

Concession to our Body which have distinguished His paternal Reign.

Under an Event so afflicting, we congratulate the Nation that a Character such as that of Your Royal Highness interposes between the Calamity and the Empire; long have we contemplated that Character as the Hope and Assurance of these Kingdoms.

To dwell on the Qualities which ennoble the Man and exalt the Prince, which, in the general Wreck of Establishments, and the overwhelming Influence of Continental Politics, will secure the Safety, the Honour, and the Independence of our Country, would be to us a grateful but an endless Theme; the natural Result, however, of those splendid Qualities we cannot refrain from anticipating, notwithstanding the hateful and disgusting Picture of those ill-judged and fettering Restrictions which embarrass and encumber Your Royal Highness's Government.

We sensibly feel the Delicacy of Your Royal Highness's Situation; we forbear to enter into the Grievances of our Condition; we offer, however, the hardy, the numerous, the brave, the instinctively military Population of Ireland to the unlimited Support of your Government; we give you every Heart and every Hand, Your Royal Highness commands our all, we know you to be the Friend of Catholic Ireland, because we know you to be the enlightened and constitutional Friend of the Empire.

Your Royal Highness's Principles we have ever justly appreciated; they are those of the purest Days of the Constitution, and strongly and fully are we persuaded that we have already, on a recent Occasion, experienced the Devotion of Your Royal Highness to constitutional Liberty.

May it please Your Royal Highness,

WE, the Catholics of the County of Galway, beg Leave to approach Your Royal Highness on your entering upon the Regency of these Realms, and to express our heart-felt Sorrow at the grievous Malady which afflicts our Sovereign, and revives in us those Sentiments of Gratitude which we owe to the many Acts of His Paternal Reign.

Under an Event so afflicting we congratulate the Nation that a Character such as that of Your Royal Highness interposes between it and the Empire; long have we contemplated that Character as the Hope of these Kingdoms.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Freeholders of the County of Tipperary, legally convened and assembled at Thurles, on Monday the 15th Day of April 1811.

May it please Your Royal Highness,

WE, the Freeholders of the County of Tipperary, legally convened and assembled at Thurles, most humbly approach Your Royal Highness, with the warmest Assurances of affectionate Attachment to Your Royal Person, and unshaken Adherence to those sacred Principles which seated your Family on the Throne of these Realms; fully convinced that those Principles afford the best Security to the Honour and Dignity of the Sovereign, and the Rights and Interests of the People.

In offering to Your Royal Highness our sincere Condolence upon the severe Affliction with which it has pleased Divine Providence to visit our most gracious Sovereign, it is with heart-felt Consolation that in common with all Ranks of our Fellow-Subjects, we behold the momentous Functions of the Executive Power vested in a Prince so highly endowed and so eminently qualified to exercise the Regal Duties—a Prince who has so greatly endeared himself to the Hearts of all His Majesty's People by his Moderation and Forbearance on various trying Occasions, and by the Attachment he has so uniformly shewn to their Rights and Liberties. Much more proudly and confidently should we have felt this consolatory Sentiment, had the Desire and Expectation of the United Kingdom been realized by confiding to Your Royal Highness the full Powers of the Executive Authority, assured as we feel that these Powers would be wisely and beneficially exercised to enable the whole Body of your People to meet the extraordinary Exigencies of so perilous a Crisis; assured as we are that the national Valour would be stimulated by a wise and dignified,
