30th of August 1808.

SIR,

YOU will please to inform the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, of my arriving off Oro Yesterday Evening, pursuant to my Intentions, to effect a Junction with the Swedish Fleet, which I had received an Account from Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff was blockaded by the Russian Fleet, consisting of Thirteen Sail of Line of Battle Ships besides Frigates. It was not before this Morning that I was informed by the Commander of the Swedish Frigate Champan, that the Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff, after being joined by Sir Samuel Hood in the Centaur, and Implacable, had sailed from Oro Road on the 25th, in Pursuit of the Russian Fleet; and on the Day following, had succeeded in capturing and destroying the Russian Line of Battle Ship Sewolod, off Rogerswick, and in which Port the Remainder of the Enemy's Ships had been compelled to shelter themselves. I immediately made sail for Rogerswick, where I arrived this Afternoon, and had the Satisfaction to find the Swedish Fleet, with the Centaur and Implacable, at Anchor, watching the Russian Force in the Harbour.

I inclose to you, for their Lordships' Information, the Duplicate of a Letter which I have had the Pleasure to receive from Rear-Admiral Sir Samuel Hood, detailing the Account of his Proceedings with His Majesty's Ships under his Orders, and the Squadron of His Swedish Majesty, under Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff, and of the meritorious Conduct of Captain Martin of the Implacable, in bringing the Enemy's Sternmost Ship to Action, and which struck her Colours to the Implacable, but was afterwards rescued by the Approach of the Enemy's whole Force, which had obliged Sir Samuel Hood to recall her. I also inclose the Copy of a Letter from Captain Martin to the Rear-Admiral, in which he gives due Credit to Lieutenant Baldwin and Mr. Moore the Master, and the other Officers and Men of the Implacable.

The Russian Admiral having sent a Frigate to take the disabled Ship in Tow, she was again attacked by the Implacable, and the Centaur laying her on board in the most gallant Manner, and by the Exertions of Captain Webley and Lieutenant Lawless, and Mr. Strode, Master of the Centaur, her Bowsprit was lashed to that Ship, and there was every Prospect of her being got off; but she having unfortunately grounded, rendered it impossible, and she was set on Fire, after the Prisoners and wounded Men were taken from her.

Too much Praise cannot be bestowed on Rear-Admiral Sir Samuel Hood, for the Gallantry he displayed with the Two Ships under his Orders in his Pursuit of the Enemy's Fleet, when the bad sailing of the Squadron of His Majesty's Ally prevented their coming up with them, and bringing on a general Action. The brave and highly meritorious Exertions of Captain Martin and Captain Webley, with the Officers and Men under their Orders, entitle them to the highest Commendation in my Power to bestow, and excited the Amazement and Admiration of the gallant Swedes who witnessed their heroic Bravery and Perseverance.

The present Position of the Russian Fleet within the Batteries at the Entrance of the Harbour, leave but slender Hopes of their being attacked with any Probability of Success. Admiral Nauckhoff has requested a Body of Land Forces to be sent from Finland, with a View of taking Possession of the Island East Raga, which would effectually command the Harbour; but as the Enemy have been occupied in placing it in the best State of Defence, it is very doubtful if a Descent upon the Island could be effected. I beg to assure their Lordships, that every Endeavour will be practised with the Force under my Orders, jointly with the Swedish Squadron, that can tend to the further Defeat of the Enemy.

I propose to detach a small Squadron, under the Orders of Captain Martin, towards Cronstadt; and I shall order the Africa to repair to her Station off the Malmo Channel, calling off Carlscrona for the Convoy appointed to sail from that Port for England.

I am, Sir, &c.

JAS. SAUMAREZ.

SIR, Centaur, off Rogerswick, Aug. 27, 1808.

It is with Pleasure I acquaint you the Russian Squadron, under the Command of Vice-Admiral Hanickoff, after being chased Thirty-four Hours by His Swedish Majesty's Squadron, under Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff, accompanied by this Ship and the Implacable, under my Orders, have been forced to take Shelter in the Port of Rogerfwick, with the Loss of One Ship of Seventy-four Guns. I shall have great Satisfaction in detailing to you the Services of the Captains, Officers, Seamen, and Marines under my Command; and have also to state, that in no Instance have I seen more Energy displayed than that by His Swedish Majesty's Squadron, which although from the Inferiority of their sailing were prevented from getting into Action, Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff and the Captains under his Command, from their Perseverance and judicious Conduct, were enabled to give Confidence to His Majesty's Ships; and could we have forced the Enemy to a general Action, the whole of their Squadron must have fallen to the superior Bravery of the united Force of our respective Sovereigns, in so just and honourable a Cause.

My Letter of the 25th will have acquainted you of the Russian Squadron having appeared off Oro Road on the 23d. The Arrangements for quitting that Anchorage, after His Swedish Majesty's Ships from Jungfur Sound had joined Rear-Admiral Nauckhoff, were completed on the Evening of the 24th. Early the next Morning the whole Force put to Sea; soon after the Russian Fleet was discovered off Hango Udd, the Wind at N. E. Not a Moment was lost in giving Pursuit, and every Sail pressed by His Swedish Majesty's Squadron. From the superior sailing of the Centaur and Implacable they were soon in Advance, that at the Close of the Evening the Enemy were not far off, and noticed in the greatest Disorder, apparently to avoid a general Battle. In the Morning of the 26th, about Five o'Clock, the Implacable was enabled to bring the leewardmost of the Enemy's Line of Battle Ships to close Action, in a most brave and gallant Manner; and so decided and judicious was this Manœuvre executed, that the Russian Admiral, who bore up with the whole of his Force, could not prevent that marked Superiority of Discipline and Seamanship being eminently distinguished. Although the Enemy's Ship fought with the greatest Bravery, she was silenced in about Twenty Minutes; and only the near Approach of the Enemy's whole Fleet could have prevented her then falling, her Colours and Pendant being both down; but I was obliged to make the Signal for the Implacable to close me. Captain Martin's Letter, stating the brave and gallant Conduct of Lieutenant Baldwin, his other Officers and Men, I send herewith; and it would be needless for me to add more to you on their meritorious Conduct. If Words of mine could enhance the Merit of this brave, worthy, and excellent Officer, Captain Martin, I could do it with the utmost heartfelt Gratification, and the high Esteem I have for him as an Officer and a Friend, no Language can sufficiently express.

The Russian Admiral having sent a Frigate to tow the disabled Ship, again hauled his Wind; and the Implacable being ready to make sail, I immediately gave chase, and soon obliged the Frigate to cast off her Tow, when the Russian Admiral was again under the Necessity to support her by several of his Line-of-Battle Ships bearing down, and I had every Prospect of this bringing on a general

Action, to avoid which he availed himself of a favourable Slant of Wind, and entered the Port of Rogerfwick.

The Line-of-Battle Ship engaged by the Implacable having fallen to Leeward grounded on a Shoal just at the Entrance of the Port; there being then some Swell, I had a Hope she must have been destroyed, but the Wind moderating towards the Evening, she appeared to ride at her Anchor, and Exertions made to repair her Damage. At Sunset, finding the Swell abated, and Boats sent from the Russian Fleet to tow her into Port, I directed Captain Webley to stand in and endeavour to cut her off; this was executed in a Manner that must ever reflect the highest Honour on Captain Webley, the Officers and Ship's Company of the Centaur, for their Valour and Perseverance in the Support of my Orders. The Boats had made a considerable Progress, and the Enemy's Ship was just entering the Port when we had the good Fortune to lay her on board; her Bow-sprit taking the Centaur's Fore-rigging, she swept along with her Bow grazing the Muzzles of our Guns, which was the only Signal for their Discharge, and the Enemy's Bows were drove in by this raking Fire; when the Bow-sprit came to the Mizzen-rigging, I ordered it to be lashed; this was performed in a most steady Manner by the Exertions of Captain Webley, Lieutenant Lawless, Mr. Strode the Master, and other brave Men, under a very heavy Fire from the Enemy's Musketry, by which, I am sorry to add, Lieutenant Lawless is severely wounded. The Ship being in Six Fathoms Water, I had a hope I should have been able to have towed her out in that Position; but an Anchor had been let go from her unknown to us, which made it impossible to effect it; at this Period much Valour was displayed on both Sides, and several Attempts made to board by her Bow-sprit, but nothing could withstand the cool and determined Fire of the Marines, under Captain Bayley and the other Officers, as well as the Fire from our Stern-chase Guns, that in less than Half an Hour she was obliged to surrender. On this Occasion I again received the greatest Aid from Captain Martin, who anchored his Ship in a Position to heave the Centaur off, after she and the Prize had grounded, which was fortunately effected at the Moment Two of the Enemy's Ships were seen under sail standing towards us, but retreated as they saw the Ships extricated from this Difficulty.

The Prize proved to be the Sewolod, of Seventy-four Guns, Captain Roodneff; she had so much Water in her, and being fast on Shore, after taking out the Prisoners and wounded Men, I was obliged to give Orders for her being burnt, which Service was completely effected under the Direction of Lieutenant Biddulph, of this Ship, by Seven o'Clock in the Morning.

I cannot speak too highly of the brave and gallant Conduct of Captain Webley, and every Officer and Man under his Command; and I beg Leave to recommend to you, for the Notice of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, Lieutenant Lawless, for his Exertions and gallant Conduct, and who has severely suffered on this Occasion; and I also must beg Leave to recommend Lieutenant William Case, the senior Officer of this Ship.

Herewith you will receive a List of the Killed and Wounded on board this Ship and the Implacable.

ble, and from every Information that it was possible to collect, that of the Enemy's Ship captured.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

SAM. HOOD.

Sir James Saumarez, Bart. and K. B. Vice-Admiral of the Blue, &c. &c. &c.

P. S. I send herewith a List of the Swedish and Russian Squadrons.

His Majesty's Ship Implacable, off Packerort Light-House, August 26, 1808.

THE ACTION this Morning between the Implacable and the Rear Ship of the Russian Line was so immediately under your own Observation, that it would be superfluous to trouble you with any Statement upon that Point; but in transmitting a List of Killed and Wounded I trust I may be allowed the Opportunity to express my Thankfulness to the Officers and Ship's Company of the Implacable for their eager and active Exertions to close with the Enemy, and the truly noble and splendid Conduct which they displayed during the Engagement; but it is my Duty to acknowledge, in a more particular Manner, the great Assistance I derived from Mr. Baldwin, the First Lieutenant, and Mr. Moore, the Master; and if the Fact of our Opponent being completely silenced, and his Colours, (both Ensign and Pendant) down, when the Approach of the whole Russian Fleet occasioned your recalling me, can tend to make the Affair worthy of being distinguished by any Mark of Approval from the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, it is impossible their Patronage can be bestowed upon a more thoroughly deserving Officer than Mr. Baldwin.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

(Signed) T. B. MARTIN.

Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Wells, Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels, at the Nore, to the Honourable William Wellesley Pole, dated on board the Namur the 17th Instant.

SIR,

THE inclosed Letter from Captain Cathcart, Commander of His Majesty's late Sloop Seagull, came to my Hands by Post this Day. It is possible my Lords Commissioners may already have received an Account of this very gallant Defence by some other Channel; but as I think the Action, though unfortunate, does Honour to the Naval Service and the Country, I cannot refuse myself the Pleasure of the Communication, lest by any Accident such Gallantry should not be made public.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

THOS. WELLS, Vice-Admiral.

SIR,

Christianfand, June 20, 1808.

I BEG Leave to acquaint you, that in His Majesty's Sloop Seagull, under my Command, Yesterday at Two P. M. the Naze of Norway bearing W. N. W. Seven or Eight Leagues, I discovered a Brig in Shore running to the Eastward, and immediately made all Sail in Chace of her; at Half-past Four came within Gun-Shot and hoisted our Colours, which she answered by hoisting Danish Colours and opening her Fire on the Starboard Side. At this Time it became nearly calm from a fresh Breeze we had at W. S. W. and obliged us to get our Sweeps out, in order to get between her and the Shore. At Five got within Musket-Shot of the Enemy and commenced Action; having now most of our Sweeps shot away and great Part of the Rigging. Twenty Minutes past Five we discovered several Gun-Boats coming towards us, which had been concealed behind the Rocks; and it being a perfect Calm, they had every Advantage they could wish in placing them. They took their Position on each Quarter, making us every Shot; whilst the Brig had the same Advantage on the Larboard Bow. At Half-past Six Five of our Carronades were dismounted on the Larboard Side, (the only Side we could bring to bear on the Enemy,) and several of the Officers and Crew killed and wounded. Every Method was used to get the Seagull round, so as to bring the Starboard Guns to bear, but without Effect; our Sweeps being all shot away, the Gun-Boats hulling us every Shot they fired, Five Feet Water in the Hold, and all our Sails and Rigging cut to Pieces. At Half-past Seven, from the sinking State of the Ship, also the great Slaughter made by the Gun-Boats, I considered it an indispensable Duty for the Preservation of the surviving Officers and Crew, to order the Colours to be hauled down. I have the Satisfaction to acquaint you, there was scarcely sufficient Time to remove the Wounded out of the Seagull, before she sunk. The Force opposed to her was the Danish Brig of War Lougen, mounting Twenty Guns, Eighteen long Eighteen-Pounders and Two long Six-Pounders; Six Gun-Boats, most of them carrying Two Twenty-four-Pounders, and from Fifty to Seventy Men each. The Action was fought close to the Mouth of the Harbour of Christianland.

I cannot speak in Terms adequate to the Deserts of every Officer and Man under my Command on this trying Occasion. I received that Support from Mr. Hatton, the First Lieutenant, I had every Reason to expect from his general good Conduct; and the Officers and crew have my warmest Thanks for their cool and steady Behaviour; and I consider it a Duty I owe them, to add, that never was more British Valour displayed than on this Occasion, although opposed to so very superior a Force.

The Enemy must have suffered very considerably, but I have not been able to ascertain to what Extent. Several of the Danes perished on board the Seagull, so precipitately did she go down. I herewith send you a List of the Killed and Wounded on board the said Sloop.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

placed, shall not be liable to be claimed by any other Corps to which they may formerly have belonged.

And whereas many of the said Deserters may have enlisted in other Regular Corps, and are now serving therein, His Majesty is graciously

The Magistrate to whom any Deserter from His Majesty's Regular Forces may surrender himself, is authorized and required to certify the Day on which such Deserter surrendered himself; which Certificate is to continue in Force until the Arrival of the Deserter at the Head-Quarters of the nearest Military Post, provided he proceed at the Rate of Ten Miles a Day, unless prevented by Sickness, to be certified by some Medical Practitioner on the Back of the Magistrate's Certificate, or to be otherwise proved to the Satisfaction of the Officer commanding at such Military Post.
