

guished corps; and Captain Burke availed himself of the ample field afforded him in leading the advance, to display the intrepidity of British grenadiers. The detachment of the 104th regiment, under Major Moodie, Captain M'Pherson's company of Glengarry Light Infantry, and two companies of Canadian Voltigeurs, commanded by Major Hamot, all of them levies of the British Provinces of North America, evinced most striking proofs of their loyalty, steadiness, and courage. The detachment of the Royal Newfoundland regiment behaved with great gallantry.

Your Excellency will lament the loss of that active and intelligent Officer, Captain Gray, Acting Deputy Quarter-Master General, who fell close to the enemy's work, while reconnoitring it, in the hope to discover some opening to favour an assault.

Commodore Sir James Yeo conducted the fleet of boats in the attack, and accompanying the advance of the troops, directed the co-operation of the gun-boats.

I feel most grateful for your Excellency's kind consideration, in allowing your Aides-de-Camp Majors Coorc and Fulton, to accompany me in the field; and to these officers for the able assistance they afforded me.

I have the honour to be, &c.

MY LORD,

I HAVE great satisfaction in reporting to your Lordship the result of a gallant affair which took place between the armed vessels of the enemy and our gun-boats, supported by detachments from the garrison of Isle Au Noix, on the 3d instant, in the neighbourhood of that post, which terminated in the capture of the vessels Eagle and Growler, each mounting eleven guns, with four officers and forty-five men. This feat was performed under the direction of Major Taylor, of the 100th regiment, who held the temporary command at Isle Au Noix during the absence, on duty, of Lieutenant-Colonel Hamilton; and the detachments were composed of the royal artillery, and 100th regiment.

The following officers are reported to me as having distinguished themselves, viz.—Captain Gordon, of the artillery; Lieutenant Williams, Ensigns Dawson, Gibbon, and Humphries, of the 100th regiment; and Lieutenant Lowe, of the marine.

In the contest, which was maintained for three hours and a half, we had three men wounded; the enemy lost one man killed, and eight wounded.

I have the honour to be, &c.

SIR,

Isle au Noix, June 3, 1813.

IN the absence of Lieutenant-Colonel Hamilton, I have the honour to acquaint you, that one of the enemy's armed vessels was discerned from the garrison at half-past four o'clock this morning, when I judged it expedient to order the three gun-boats under weigh; and before they reached the point above the garrison, another vessel appeared in sight, when the gun-boats commenced firing. Observing the vessels to be near enough the shore for musketry, I ordered the crew of two batteaux and row-boats (which I took with me from the garrison to act according to circumstances) to land on each side the river, and take a position to rake the vessels; the firing was briskly kept up on both sides, (the enemy with small arms and grape shot occasionally); near the close of the action an express came off to me in a canoe, with intelligence, that more armed vessels were approaching, and about three thousand men from the enemy's lines, by land. On this information, I returned to put the garrison in the best order for their reception, leaving directions with the gun-boats and parties, not to suffer their retreat to be cut off from it; and before I reached the garrison, the enemy's vessels struck their colours, after a well contested action of three hours and a half. They proved to be the United States armed vessels Growler and Eagle, burthened from ninety to one hundred tons, and carrying
